It is not only the most extensive BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY extant, but the most comprehensive "Classified Record of Works," by English and American Authors, ever compiled. "Bayle was a man of immense but desultory reading; of a subtle understanding, invincible patience, and not less indomitable industry. The notes are the grand field in which Bayle delighted to pour forth his knowledge; and I believe that his 'Life of Nero' furnished a Greek quotation at a late state trial. If sceptical, he was peaceably disposed, although constantly assailed. Even his 'magnus opus' the Dictionary, was criticised before it appeared. Jurieu, Saurin, and Le Clerc were unable to ruffle the calmness of his temper, or embitter the sweetness of his retirement. He told Des Maizeaux, that from twenty to forty he worked fourteen hours a day—and, in fact, that he never knew what leisure was."—Dibdin's Library Companion.

14117 BOTFIELD'S Præfationes et Epistolæ Editionibus Principibus Auctorum Veterum præpositæ, curante Beriah Botfield—Also with the title: "Prefaces to the first editions of the Greek and Roman Classics and the Sacred Scriptures, London, 1861," 4to. (pub. at £5. 5*s*) hf. morocco, uncut, 20*s* Cantabrigiæ, 1861

A most important contribution to the Literature of Bibliography. Mr. Botfield's INTRODUCTION, pp. i.—lxxvi. written in English, conveys to the reader the clearest notion of the History and Uncertainty of the Early Manuscript Literature and its transition to the relatively speaking much more critical Printed Literature.

The PREFACES extend from page 1—666; the INDEX editorum, from p. 667—674. Some of the Prefaces are in Greek; all have been reprinted with scrupulous accuracy.

Of each author the exact TITLE of the Editio Princeps is given, with a most accurate COLLATION, and the number of lines to the page, so important in editions issued without a date. These Prefaces were in almost all cases written by the first Scholars of the time, and contain a vast bulk of historical, paleographical and critical facts, which have hitherto been inaccessible to Scholars on account of the great rarity of these editiones Principes.  Mr. Quaritch will be most happy to assist collectors in procuring any of the Authors they may desire to possess.

Ce travail, fruit de longues et patientes recherches, contiendra l'explication des symboles, tels que BLASONS, DEVISES, EMBLÈMES, CHIFFRES ou MONOGRAMMES, dont les Amateurs ont frappé leurs volumes, le tout accompagné de NOTICES sur les bibliophiles et leurs bibliothèques.

Exécuté avec toute la conscience et le savoir qui distinguent les autres ouvrages de M. JOANNIS GUIGARD, l'ARMORIAL DU BIBLIOPHILE, par les développements biographiques et littéraires qu'il renferme, présentera en quelque sorte l'Histoire des bibliothèques particulières depuis l'origine de l'imprimerie jusqu'à nous.

Tout collectionneur, tout ami des livres, homme du monde, savant, libraire ou bibliothécaire, devra posséder cette œuvre, qui répond au mouvement toujours croissant de la bibliophilie parmi ceux que ne laissent point indifférents les hautes manifestations de l'esprit.

"The labours of Orlando, Mattaire, and Denis, are eclipsed by this very elaborate and valuable production, which comprehends a complete and systematic account of all books printed from the origin of the typographical art to the year 1536. It is a very rare and dear work in this country, and sold formerly for twenty guineas."

The most elaborate and trustworthy record yet published of the early history of printing; it comes down to the year 1536, though the title-page of the first volume limits it to the fifteenth century. Panzer's great compilation consists of eleven volumes, published at intervals in the course of eleven years,—the first in 1793, the last in 1803. At first the author proposed to carry his Annals no further than the year 1500, and he achieved his purpose in five volumes; he then extended his design, and carried the work up to 1536 in six volumes more. There is, it may be remarked, one very serious defect in Panzer's arrangements. While he inserted books in every other European language—Swedish, Dutch, Bohemian, &c.—he systematically omitted all those in German, because they were included, or intended to be included, in a separate work, the 'Annalen der ältern deutschen Litteratur,'—which he unfortunately did not live to bring down further than the year 1526.

14411 WATT'S BIBLIOTHECA BRITANNICA, or a GENERAL INDEX to BRITISH and FOREIGN LITERATURE (Vols. 1 and 2, consisting of a Bibliographical Dictionary, Vols. 3 and 4, an alphabetical Classification of Subjects) 4 vols. 4to. (pub. at £11. 11*s*) half calf, £4. 15*s* Edinb. 1824

THE FIRST PART contains the names of upwards of 40,000 authors, and of each, a short biographical notice is given. It serves, therefore, as a concise, but comprehensive Biographical Dictionary, containing not only all the names to be found in other Biographies, but many thousands more derived from other sources. The lists of their works, too, are much more ample, their titles are given at length, and their various editions, translations, and subsequent improvements are most minutely noticed. It contains also the titles of such detached papers, as they may have contributed to Transactions, and other periodical publications. It thus forms a Catalogue of Books more minute, and vastly more comprehensive, than is to be met with in this or any other language.

THE SECOND PART is a minute Index to the First. In this part the subjects are arranged alphabetically, and under each all the works, and principal parts of works, treating of that subject are arranged in chronological order, so as to form a sort of annals of what has been written on every subject, from the first publication to the last. Like a map it brings the whole under the eye at once. But this part, besides serving as a minute Index to the First, includes also a very complete list of all the anonymous publications which have appeared in this country. These are inserted according to their respective subjects and dates, with a reference to their publishers, or the libraries in which they are to be found. There is, therefore, no subject with regard to which any thing has been written, that may not be as easily found as a word in a dictionary, and the successive publications regarding it as readily come at as the different significations of a word.

"The use and advantages of this wonderful work," says Dr. Dibdin, "are manifest and indispensable; and it should never fail to be a library companion, in all collections of extent or importance."

The above set is entirely of the GENUINE EDITION, and has the scarce General Index published in 1826, thus forming a most desirable set.

Gilbart's name has often been quoted in both Houses of Parliament on questions of Banking and Finance, as that of a Practical man, whose opinions on all questions connected with his trade (that of a banker) deserve the utmost attention. Whenever an unsuccessful company is wound up, it is invariably found that Gilbart's maxims have been sinned against.

Gilbart's works have been long out of print, and a new edition has been most urgently called for by demand from home and abroad.

This English edition is divided as follows: ARCHITECTURE, 73 plates; SCULPTURE, 51 plates; PAINTING, 204 plates.

To Antiquaries and lovers of the Fine Arts, the book is indispensable; it connects the works of Winckelman and Cicognara, and forms with them a most interesting series.

"This fine work was the first in which the idea of exhibiting the Progress of Art, by a series of its noblest monuments, was perfectly carried out. By a series of accurate Engravings from celebrated Monuments, we trace the transitions of Art from the classic period to our own times. Sculpture, Painting, the Art of Illumination, and the Art of Engraving on Wood, on Gems, and on Medals are similarly represented.

"It is a work that has long been sought and prized by all who could afford the high price at which only it was to be procured. No Library, Architect, Painter Sculptor, or any one connected with the Fine Arts, should be without such a work."

Cette magnifique porte, faite en concours des Brunellesco, Donatello, Jacopo dalla Quercia, Niccolo d'Arezzo, Francesco da Vandabrina, Simone da Colle, et qui, un siècle plus tard, faisait dire à Michel Ange qu'elle était digne de fermer le paradis, est encore de nos jours l'admiration des artistes de talent et des connoisseurs.

Ghiberti's great gate from the Baptistery at Florence is one of the two pronounced by Michael Angelo to be fit for the "gates of Paradise." A pupil of Giotto, Ghiberti is said to have begun them when just of age, carrying off the palm from his rivals Donatello and Brunelleschi, finishing them after twenty years' labour, in which he was aided by his father and nine other sculptors.

"The beautiful compositions by Ghiberti, in the gates of the Baptistery at Florence, 'fit,' as Michael Angelo said, 'to be the gates of Paradise,' are as good examples as could be brought before you of their kind."—Athenæum, March 6, 1858.

This magnificent work is no less valuable to the Architect than to the Painter. It does not profess (says the Quarterly Review, in an elaborate article) to exhibit fresh decorative painting in that highest walk chosen by Michael Angelo and Raffaelle (except as a handmaid), but as a purely decorative Art and subservient to Architecture. Owing its very existence to the exigencies of the sovereign art, and deriving its appropriate locality, scale and effect, from the edifice, it no less assists the Architecture, in return, by its arabesques and other tasteful accessories.

II. has 82 ,,
III. has 132 ,,

In all 298 engravings. Whoever wishes to possess a true picture of the manners and customs of the eventful period from 1720 to 1764, the time of Hogarth's death, should secure the above set of his works.

It is becoming every day more difficult to obtain RARE PRINTS. Here is a set of Hogarth, such as could not be made again by the most ardent collector with the fullest of purses.

Those who wish to be acquainted with the whole extent of Hogarth's powers, should assemble the first copies, together with all the varieties of his capital works.

"The scarceness of the good impressions of Hogarth's larger works is in a great measure owing to their having been pasted on canvass or boards, to be framed and glazed for furniture. There were few people who collected his prints for any other purpose at their first appearance. The majority of these sets being hung up in London houses, have been utterly spoiled by smoke. Since foreigners have learned the value of the same performances, they have also been exported in considerable numbers. Wherever a taste for the fine arts has prevailed, the works of this great master are to be found. Messrs. Tarré have frequent commissions to send them into Italy. I am credibly informed that the Empress of Russia has expressed uncommon pleasure in examining such genuine representations of English manners: and I have seen a set of cups and saucers with the Harlot's Progress painted on them in China about the year 1739."—John Nichols.

A very beautiful work, the engravings exhibiting specimens of curious objects in Mediæval Art from all parts of Europe; there is indeed no other publication giving such a faithful picture of everything connected with the Middle Ages; while as a drawing room book none could surpass it in beauty and interest.

Each series forms a separate and distinct work.—THE ABOVE ARE THE EARLIEST IMPRESSIONS.

"Of the importance of this great book to the antiquarian and the historical world it is hardly possible to speak too highly. Its object was to lay before the public a vast series of objects of ancient art, of architecture, of sculpture, etc., and to illustrate the whole by plates, executed in the highest style which the age admitted of. This the learned author effected most completely; and it is to this very book that the foundation of all our most important branches of archæological knowledge at the present day may be ascribed. The obligations of the continental antiquary to Montfaucon are immense; and his work will stand the test of future ages, as one of the most astonishing and certainly one of the most extensive monuments of antiquarian research ever made by one man. The price is still from fifteen to twenty guineas, and it is likely to increase rather than to sink in value.'—H. L. Jones, Gent.'s Mag. Dec. 1855.

Only a very small number of copies were executed. Each plate resembles an elaborate water-colour Drawing. I can trace but one other copy, sold in 1847 by Hy. Bohn, 50 plates only, which wanted therefore 8 plates.

The above came from the Enschede Collection, Haarlem, and has since been bound at great expense.

The facsimiles of the Niello-Engravings, formerly in the possession of Sir Mark Sykes, are executed on silver, in exact imitation of the originals, besides which an impression of each plate is given on India paper. Very few copies have been printed.

This beautiful work may fairly be stated to be unpublished, as very few copies were ever distributed, and those chiefly as presents by the late Proprietor. The accurate knowledge of the late Mr. Ottley in this peculiar department of the Fine Arts is here displayed. It would be impossible for the Collector to have more faithful copies of the rare specimens contained in the present elegant volume.

The series will contain all that I think useful of my former writings, so joined to my present work as to form a consistent course of teaching. I do not mean by "consistent" that the progress or arrangement of it will be on any regular system, but that I will not, so far as I can help, say the same thing oftener than is necessary to gain attention for it; and that I will indicate the connection of each subject with the rest, as it, indeed, existed in my mind always, though I have been forced by mischance to write copiously sometimes on matters about which I cared little, and sparingly of what was, indeed, much in my thoughts.

The volumes will contain, on the average, two hundred pages of text, and those which are illustrated not more than twenty-one plates. They will all be clearly printed and thoroughly well bound.

15114 Strange's (Sir Robert) Engraved Works, a COLLECTION OF HISTORICAL PRINTS, engraved from Pictures by the most celebrated Painters of the Roman, Florentine, Lombard, Venetian, and other Schools, with descriptive remarks on the same, by SIR ROBERT STRANGE, atlas folio, a Series of 50 extremely beautiful engravings after the OLD MASTERS, fine and brilliant impressions, (pub. at £73. 10*s*) hf. bd. £31. 10*s* 1750-90

COLLATION: text, pp. 1-19; plates numbered in letter-press, 1-50.

This is without question the grandest and most magnificent series of engravings ever produced in England. For their beauty in the department of line engraving, they have hitherto stood unrivalled, and will probably never be surpassed, if equalled.

The Artist whose works it comprises, commenced his studies at a period when the art of Historical Engraving had in this country made so little advance, that he claimed, and with justice, to be the father of it.

The most famous works of the great masters are here represented, as Sir Robert Strange's taste caused him to select the finest examples, principally from the works of the Italian School, as may be seen by the following summary:

Guido, 13 pictures; Raphael, 4; Guercino, 4; Titian, 4; Correggio, 2; Salvator Rosa, 2; Carlo Maratti, 2; Pietro di Cortona, 2. The Flemish Painters are also represented in the magnificent portraits of Vandyke, 5 pictures, and examples of Wouvermans and Vanloo. The size of the large plates is given in the list.

"The main virtue of Turner is his representation of Form: no one has ever approached him in his rendering of organic form in Landscape or in his exquisite expressions of the delicate gradations of light and shade. Turner deals in the 'Liber Studiorum' with mountains, trees, buildings, and stones, in the same spirit as Holbein with figures: both draw not what suggests possible grace, but the realizatations of actual form and both with absolute accuracy. Turner is a true Greek, who thinks of his subject, not of himself, in all his pictures."—John Ruskin, 1871.

The Work constitutes the First Chapter of a HISTORY of the FINE ARTS in this KINGDOM, extending from the Roman occupation of Great Britain to the Norman Conquest.

The study of these Manuscripts has, indeed, brought out the singular fact that, at a period when the Fine Arts may be said to have been almost extinct in Italy and other parts of the Continent—namely, from the fifth to the end of the eighth century—a style of Art had been established, cultivated, and brought to a wonderful state of perfection in these islands, absolutely distinct from that of all other parts of the civilized world, and which was adopted and imitated in the schools founded on the Continent by Charlemagne, as well as in the monastic establishments founded or visited by Anglo-Saxon and Irish Missionaries, many of which subsequently became the most famous seats of learning.

This very valuable Catalogue comprises descriptions, historical and biographical explanations and illustrations, measurements, and other details of Satirical prints and drawings in the British Museum.

The work deals with political and personal Satires and that period which is least studied and most interesting. It describes 1250 Satires, many of which were before unknown, including a large proportion drawn from the unrivalled collections of tracts and broadsides in the Library of the British Museum; about 40,000 of these, besides larger works in great numbers, were examined during its preparation, and yielded extraordinary wealth of matter from unillustrated not less than illustrated texts which cast light on the Satires. This matter is available by means of an exhaustive system of cross-references, and deals with the early Reformers, treasons and secret histories of the times of Elizabeth, James I, Charles I, the Commonwealth, Charles II and James II, moral Satires, satiric Medals, the Gunpowder Plot, Spanish Armada, Patentees and Monopolists; likewise Willm. Laud, his victims and colleagues; the Civil War, Regicides, Jesuits, protesting Bishops, Clergy, Brownists, Family of Love, Quakers, and other Sectaries, Hangman, Ecclesiastical Courts, Parliaments, Protectors, Popish and Meal Tub Plots, Father Petre and the expulsion of James II. The "King's Tracts," the Roxburghe, Luttrell, Bagford, and other collections of broadsides, in prose and verse, contributed to the volume by means of copious extracts from little known texts, including ballads, &c. at full length.

This branch of knowledge was materially advanced in 1847 by the publication of Lord Lindsay's History of "Christian Art," the introductory portion of which was devoted to a learned and elaborate exposition of what the writer appropriately termed "Christian Mythology," and his work will long be appealed to upon questions connected with the mental development of the Middle Ages.

BEST EDITION of this elegant and highly esteemed work, invaluable to Artists. This has Sessa the printer's large woodcut, of a cat, respecting which it is observed in Dibdin's Decameron, that "the late Bishop of Ely used to say, 'Whenever you see a cat and mouse in the frontispiece, seize upon it, for the chances are as three to four, that it will be found both curious and valuable.' Admonition from such a quarter is not to be lightly rejected."

This copy, according to Brunet, seems to want the printed list of plates, sometimes found in copies issued before completion, containing 13 plates less than the present. Those 13 plates are not mentioned in the said list, from which it may be inferred that when the work was completed the inaccurate list of plates was cancelled. Brunet's collation is incorrect, as he omits the folding plate of the School of Design, and ascribes 47 plates to part IV instead of 46.

L'un des plus beaux monumens eleves aux arts est, sans contredit, cette vaste collection d'estampes, commencée en 1802, sous le nom de Musée Français, continuée sous le titre de Musée Royal, par MM. Laurent père et fils. A l'exposition de 1819, la medaille d'or fut decernée à Mr. Henri Laurent, le jury considerant cet ouvrage comme le plus parfait qui ait eu lieu depuis l'existence de la gravure.

This very interesting publication is undoubtedly the most magnificent work that has issued from the Parisian Press; and will perpetuate the matchless collection which formerly graced the Louvre, combining, as it did, nearly all the excellence of which the various countries on the Continent could boast in painting and sculpture. And although a chain of wonderful events has restored many of the brightest gems of art to their rightful owners, so much of excellence still remains, that the gallery of the Louvre is yet, to the man of taste, the greatest attraction in Paris, and the very circumstance of the dispersion of so many wonderful productions gives additional value to the work which describes them in a collected state.

It is necessary to observe that this work is not merely a collection of Prints, as it contains many luminous and masterly dissertations upon the state of the arts in different ages, observations upon the style, excellence and defects of the various schools in painting, &c. written with extreme care and correctness.

This splendid Collection was formed by that eminent Patron of Art, Robert Vernon, Esq., by whom it was presented to the British Nation. It comprises some of the chief Works of Turner, Landseer, Stanfield, Leslie, Collins, Cooper, Roberts, Webster, Cooke, Callcott, Etty, Mulready, Newton, Stothard and other highly distinguished British Artists, and must ever be considered a noble monument to the fame of the munificent Donor.

15516 Bourges: VITRAUX PEINTS DE SAINT ETIENNE DE BOURGES, Recherches détachées d'une Monographie de cette Cathédrale, par MARTIN et CAHIER: VERRIÈRES du XIIIe Siècle, atlas folio, containing 75 very large plates of PAINTED GLASS, MOSAICS, Ornaments, Paintings, etc. of the XIIIth Century, and beautifully coloured (cost 30 guineas unbound) green morocco, VERY RARE, £25. 1841-4

The best work on Painted Glass.

Complete Collation of the plates:

Plan . . .	1
Planches de Vitraux	33
Etudes . .	20 (plates 2 and 3 in one.)
Mosaiques, A—N	13
Grisailles, A—G	7
Usages civils, A	1 (supprimé après les 150 premiers exemplaires.)
Total . .	75 plates.

The second-class copies want the latter 40 plates. This work is now rare in France, and more so in England.

15517 ——— another copy, complete in 15 livraisons, atlas folio, 75 plates as described above, excepting plates 2 and 3 of the Etudes, which are separate plates and coloured, in portfolio, EXTREMELY RARE, £36. 1841-4

This second copy is one of the earliest and most complete state, the issue of which was limited to the first HUNDRED SUBSCRIBERS; plates II and V in the Etudes being coloured. After the first two hundred and fifty, one plate in the Etudes was suppressed, and the other numbered II and III so as not to break the sequence; and the plate so numbered is uncoloured in the later copies. This copy therefore is most desirable, first from the almost hopeless chance of finding another, and secondly on account of its containing coloured plates, which in later issues are either uncoloured, or omitted altogether.

It is quite impossible by any description in a catalogue to do justice to the elaborate manner in which the illuminated plates in this beautiful book have been executed. An English edition of the work was published in 1867, but with very inferior plates, at eight guineas.

"On raconte qu'un jour la fille de Charles le Chauve, Judith, tenait sur ses genoux un livre enrichi de brillantes peintures. Deux enfants de race royale s'approchèrent d'elle et restèrent frappés d'admiration à la vue de la beauté et de l'eclat du manuscrit. 15549 BLOEMART (ABRAHAM) DRAWING BOOK, large folio, containing 162 beautiful and highly finished ORIGINAL DRAWINGS of the human figure, animals, &c. by this eminent artist, with his portrait, Æt. 82, a fine original drawing by Cornelius Vischer on vellum prefixed, neatly mounted on white paper, and bound in Dutch russia extra, ornamented with gold tooling, gilt edges, £35. (? 1720)

This exquisite volume ought to be secured for a School of Design.

The printed edition (see No. 15339) appeared in 1 vol. folio, 1740, and has only 106 engravings.

(? 1830)

The drawings of Pompeian Ornaments are very fine, and must have been made by a high-class Neapolitan painter. The original cost of these 42 Drawings was at least £25. A connoisseur should secure this very attractive volume.

15551 ITALIAN DRAWINGS: a Collection of 98 DRAWINGS by early Italian Masters of various schools, many of them of great merit and importance, in a royal folio volume, a bargain, £10. (circa 1600)

This speculative volume of Early Italian Drawings came from the library of Baron Kirkup, of Florence, an Englishman by birth, who in his youth was on such intimate terms with TURNER, that they lived together as Art Students in the same house. This collection deserves the attention of Art Connoisseurs.

15551*FIFTEEN HIGHLY-FINISHED MINIATURES, ON VELLUM (selected from French Horæ), surrounded by elegant borders of fruit, flowers, grotesques, etc. on a gold ground, mounted in 1 vol. 4to. calf extra, with chased silver-gilt clasps, £12. circa 1460 from Milan by Frederick Barbarossa. The foremost of the crowned figures wears a red beard, and seems to be addressing a cleric who may represent the Archbishop Reinhold to whom the Emperor transferred the relics. This picture is an argument for referring the MS. to Milanese calligraphy. The date may be conjectured from the circumstance that there are several Offices for Indulgences instituted by John XXII, who reigned from 1410-17. The MS. was probably written while his ordinances were still fresh in memory. Some Saints of local celebrity have offices in this volume: one of them is Saint Ludovicus, confessor and "Pontifex" (? Bishop) apparently an Italian, but whose bones, according to the words of the prayer, were resting in Marseilles.

15553 VINCENT DE BEAUVAIS. CY COMMENCE LE PREMIER VOLUME DU MIREOIR HISTORIAL TRANSLATE DE LATIN EN FRANCOIS PAR FRERE JEH' DE VIGNAY, an enormously thick folio volume, MS. on vellum, with a vast quantity of decorated borders and illuminated initials; also 133 very fine Miniatures in camaieu gris, some of them very large, but all displaying the highest excellence of the miniator's art, bound, with massive bosses of brass, £260. . . cir. 1460-70

The beauty and uncommon character of the many Miniatures that adorn this volume will be best estimated by a quotation from Paulin Paris' account of a MS. in the National Library of France, the only complete copy which exists in that collection of the great Miroir Historial. His words so far as they concern the Art-work displayed in the MS. described by him, apply with equal accuracy to the volume now under notice.

"Quant aux miniatures nuancées en façon de camayeu, elles sont d'une grande délicatesse de dessin et d'une entente d'effet digne de réunir les suffrages les moins favorablement prévenus. . . . . Je crois y reconnoitre la main du fameux Raoul Taingui."

This great, and to practical Artists absolutely necessary work, is offered at an extremely moderate price; 112 fine large plates, in gold and colours, with descriptive text, at the rate of about eightpence each. If any work is to spread Art Taste among the British Artizans, this book will do it.

At this moderate price "the Grammar of Ornament" is brought within the reach of Artists, Architects, and their Assistants and Pupils, Designers, and Art-workmen, and Students of every branch of Ornamental Art. This work also addresses itself to a larger class of the public who, without having professional need of its teachings, have yet an enlightened sympathy with the beautiful, and would be glad to possess, as an aid to the practice of Illuminating and other accomplishments of a like elegant character, or as a decoration to their drawing-room table, a record of the art of so many countries and periods.

The "Grammar of Ornament" has not only been adopted as a class-book in all the Government schools in this country, but also by the principal schools of the Continent, where the importance to Art of this invaluable collection, and of the principles explained in the text, by which Mr. Owen Jones has sought to guide the student to its use, has been fully recognized and honoured.

The fame of Louis Haghe, as a delineator of Mediæval Architecture, especially Interiors, is unrivalled. The picturesque views contained in the above work, represent the glorious Monuments which time, revolutions, and so-called improvements are rapidly effacing. Most of them, also, illustrate with appropriate costume the struggles of the Flemish against Spanish tyranny. The plates are beautifully finished in colours, after the original water-colour drawings.

Roberts' "Holy Land and Egypt" is a really noble and grand publication. The great artist has represented, in his masterly style, all the famous sites and stupendous Architectural Remains of the land of the Bible, of Ancient Egypt, Nubia, etc. such as they appear now. Every one of the Engravings is a perfect work of art; to all Bible Readers, Oriental Scholars, and to gentlemen who have resided or travelled in the East, Roberts's works will afford the most pleasant reminiscences.

A volume of extraordinary rarity, filled with very spirited woodcuts, commencing with the creation, and a representation of Eve rising out of Adam's back, and continued by a series of many hundred cuts of Portraits, Arms, etc. with short descriptions in German: those of the Battles are very spirited; many are curious and whimsical. The portraits of renowned men are accompanied by their Arms. The last leaf containing the imprint and device of the prisoner (in red), is almost always deficient, according to Ebert. The Chronicle is carried down to 1489. It is attributed to Conrad Botho of Braunschweig, but the authorship does not seem to be clearly proved. See Scheller, p. 100, where he states that the language of the Chronicle is "rein Sassisch ohne allen Dialekt." This Chronicle is both historically and linguistically interesting.

Hans Burgmaier, a good copy, in old vellum, £12. 16*s*

Augspurg, Schönsperger, 1519

There are 239 large cuts in this fine work, 92 contain Burghmair's mark, H. B. and one that of Schaeuffelein; they are executed in a very bold manner, all those which contain the mark of Hans Burgmair showing a decided superiority in point of engraving.

This most singular and extraordinary Romance Poem was written for the amusement of the Emperor Charles V. when only king of Spain, by his chaplain, Melchior Pfintzing, who, however, drew his materials from a life of the Emperor Maximilian I., which that monarch had dictated to his secretary, Träut-Saurwein, and it is from this circumstance, probably, that many writers had asserted that Maximilian himself was the author of the poem.

15907 DER WEISS KUNIG, eine Erzehlung von den Thaten Kaiser Maximilian des Ersten: von M. Treitzsaurwein: THE WISE KING, illustrative of the Leaaning, Wisdom, and Adventures of the Emperor Maximilian, folio, 237 large woodcuts by Hans Burghmair, from the original old blocks, boards, £12. Wien, 1775

Nearly the whole of this copy is printed on THICK PAPER.

15908 ——— another copy, folio, 237 large woodcuts by Hans Burghmair, from the original old blocks, with an additional series of 8 recently copied from the relics of the 13 plates supposed to be lost, half russia, uncut, £12. Wien, 1775 (and Paris, 1869)

15909 ——— the same, FINE PAPER, with the Supplement, in 1 vol. fol. whole bound in red morocco extra, by Bedford, £18. 1775-69

The Engravings of this very curious work, invaluable for the military art and for the manners and customs of the Middle Ages, were executed in 1516-19; but owing to the death of the Emperor were never published until 1775. Unfortunately 8 of the wood-blocks were missing and were searched for in vain. These, however, have been facsimiled at Paris in 1869, and form the Supplement to this copy.

For Symbolical and Sacred Art this volume is particularly suggestive. Each noble Saint has his Coat of Arms introduced.

subjects of the Old and New Testament, but chiefly the life and passion of our Saviour. These large etchings of Coney excited great admiration, on their first appearance, by their extraordinary vigour and effect. They bring to mind the force of Piranesi. These are the largest and best plates he ever executed, and the only ones which fully exhibit his distinctive excellence in this style of art.

some curious representations of Milan Cathedral (of which Cesariano was one of the architects), an ancient sun-dial, antique baths, the sphere, motive powers (including a ship moved by paddles), instruments used in building, &c. &c. So important did Mr. Hawkins deem the view of Milan Cathedral (the earliest engraving of Gothic known) that he contemplated a facsimile, and only abandoned the idea when he found it was not a separate publication. In his history of Gothic Architecture he mentions the volume to be "so scarce that I know of no more than two copies besides my own."

The Commentary of Cesariano is most valuable to the mathematician (see his curious remarks on arithmetic), and to the painter and the sculptor, as it gives rules for colouring and directions for studying symmetry of proportion, and specially mentions Michael Angelo and other artists eminent in every branch of science. In this work first occurs the mention of the camera obscura, the invention of which has hitherto wrongly been attributed to Porta.

"The Transition or early German, has not yet, so far as I know, received much distinct attention. Dr. Moller, however, in the course of his valuable Denkmaehler, has recently given us excellent representations of the cathedral at Limburg, on the Lahn, which is a very admirable specimen of this kind; and has noticed the intermediate and transition place which this edifice seems to occupy in the development of the German style." "Dr. Moller's work (Denkmaehler der Deutschen Baukunst) already contains excellent specimens of every style of German Buildings, and offers additional nterest and beauty in each new number." "The church of St. Catherine, at Oppenheim, near Worms, now in part a ruin, is another fine example of this style, and has been worthily illustrated in the magnificent work of Dr. Moller."

16351 CUNNINGHAM (Gen. Alex.) Bhilsa Topes; or Buddhist Monuments of Central India, 8vo. with 33 plates, cloth, very rare, £4. 4*s* 1854

One of the most learned and valuable books in the whole range of modern Literature. It has done more than most others to open the minds of the European world to the real history of Ancient India, the right interpretation and confirmation of Greek records, and the connexion of the Hindu Aryas with the modern peoples of the west. The proper investigation of Buddhist monuments in India is considered by General Cunningham to be of more importance than a critical edition of the eighteen Puranas.

In spite of its extraordinary and farfetched identifications, this work will always remain valuable as the production of a learned and critical scholar. There is plenty of material in it for the Comparative Mythologist.

16367 HIGGINS' CELTIC DRUIDS, an attempt to show that the Druids were the Priests of Oriental Colonies from India, and introduced the first system of Letters, and the builders of Stonehenge, of Carnac, and of other Cyclopean buildings, 4to. plates, cloth, £2. 16*s* 1829

To identify the Buddhists and the Celts, to shew that all mythologies and religions merely degenerated from the pure worship instituted by those people, that the builders of Stonehenge spoke a language akin to Hebrew, and that the Greeks were ignorant boobies as compared with the Ancient Celts (Scythians, Etruscans, Phoenicians, or Buddhists, or whatever else he calls them);—such was the aim of Mr. Higgins. This ridiculous book struck terror to the heart of Orthodoxy—(an owl mistaking the donkey's bray for the lion's roar); but it yields many valuable items of collected information to the student of Archæology.

16388 ——— the same, LARGE PAPER, folio, 44 plates, half russia, RARE, 20*s* 1610-13 (? 1746)

The difference in the number of plates between the small and the large paper is caused by the latter having a portrait, a title and four plates which are not in the former, while the small paper has one plate of coins not in the other. There is also a text in the large paper; none in the small. It seems probable that the above large paper issue was made in 1746.

"For chronology there is a great French work, L'Art de Vérifier les Dates."
Prof. Smith on History.

"The necessity of supplying historians and antiquarians with requisite information was long since felt in France, and produced the publication of that splendid monument of learning, 'L'Art de Vérifier les Dates,' which has left little to be done by subsequent chronologists besides the humble duties of translation and abridgement."—Sir Harris Nicolas's Chronology of History.

"Dom Maur. d'Antine had the first idea of this celebrated work. He died before its completion: it was published by two of the brotherhood, Dom Clément and Dom Durand, in 1750. It was a complete chaos. Don Clément undertook the task of reducing it to order, and published a new edition of it in 1770, which entirely eclipsed the original. After thirteen years' additional labour, Don Clément announced what he modestly called the third edition. The chronological table was carried on another century; as well as that of the eclipses, calculated by Père Pingré. Other important additions were made to the three folio volumes, the first of which appeared in 1783, the second in 1784, and the third in 1787. The tables were not published until 1792. When we cast our eyes on the title of this work, we are struck with astonishment; when we examine its contents, admiration is blended with surprise. A pure and ardent love of the public good alone could have supported the authors through such an enterprise. It is a work of general utility."

This valuable Museum of the King of Denmark includes also some rare Early English Coins.

Priced, 1824, Thorpe, bds. £18. 18*s*. This magnificent publication, printed at the private expense of the King of Denmark, is one of the greatest importance to the students of the Anglo-Saxon Numismatics. It is so rare that Lelewel, while writing his celebrated work, "Numismatique du Moyen Age," could not obtain access to a copy of it, and left on record his opinion of its value, and his regret at losing the aid he should have derived from it. This is a very fine copy.

A work of the greatest importance to the Numismatist, being an exact description of every Greek Coin, in a tabular form; it is, in fact, a digested and comprehensive edition of the more costly works of Mionnet.

16533 DONALDSON (T. L.) ARCHITECTURA NUMISMATICA, or Architectural Medals of Classic Antiquity, royal 8vo. xxxii and 341 pp. 46 plates and numerous woodcuts, (pub. at £3. 3*s*) cloth, 30*s* 1859

Architectural medals have not received that attention to which they are entitled; they reflect the customs of the ancients in reference to their buildings, and reveal matters of historical interest, otherwise imperfectly known, of which they alone offer evidence.

The designs of the Coins were made by Mr. Fairholt from the Coins themselves, chiefly in the British Museum.

EXTREMELY RARE, and one of the most valuable records of modern Irish history, as verifying the settlement of property, and the derivation of title of the ancestors to the present possessors. It was rigorously suppressed by the Irish government before any copies were issued, at the petition of the new landholders, who feared that such a public account would render them obnoxious to assassination or injury at the hands of the dispossessed owners. The Large Paper is of signal rarity; no copy has occurred for sale since I purchased that of the Marquis of Hastings, until now.

The account of this Order involves the history of the Byzantine Empire. The author was roughly handled by the Saturday Review, which accused him of assumptions that he could not verify. He brought forward his prewves in the Reply, but the learned reviewer declined to return to the subject. The testimony of Arsenius, Archbishop of Monembasia (1533), strongly bears out the prince's claims.

Distinct portions of this valuable work are allotted to the genealogies of the principal families of England and Scotland; it is the first book that was ever published on the subject. "Ce grand ouvrage d'Henninges sur les genéalogies est regardé comme un des plus savans et un des plus achevés parmi ceux qui ont été mis au jour sur cette partie. Il est non seulement remarquable par les dissertations intéressantes qu'il renferme, mais encore par la vérité qui les caractérise. Il est difficile d'en trouver des exemplaires complets; et quand on est parvenu à rassembler toutes les parties qui les composent, c'est un ouvrage qui devient alors précieux."—De Bure.

The extreme rarity of an entire set results from the historical fact that many copies of the work were destroyed when Magdeburgh was sacked by Count Tilly.

Mathilda, the great Countess of Tuscany, was one of the most warlike and extraordinary women that ever filled a throne. This volume is excessively rare, and seems to have escaped many of her biographers.

RARE, when complete like the above sets. The fifth volume is extremely difficult of procurement, even in Italy. There are copious indexes in each volume, and the work contains genealogical and historical notices of several thousand families.

17448 LIBANORI (Ant.) Ferrara d'Oro imbrunito, 3 vols. in 1, sm. folio, numerous cuts of Arms, last leaf mended, otherwise a fine copy, half morocco gilt, Dr. Wellesley's copy, £2. 16*s* Ferrara, 1665-67-74

VERY RARE. There was a book with a similar title to the above, and bearing on the title the author's name, "Aless. Vecchi," published in Venice in 1587. It may be a later edition of the above work. COLLATION: Signatures A to G ii, being 26 leaves, including title. The work consists only of Arms and Names from Arimondo to Justo, without any text.

17458 ZAZZERA, Nobilita dell' Italia, parte seconda, sm. folio, vellum, £2. 10*s* Napoli, 1628

This copy wants two leaves of Table which appear to have been published at a later date; but a contemporary hand has supplied a MS. Index, and numbered the pp. 1-280 (of which pp. 213-14—the second leaf of Orsini—are wanting). A note in the same hand appears at the foot of title, "Sin ora non è comparso altro che questa parte," which is not correct. The work was apparently printed in Monographs, with separate leaves and supplements, all unnumbered, of which the author issued his first collection, with a title, in 1615; and what he printed after that year, appeared subsequently to his death, in the above compiled form, with the title of Second Part, 1628.

17459 VILLA BIANCA (F. M. Emanuele de Gaetani Marchese di) della SICILIA NOBILE, 4 vols. sm. folio, old calf gilt, 36*s* Palermo, 1754-59

Very few copies were printed and only for private circulation. This copy, from an inscription, appears to have been presented to the celebrated Procureur General, Guy Coquille, Seigneur de Romenay, who wrote several works bearing on the same subject. He has written on title-page, "Du Don de Monseigneur le Xe Mars, 1581." Guigard in his Bibliothèque Héraldique, pronounces the work "EXCESSIVEMENT RARE."

There are many English families which have lateral branches in Belgium,—a circumstance which widens the genealogical interest of the above work.

17470 SAINT-GENOIS (J. Comte de) MONUMENS ANCIENS essentiellement utiles à la France, aux Provinces de HAINAUT, FLANDRE, BRABANT, NAMUR, ARTOIS, LIÉGE, HOLLANDE, ZELANDE, FRISE, COLOGNE, et autres Pays limitrophes de l'Empire, 2 vols. folio, coats of arms and large folding pedigrees, hf. red morocco extra, EXTREMELY RARE, £25. Paris, 1782

The above contains the 14th livraison, pp. 391 to 394 of the second volume. Copies extending to page 390 are usually considered perfect; but Brunet states that Vol. 2 should end with page 414. Copies containing these additional leaves however are of such extreme rarity, that according to the Catalogue of De Jonge's Library, sold in Brussels in 1864, not more than six such copies exist. Vol. II. pp. 139-170 are in duplicate.

17471 SCOHIER, Estat et comportement des Armes, livre necessaire a tous Gentilshommes et Officiers d'Armes, sm. folio, numerous cuts of Arms, Pedigrees, etc. hf. vellum, 10*s* Bruxelles, 1597

17477 ARGOTE DE MOLINA (Gonçalo) Nobleza del Andalusia, sm. folio, numerous large woodcuts of Arms, old calf, £3. 13*s* 6*d* Seuilla, 1588

A rare work.

"Cet ouvrage contient les armoiries de toute la noblesse Andalouse. Il est d'une grande importance, non seulement pour le genéalogiste, mais encore pour l'historien et le littérateur. Argote de Molina, en parlant des nobles enfants de sa patrie, rapporte aussi l'histoire du temps ou ils vécureut, et en racontant certains faits d'armes ou batailles, il n'oublie pas de citer les romances et les compositions poetiques populaires qui les rappellent. Plusieurs de ces poésies, qui remontent au XIVe siecle, auraient été perdues pour nous, si le savant annaliste n'eut pris le soin de les transmettre ainsi à la postérité. Soit qu'on recherche beaucoup ce livre en Espagne, soit qu'il n'ait été tiré qu'a un petit nombre d'exemplaires, le fait est qu'aujourdhui on en rencontre fort peu et encore manquent-ils le plus souvent du titre."—Salva.

VERY RARE. Bernal's copy fetched at Sotheby's in 1855, £3. 18*s*; and another brought £4. 10*s* at Puttick's in 1860. No other has since occurred for sale.

It is to be presumed that most of the copies were originally exhausted by the American demand, and that the destruction brought about by revolutions has caused the scarcity and high price of the work.

Ebert calls it "a highly valuable work, very rare," and says that its statements are recognised by the Austrian Government as sufficient authentication of nobility and genealogy. Probably there are not more than three copies in the British Empire.

In Vol. III. pp. 123-26 were cancelled, and reprinted with a different engraving of the Radzival arms. This copy has both the original and the substituted leaves.

MONUMENTA XYLOGRAPHICA ET TYPOGRAPHICA,

including

the Block-Books and the earliest productions of the Press in various countries; with a Supplement containing books in rich or historic bindings: many of them from the library originally belonging to Wilibald Pirckheimer of Nürnberg, (1470-1530), and afterwards to the Howard family: Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, (1603-14), Thomas Earl of Arundel, (1603-46,) and Henry Duke of Norfolk, (1677-84,) which last presented the Collection to the Royal Society.

XYLOGRAPHY.

17540 Block-Printing at the beginning of the 15th century. EIN VORREDE DAS PUCH HAIST WOCHENLICH ANDACHT ZU SELIGKAYT DER WELTLICHEN MENSCHEN, folio, 69 Engravings either from wood or metal, twelve of which bear inscriptions, all representing scenes of Christian mythology, figures of patriarchs, saints, devils, and other dignitaries of the church, all coloured, and illuminated with oxydized gold, impressed in the midst of a Manuscript text in German which occupies 17 leaves of coarse Vellum, in the original oak boards covered with hogskin, from the Culeman collection, £650.

South Germany, about the year 1400

UNIQUE; there being in no collection, public or private, so far as diligent research has been able to ascertain, such another volume as the above. There are in the British Museum a series of similar but later engravings, cut out from the book which originally contained them; a fragment of the same character existed in the Weigel collection; and the Gazette des Beaux Arts (in 1869 ?) described a MS. dated 1406, which contained two engravings (à la manière criblée). But here are nearly seventy, not fragmentary specimens, and not mere "cuttings," but a complete series of ante-typographic engravings enclosed like gems in their original setting—the pages of the coarse MS. in which they were stamped probably half a century before the production of the first specimens of the genuine Art of Printing.

It is well known that there were even in the fourteenth century regular engravers of initial letters for the embellishment of MSS. amongst the monasteries of Southern Germany, but there is a wide difference between such work and the printing of a series of engravings bearing in many instances what are usually called Xylographic legends. But even the former fact—for which see Passavant—although "well-known," has not entered into the consciousness of many people who ought to be familiar with it. The conception of Printing by moveable types was no doubt effected in the brain of Gutenberg by the accouplement of the older art of Initial-engraving with the contemporary one of Xylography.

Until another such article as the volume now under description is met with, the existence of which is by no means impossible, either forgotten in an oubliette of some great library, or lost in the lumber-room of a ruined monastery, the "WÖCHENTLICHE ANDACHT" must remain a far more remarkable monument of the art which it illustrates than any of the great Block-Books or the famous Speculum humanæ salvationis.

The printing of the designs was evidently done before the two scribes commenced their divided labour upon the pious work of Weekly Meditations. They are not all of equal size, but are generally about 3 inches in length by 2¼ in breadth, impressed upon the left of the page, and enclosed by a double border of black lines, to which the regularly indented lines of the MS. form an additional framework.

The first is the smallest of all. It stands at the head of the preface, and represents St. Jerome and the Lion. A closely similar engraving, but on a much larger scale, more complete, and reversed, is reproduced by Weigel (No. 24) as a work executed about 1430-1450. The third, which depicts the expulsion of Adam and Eve from Paradise, resembles, with a little difference, No. 99, described in the Collectio Weigeliana, attributed there to 1440-50, but is evidently more ancient. The eighth is a representation of the angel Gabriel's Annunciation to the Virgin, and is clearly from the same original as the two prints, Nos. 18 and 81 of Weigel's collection, which are, however, much larger and more elaborate. In the scroll which bears the words aue grā plena do' the letter g is turned the wrong way, shewing that the engraver was not yet completely accustomed to the reversal of the legend upon the block. The first of Weigel's two designs was described as one "welcher die Verkündigung beinahe ganz in derselben Weise darstellt wie sie der auf dem zweiten Einband-Deckel der Laus Virginis von 1417 enthaltene Spencer'sche Holzschnitt wiedergibt." This shews that an engraving beinahe like Weigel's, and consequently like No. 8 of the Andacht, exists of an earlier date than 1417. It may be the same as the latter. No. 9, the subject of which is the Birth of Christ, contains the same design as No. 17 of Weigel (attributed to 1415-25), but the latter is reversed and more finished. No. 20, Christ before Pilate, is of a similar type to No. 262 of Weigel, but the costume of the figure is considerably older. No. 31, the Escutcheon or Symbols of Christ,—a very curious design—is similar to No. 45 of Weigel. The awkward way in which i. n. r. i. are engraved on the head of the cross, shewing that the engraver had not yet mastered the necessity of the inversive process, points out that No. 31 of the Andacht was executed quite as far back as the beginning of the fifteenth century. No. 36 is very closely similar to Weigel's 32 and 82. Weigel's No. 44 b. and 98 seem to resemble Nos. 38 and 40 of the Andacht. They are, the Holy Ghost descending on the Apostles, and the meeting of the Virgin and S. Elizabeth. The same comparison may be made between No. 45, Christ on the Cross, and Weigel's No. 8 and 16, which he attributes to 1350 and 1380.

The language of the MS. has a special character of its own: it is old High German. The word signifying Apostle is Unpot, which does not seem to be used any where else. In the names of the week-days, Eritag means Tuesday, and Pfintztag Thursday, both words being relics of ancient heathen Germany. The word Offenbarung is spelled Offenwarung; ewenpild is given for ebenbild; y is used for ü, u for i, sw invariably for schw, ai for ei; the umlaut is never marked over the altered vowels by the original writer, although a later hand has added the sign in most places. In many other ways the volume is linguistically curious; while an amusing specimen of monkish feeling is shewn by the red ink line which the rubricator has struck through the words "un pit Got fur alle mein feind."

17541 APOCALYPSIS SANCTI JOHANNIS, small folio, 48 leaves of Xylographic Printing, the illustrations richly coloured, bound in old green morocco, with silk linings, gilt edges, enclosed in a blue morocco case, from Mr. Corser's library, £550. circ. 1420

First known edition of this celebrated Blockbook. Its priority to all the other editions (of which there are some five or six) is sufficiently proved by the manner in which it is printed from the blocks—that is, on the second and fourth pages of each sheet,—an arrangement so extremely awkward that it can only have been the workman's first attempt. In the other editions we find the practical effects of experience in the improved method of impression, by which the two inner pages of each sheet were printed at once. Another test of priority is the defectiveness or incorrectness of the text, many words and letters of which are altered in the subsequent editions. Some of the instances will be found conclusive in this respect, from peculiar circumstances of mistake or omission. It might be necessary to dwell upon this subject, notwithstanding the agreement that subsists between such excellent authorities as Falkenstein, Heineke, Weigel, and Zestermann, because of an opinion dogmatically set forth in the Principia Typographica that the Corser Apocalypse was a copy of the fifth edition. The Principia Typographica is a scarce and fine work, with numerous illustrations of great fidelity and value; but unfortunately the text was written by an old gentleman, who, however well-meaning and conscientious, was yet a mere pretender to knowledge. The discriminate study of authorities is usually considered necessary for such a work as his, but Mr. Sotheby's linguistic acquirements seem to have been extremely scanty. He frequently attributes a meaning contrary to the true one, to the most ordinary French idioms, while Latin and German were to him as Hebrew;—yet what can the historian of early Printing be, without a good knowledge of those three languages?

In all the later editions of the Apocalypse, it is noticeable how inferior the artistic labour is to that of the first. The variations that took place, as each new edition was issued, were not to the advantage of the engraving,—the typographical arrangement and appliances being improved at the expense of the design. It has been wisely remarked by Heineken that rudeness and want of form are by no means tests of the greater or less antiquity of such productions; and in fact, books of prints were subject at that period to the very same influences which affect our fine art works at the present day. The first edition is always the best, being carefully designed and well executed; it becomes popular at once, and the demand created causes the reproduction of inferior copies. The first edition of the Apocalypse is very much superior to the others, in spirit and boldness of design: some of the cuts being real works of art as compared with the weak and pitiful drawing observable in the later editions.

As for the text of the edition at present under notice, it contains numerous omissions and mistakes which appear corrected and supplied in the later editions; and even in the volume itself many of these errors have been corrected in contemporary handwriting. I may specially draw attention to the words on the (14th) leaf 𝔑 which stood "Et lauauit angelus," and in which the second word has been altered to leuauit. The word lauauit is particularly remarkable, because in all the descriptions of the various editions given by Sotheby and Heineken, it is correctly written leuauit, and consequently the erroneous form is one of the tests of an anterior edition. Weigel only notices it in his single leaf; in his complete copy it is correctly printed. Also on leaf 𝔈 (5) in the first inscription, upper left-hand corner, the word aperire has been altered in ink from apeuire, while it appears in its right form in the later editions. On leaf 𝔇 (7) the word pertinet (as it appears correctly in other editions) is misprinted pertinen, in the left-hand inscription. On leaf 9, the word ortus fons appears in the right-hand corner, instead of ort' solis (see Weigel, II. p. 84.) On leaf 15, Caude equorū, in the central inscription, the word non has been corrected in MS. to noli as it appears everywhere else. On leaf 17 (𝔈) hic sedit is printed, instead of hic sedet as most of the others have it. On leaf 21, dimidiū tempus, for dimidiu temporis. On leaf 32, in the lower left-hand inscription, iudeos has been altered from nudeos. On the fourth leaf, in the lower part of the apostolical symbols, the ox is on the right, the lion on the left. This is altered in other editions. On the same leaf, there are only two figures kneeling behind the angel in the lower right-hand corner. On leaf 5, the eagle and lion are on the left, the angel and ox on the right, in which position they also appear on the 9th leaf. This was changed in other editions. Only two trees appear lying down in the upper illustration on leaf 11. On 19th leaf, the inscription begins, Et ecce draco, Heineken has erat. On leaf 26, in the lower inscription, there appears a mistake which goes far to prove the German origin of the book: the word agnus, as it is in other editions, appears angnus, which truly represents the German pronunciation of the Latin word. On the 28th leaf, the words in dno have been added in MS. above the line, in the inscription "Beati mortui qui moriūtur." They are not omitted in the later editions. The first words of the left-hand inscription on leaf 31 are Et uidi post hec ecce | aptū; differently from the Vienna edition (Heineken, p. 343).

The paper-mark is a bunch of grapes, rudely formed, in which we see an indication that the volume was printed in Southern Germany. A similar mark appears on a leaf in Weigel's possession, representing the Adoration of the three Kings, supposed to have been executed about 1425.

The sequence and arrangement of the leaves remains to be noted.

The following letter of the late owner of this Apocalypse is interesting :—

"Sir,—Notwithstanding what you remark as to the binding of the Block Book "of the Apocalypse, which you purchased the other day, it is quite certain that it "came from the sale of the STOWE LIBRARY; there is a long description of the "book given in the Catalogue, occupying nearly a page. The Book is in such a "genuine and fair state, and is so perfect a specimen of that class of works, that "although you may have paid a large sum for it, I consider it worth the money, and "that such another example is not likely to occur for sale again.

"I ALWAYS CONSIDERED IT THE GEM OF MY COLLECTION. You have had "the cream of my collection, and there are no more Caxtons or Block books to come.

"Shand Rectory, August 10, 1868. THOMAS CORSER."

17542 APOCALYPSIS SANCTI JOHANNIS, sm. folio, another edition of the great Block-Book, xylographically printed on 48 leaves, the engravings coloured, with some minute worm-holes, bound in embroidered silk, with a design of the Virgin crowned by God the Father, morocco back and borders, from the Seymour Kirkup library, £200. circ. 1440-50

This Block-Book is of the edition which is ranked by Heineken as second, by Sotheby as fourth, and which I consider should stand fifth in order.

17543 SPECULUM HUMANÆ SALVATIONIS, folio, FIRST EDITION, THE WHOLE OF THE TEXT PRINTED WITH MOVEABLE TYPES, AND THE WOOD BLOCK CUTS AT THE TOP OF EACH PAGE, £850. (? cir. 1465)

The above specimen of the Books printed from Wooden Blocks (which have excited so much controversy, as connected with the claim of Holland to the Invention of Printing), is in the finest possible condition. The cuts are uncoloured and not pasted together as they generally are.

On the first day of Inglis' sale, the Speculum humanæ salvationis was sold, and secured by Mr. Quaritch. The last time it had appeared in the market was in 1867, when the copy with the Dutch text belonging to the eminent printers Enschede of Haarlem realised at auction a sum of 8250 florins, and was purchased by Mr. Quaritch. This extraordinary volume, half xylographic (or block-printed) and half typographic, has been identified by Messrs. Ottley, Sotheby, and others, as the first existing specimen of printing with moveable types. All the claims advanced by the Dutch school to the glory of having invented the Art of Printing, are founded upon the Speculum. With its rude Latin rhymes, and its coarse woodcuts, it has been for more than a hundred years the oriflamme and central object of a hot conflict, waged with partisan fury by all the critics and bibliographers of Europe, arrayed in two hostile divisions to support the honour of Germany and of Holland. The fact that Guttenberg was engaged in typographical labours at Mentz, about the year 1450, is denied by none; but there are still many writers who hold that Lawrence Janson Koster printed books in Haarlem thirty years earlier, and who point to the Speculum humanæ Salvationis, as the work of that personage. After all, the Speculum is without dispute an extraordinary volume, and must rank as perhaps the only certainly Dutch Block-book in existence. The learned librarian of Cambridge has traced the history of the Speculum as nearly as possible to its origin; but he finds no facts to carry the book further back than Utrecht (not Haarlem) before the years 1471-74. This is not satisfactorily definite, but at the very least it would entitle the Speculum to be considered as the first book printed in the Low Countries.

17544 DIE STREITER CHRISTI, sm. 4to. 14 leaves, of which nine contain full-length wood-engravings of an angel and the Eight Champions of Christ, beginning with St. Baldwin, with xylographic legends, and five leaves bearing text, £4. Mainz, 1430

The title and date appear on the first leaf along with the figure of a sworded cherub. The five leaves of text contain each the same ten rude lines, which seem to read "Wir streiter Cristi wol uns schla'n Die weil wir fir uns den himel han Got schirme fir der wetir zu unser ctir." It is a manifest forgery of modern times.

Mentz, about 1455

One of the most remarkable books in existence, as being the first great effort of the Printing Press, (known as the Mazarine Bible, because the copy in the Mazarine Library possesses a MS. subscription by the illuminator which fixes the date of the book). A few small fragments of a grammatical treatise, called "Donatus," are in existence which are believed to have been executed earlier, as well as a Letter of Indulgence, by the same hand, and printed like the Bible with moveable types; but the magnificent work above described is beyond dispute the noblest monument that has been raised to commemorate the fame of Guttenberg, the great inventor of the Art of Printing. For we ought not to confound the older mechanical attempts to reproduce books, which are usually attributed to Xylography, and which might better be treated in the history of Engraving, with the far superior art of Typography, to which we owe in greatest measure the destruction of that mediæval philosophy which might have reduced European civilization to the level of Chinese; and the spread of liberal knowledge which made the Reformation possible.

Two sorts of copies of the Mazarine Bible are met with. The first is the issue by Guttenberg himself, probably in 1455, of which no copy on vellum is known, and the second is the issue made by Fust in or after 1456, when he had legally robbed the Inventor of his whole stock of types and copies. It is to this second issue that all the vellum copies (and also most of the paper copies) belong. The variation between the two issues is easily distinguished: in the second, or what we may call the vellum sort, the first five leaves, as well as one at the beginning of Maccabees, were reprinted so as to occupy, by the means of newly cut types of abbreviations, only FORTY LINES per column instead of FORTY-TWO as in the original book. It is to be presumed that those leaves were spoiled in the transfer of the stock to Fust; the reason why he did not reprint them in exact conformity cannot be ascertained. It might have been a vain desire to display fresh additions to the old type, which had been cast by Schoeffer for him after the severance from Guttenberg;—it might have been to make the Bible seem a different edition. WHATEVER WAS THE CAUSE, THE FACT REMAINS, AND WE ARE ENABLED THEREFORE TO CLAIM A SUPERIORITY AND PRIORITY FOR THE UNMIXED ISSUE ON PAPER, OVER ALL THE COPIES ON VELLUM. The distinction may be marked in terms by speaking of the Perkins Bible on Paper as—

No. 1. The Mazarine Bible, First Issue, by Guttenberg; and the one on vellum as—

No. 2. The Mazarine Bible, Second and Altered Issue, by Fust and Schoeffer.

We doubt if the copy above described can be rivalled by any other in existence, for condition and size. It fulfils every requirement of the most fastidious collector, being perfect, clean, and for the most part uncut, as well as containing a brilliant and fine impression of the text. Even the MS. memoranda of signatures, and numbers of chapters, still remain at foot and on the margins of the pages, being unquestionably in the handwriting of Guttenberg himself.

The general remark of newspaper critics on the subject of the Perkins' sale has been an expression of wonder at the enormous price of the book on paper as compared with that on vellum; but such conclusions can only be attributed to a defect either of knowledge or judgment. The facts stated above are sufficient in themselves to shew that the paper copy, in its singularly fine and perfect condition, was a far more valuable article than the copy on vellum, which wanted not only the two leaves that had been supplied in modern facsimile, but which was also defective, as stated in the preceding account of the two varying issues of the Bible.

Alma in urbe Maguntina, 1460

EXCESSIVELY RARE, and interesting not only as the fourth volume printed with a date, but also as the production of Guttenberg's new press, after Fust had seized his former stock and "plant," and established the second Printing-Office of the world. The undaunted Inventor began in age his ruined work anew, and four years after the breaking-up of his former office he printed the Catholicon. He was now sixty-three years old, but still went on with the study of his Art—the Columbus of Typography; while his younger follower and rival Schöffer was carrying the craft to perfection, and reaping its chief glory and benefit. The Catholicon has frequently been attributed to Bechtermüntze, who printed later at Eltvil, but it would be absurd to conclude from the fact that the Vocabularius published by him in 1467 (the year of the death of Guttenberg, portion of whose stock of type had then come into the possession of his apprentice Bechtermüntze) is in the same character as the Mentz Catholicon of 1460, that it was not Guttenberg who printed the latter. The types are those of Guttenberg, and the book was printed in Mentz in 1460, not by Schöffer; consequently it is ridiculous to seek to assign the book to any other than the Inventor. Instead of arguing from the Vocabularius of 1467, (the first year in which we hear of Bechtermüntze as an independent typographer,) to the Catholicon of 1460, the process of reasoning should be inverted; and the only natural deduction from the identity of types is that Bechtermüntze had acquired some of Guttenberg's plant, when he set up for himself. We know that there was a connexion between them, and that Guttenberg's types and materials were dispersed in 1467, after his death. Another feature of the Catholicon is the absence of the printer's name, as is the case with all the books printed by Guttenberg. Instead of mentioning his name, with a flourish like that which appears in the colophons of Schöffer and others, he modestly attributed the glory to Mentz and the praise to God.

The complete colophon is as follows:—

From the library of Wilibald Pirckheimer (1440-1530), the Nürnberg patrician, friend and patron of Albert Dürer, and afterwards from that of Henry Howard, sixth Duke of Norfolk (1677-84). Schöffer states in the colophon that the edition of the present work by Mentz typography is a deserved tribute to the saint who had somewhere spoken in high praise of the ancient Maguntines. Copies of the book are very rare, especially those printed on vellum.

EXTREMELY RARE. It is reprinted, page for page, but with corrections, from Schöffer's edition of 1462, which is the first Bible with a certain date, and which according to bibliographers, is not so rare as the present volume—a statement that seems to be utterly controverted by the fact that a copy of the 1462 Bible fetched £780. at the Perkins' sale. It is true the latter was on vellum, but again the bibliographers say that vellum copies are commoner than copies on paper. At the end of the book, in a contemporary handwriting, is a Manuscript containing Prologues to the Prophets.

Mencz, Peter Schoffer, 1492

A volume of extraordinary rarity, filled with very spirited woodcuts; the last leaf containing the imprint and device of the printer (in red), is almost always deficient, according to Ebert. The Chronicle is carried down to 1489. It is attributed to Conrad Botho of Braunschweig, but the authorship does not seem to be clearly proved. See Scheller, p. 100, where he states that the language of the Chronicle is "rein Sassisch ohne allen Dialekt." This Chronicle is both historically and linguistically interesting.

In Civitate Moguntina per Erhardum Reuwich de Trajecto, 1486

 Very rare. Hibbert's copy fetched £12. 16*s*; another, at Sotheby's in 1860, £12. 16*s*; and in 1867, the copy which had come from the Yemeniz library was sold for £16.

It has been considered by competent bibliographers that Reuwich of Utrecht was only the engraver of the cuts, and that the real typographer of the book was Peter Schöffer, but there is no ambiguity in the statement in the colophon, which names the former as the printer. It is also said that the veritable author of the narrative was a monk named Martin Roth, but the account of the peregrination is a perfectly true one. Bernhard of Breitenbach, and the friends whom he names at the beginning travelled from Oppenheim to Venice, and thence voyaged to the east in 1483. The story of his journey will always be interesting: it is one of the first books of travel, and is the first itinerary ever printed; it describes minutely the condition of the Holy Land, and the customs of the various races and sects that inhabited it. Moreover, the alphabets and characters of different languages, including the Hebrew, Arabic, Syriac, Ethiopic, etc. are given. In short, the work possesses value and interest for every kind of collector.

This precious volume was printed at Ulm about the year 1471. Panzer and Hain attribute it to the press of Johann Zainer, but other bibliographers are inclined to assign it as above to Hohenwang, the first printer of Ulm. (There is another issue without the name of the place, through which some confusion has been created.) It is, moreover, supposed to be the earliest book wherein the leaves were numbered. The edition is of extraordinary rarity, and a perfect copy, like the present, almost equals in scarcity the famous Italian original, printed by Valdarfer also in 1471, which sold for £2260. in the Roxburghe sale. It is a curious fact that this book should have appeared in Italian and German simultaneously, and that whilst in Italy it served only to amuse sceptics, in Germany it greatly assisted in producing the Reformation, by means of its pictures of the corrupt lives of Churchmen. The excessive rarity of all the German editions was probably caused by the work being prohibited and destroyed by the priests, who dreaded the effect produced by its reading by the laity.

Geendet säliglich von Johanne Zeiner zu Ulm (cir. 1476)

VERY RARE. This precious volume is in Latin and German, and seems to be of the highest degree of scarcity. It contains firstly the life of Æsop, then the four books of his Fables, next the Extravagantes, the New Fables of Rimicius, those of Avienus, and a collection of Facetiæ from Poggio and others. The edition is evidently anterior to the other undated ones described by Brunet, Vol. I, col. 100-101, —the present one being incorrectly described by him after Dibdin and Graesse (perhaps from imperfect copies). The description in the Bibl. Spencer, and the quotation there from Braun of the number of leaves as being 275 instead of 278, indicated plainly that imperfect copies were used. Ebert's account also mentions 275 leaves. I cannot find trace of any copy but the above as having occurred for sale.

This edition of the ancient Swabian Law is assigned to the press of Ulm by its former owner, Senator Culemann, a competent authority. Sine notâ (Argentorati, Mentelinus, circ. 1466)

Dibdin, in describing the copy in the Spencer library (which was imperfect), says—"I consider this impression to be the rarest of all known editions of the Bible in the Latin language, not excepting that of Pfister. It is the only copy of it in this country, and with the exception of those copies in the libraries of Paris, Strasbourg, and Munich, I do not recollect another copy. Laire asks, who can be the printer? and inclines strongly to believe that it was Mentelin. There can be no doubt, I think, of the accuracy of this conclusion." When Dibdin wrote in this manner of a sadly imperfect copy, what would he have said of the perfect and magnificent copy which is offered above? Three copies beyond those known to him turned up after the words of the preceding quotation were written; but not all perfect. Consequently it is easy to understand why Mr. Perkins was obliged to pay £231. for a complete copy, in De Rome's binding.

17568 BIBLIA LATINA, folio, Mentelin's fifty-six-line Bible, known as the R Bible, from the unusual formation of the capital R, fine copy in the original stamped vellum binding, £60. Sine notâ (Argent. circ. 1466)

EXTREMELY RARE, and valuable. This Bible is in Roman characters,—not in the peculiar Gothic type in which Mentelin executed his other Latin Bible; and is considered by the able continuator of Brunet (Diction. Geographique) to be the most important monument of the first press of Strassburg. He assigns to it a date not later, and probably earlier, than 1466. But it would seem, from a comparison of the two Bibles, and from the rational supposition that a fount of Gothic type must have preceded one of Roman character, that the advantage of priority is to be assigned to the work divided as above in two volumes. About six or seven copies are known of the fifty-six line or R Bible. It was usually supposed until Dibdin's time that this work issued from the press of Günther Zainer.

The age of this fine volume, which may claim to be the Editio Princeps of St. Augustine's greatest work, is authenticated by the illuminator's inscription in the Spencer copy, from which we learn that Bämler of Augsburg filled in the initials in the year 1468. The book is VERY RARE.

This work is very rare and unmentioned by the bibliographers. From the peculiar shape of some of the capital letters, it might also be attributed to Eggesteyn.

Manuscripts of this work exist in some great libraries, but the fact that the book was printed does not appear to be known to bibliographers. The type resembles that of the Augustine by Mentelin and the Cino da Pistoja above. The volume must be one of very great rarity.

Not only is this magnificent volume the first edition of the great Code of Canon Law, but it is also THE FIRST BOOK PRINTED AT STRASSBURG WITH A DATE. The second edition was issued one year later by the same printer, and is comparatively common; but of the first edition only a few copies are known, all (but the above) locked up in great libraries.

The colophon of this work (which is very rare and not in the Spencer library) runs curiously thus: "non calamo ut prisci quidem nec penne tractu quo ipsi fruimur verum exsculptis ere litteris divino suggesta spiramine imprimendi arte transpictum, etc." This alone would render the book a remarkable one. Brunet's description refers only to the first volume; he evidently knew nothing of the second (the Additiones) although it is an integral portion of the work.

VERY RARE. This romance of Duke Herpin, his lost son Lion, and the White Knight through whose means they were restored to their high position, belongs to the Charlemagne cycle. The French original of this Romance, a chanson de geste described by Paulin Paris, is almost wholly unknown. The German version purports to be a totally independent work.

17581 CLAUDII PTOLEMAEI Geographicæ Enarrationis libri octo Bilibaldo Pirckeymhero interprete, (acc.) annotationes J. de Regio Monte, folio, curious initials with borders, 50 large woodcut maps, russia, gilt edges, £9. 9*s* Argentoragi (sic) J. Grieninger, 1525

17582 ——— the same, old MS. notes on margins, a very large copy in calf gilt, £12. 10*s* 1525

The Bodleian library possesses only an imperfect copy of this edition, and there is none at all in the Grenville Library. Harrisse (Bibl. Americana) had not seen one, describing it only from the catalogue of a private collection. The maps are the same as those in the edition of 1522. The last sheet is the famous map signed by L. F. (Laurentius Frisius) dated 1522, and entitled "ORBIS TYPUS UNIVERSALIS," which bears the name "America." This map is not a new one, but simply a reproduction of one in the Ptolemy of 1513, with the name America added. The discovery of Columbus is described on the sheet numbered 28, and the two inner pages of that sheet contain a Map of America, or rather of the Western Ocean and Terra Nova, with the Islands. Again, the second last map, which represents Gronlandia et Russia, is really a map of the Eastern Hemisphere, but also contains portions of the American coasts. As the collation is always incorrectly given, an exact description is appended. Folios 1-28, numbered, including title; annotations of Regiomontanus, 14 leaves, unnumbered; Index Ptolemæi, 34 leaves, unnumbered: followed by the Maps. They consist of sheets numbered 1-26; general Ptolemæan map; sheets 28-50 (with two Nos. 36 by mistakes for 35 and 36; 46 and 47 on sheet; and 50 unnumbered.)

17583 BIDPAY'S FABLES. DAS IST DAS BUOCH DES WEISZHEIT darin erlernt würt der Welt lauff . . . . wie durch thierer vergleicht würt, small folio, numerous large and bold woodcuts, title mounted, otherwise a clean and good copy, in half russia, £3. 16*s*

Strassburg, Johannes Grienninger, 1529

The story known as Calila wa Dimna in Arabic literature, as the Anvari Suhaili in Persian, and as the Hitopedesa in Sanscrit. They were first introduced to European readers by means of a thirteenth-century Latin translation from an early Hebrew version. The Latin is the original of the German.

These are the sermons preached in 1498 by Geyler, of Keyserberg, a whimsical priest, who had somewhat of the disposition of Rabelais and Swift. He turned the matter of the Ship of Fools into homilies no less satirical than the original book, and infinitely more curious considering their application. The printer's name is not given, but he was probably Mathias Hüpfuff.

17587 ALEXANDER. Das Buch der Geschicht des grossen Allexanders wie die Eusebius beschriben und geteutscht hat, new getruckt mit vyl schönen figuren, sm. folio, large woodcuts, vellum, £7. 10*s*

Strassburg, M. Hüpffuff, 1514

This German translation from the popular Latin romance (attributed vulgarly to Eusebius) was made by Doctor Johannes Hartlieb, at the request of Albert, Duke of Bavaria, and his wife Anna of Brunswick, in the year 1444.

A fine copy of this rare Romance; which is particularly interesting to English collectors, not merely because the heroine is named a British queen, but because this translation from the French original is stated on the title to have been made by "Heleonora, queen of Scotland, archduchess of Austria." This lady was not Queen of Scotland, but one of the daughters of James I. She married Sigismund, Archduke of Austria in 1468, and died 1480. The translation (which seems from the preface to have been made from the Latin, not directly from the French), is very creditable to a Scottish princess.

This is the edition with a rose for paper-mark, consisting of 392 leaves, in double columns of 58 lines each, and printed with types of remarkable beauty, which Brunet mentions in Vol. III. col. 503. It has neither signatures, catchwords, or pagination, and the large initials are painted in by hand; but nevertheless the present volume is one of the finest and most perfect productions of early typography. The type in the body of the book is the same as that which appeared in the Alexander and Gesta Romanorum below, but belongs to an earlier period before the clearness and delicacy of the outlines had been worn away.

Described by Panzer (Annales I. p. 94) as the work of an unknown Strasburg printer, whose productions had been by Braun and others wrongly attributed to Christoph. Valdarfer. It is however probable that the book was printed by Georg Reyser in Würtzburg.

17593 (BIDPAI) DIRECTORIUM humane vite alias parabole antiquorum sapientium, sm. folio, First Latin Edition, numerous rude and curious woodcuts, fine copy, beautifully bound in dark morocco extra, tooled and gilt, gilt edges, by Bedford, £16. 16*s* Sine ullâ notâ, circa 1480

This corresponds in its text to the German translation described above.

17595 GESTA ROMANORUM cum applicationibus moralisatis ac misticis, sm. folio, gothic letter, fine large copy, calf extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £4. 4*s* s. l. 1490

In the same type as the Alexander, which was printed at Strassburg—"On a longtemps ignoré le nom de l'auteur de cette compilation, mais un passage du 68me dialogue du livre intitulé Dialogus Creaturarum nous le révèle par ces mots Elimandus in Gestis Romanorum."—Brunet. The bibliographer's observation does not seem to have gone far enough: the m in Elimandus is a mistake for n, and Helinand is a familiar name in France.

The three preceding works (Bidpai, Alexander, Gesta) are probably from the press of Martin Flach. See ante.

17597 BIBLIA SACRA LATINA, 2 stout volumes, sm. folio, a superb copy of Ulrich Zell's Forty-two-lines Bible, Editio Prima, very large and clean in the original boards, covered with leather, £52.

Sine anno, loco, typographo, (COLONIÆ, typis UDALRICI ZELL, cir. 1466)

Printed upon stout paper, with forty-two lines to a page, 345 printed leaves in one volume, and 334 in the other, not including the original blank leaves, the printed page measuring 8 inches, the leaf being 12⅜ inches by 8⅝ in. in one volume and 12¼ by 8⅜ in the other. Without signatures, numerals, catchwords, head-lines, or any indication of the printer, but according to Masch and Meermann the FIRST edition of Ulrich Zell's Latin Bible.

Very few complete copies of this Bible are in existence. Dibdin refers to three, but I have no mention of any as occurring for sale or in booksellers' catalogues, except a single imperfect one. Several copies of Ulrich Zell's second edition have been seen and badly described, so as often to be confused with the Princeps which is offered above. Even Pettigrew was inaccurate in his descriptions. It appears unquestionable that the First Cologne Edition of the Latin Bible is one of the rarest of early-printed books.

17598 GERSON (Jo.) Tractatus notabilis de passionibus Animæ; etiam Tractatulus bonus ejusdem de modo vivendi omnium fidelium, sm. 4to. beautiful copy, blue morocco extra, gilt edges, bound by Pratt, £2. 2*s* sine ullâ notâ (Zell, 1467-68)

There were two editions by Ulrich Zell; both of 30 leaves, 27 lines to a page; but the earlier of the two (referred by Holtrop, Bibl. Hagana, to the year 1467) has the reverse of folio 26 blank, while in the later one the blank space is filled up by a duplicate impression from the reverse of leaf 29. The above copy is of the first edition.

This edition consists of 24 leaves, with 27 lines in a full page. It is probably by Zell, although the type closely resembles that of the productions of Conrad Winters.

The first book in the volume, (a work of historical interest, which has been several times printed since this first edition appeared, and even so lately as 1851,) is from the press of Ulrich Zell; the second may have been printed by J. Koelhoff of Lübeck, at Cologne, about 1475. The Dialogue of Miracles relates chiefly to the events of Cæsarius' own times. He flourished during the first half of the thirteenth century.

J. Koelhoff.

17601 GERSON (Johannis, doctoris christianissimi) Operum pars prima et secunda, 2 vols. sm. folio, old red morocco, gilt and marbled edges, 36*s* (Coloniæ, Koelhof,) 1488

These volumes include the de Potestate Ecclesiæ, in which Gerson maintained and proved the preeminence of the Church over the Pope. They also contain his remarks upon the Maid who had arisen (a few months before his death) to save France from the English.

Johann Veldener.

17602 THERAMO (Jacobi de) Lis Cristi et Belial judicialiter coram Salomone judice, sm. folio, 96 leaves, double columns, 36 lines in a page, old calf gilt, £5. 5*s* Sine ulla nota (J. Veldener, cir. 1475)

For an account of this curious Romance, see ante, in the class of MSS. Panzer and Brunet describe an edition by Veldener, exactly corresponding to the above, printed by him at Cologne some time before he left that city in 1476 to start afresh in Louvain.

Cornelius of Zürichzee.

17603 [HEROLT (J.)] Discipulus de eruditione Christifidelium omnibus predicare volentibus utilis, etiam cunctis fidei Christianæ cultoribus necessarius, cum thematibus sermonum dominicalium et de sanctis in generali ac de beata virgine, sm. 4to. curious Xylographic engraving on the titlepage, calf extra, gilt edges, by Pratt, 21*s*

Swibert was an Englishman who went out to Christianise the pagans of North Germany near the end of the sixth century.

The age of this fine volume is authenticated by a date inscribed by the first owner in minute handwriting within the painted initial on the first page. It is—"Anno Domini MCCCCLXXIX in Trajecto." The type in the book is the same as that of the Legenda of 1481.

17606 LEGENDA SANCTORUM AUREA quæ alio nomine dicitur Hystoria Longobardica, stout sm. folio, fine large copy, with rough leaves, BOUND in russia, blind tooled, £5.

(Coloniæ) Conradus Winters de Homberch, 1481

This very rare edition contains a Supplement of 30 additional lives, (beyond the original 177,) which did not appear in the earlier editions, but were first added by Winters. They are for the most part different from the additions in the Cologne edition of 1485, and from the Strasburg edition of 1490.

Coloniæ, 1485

With an inscription by the Rev. Robert Baynley, 1570, who had bought it for three shillings and fourpence. The additional lives are to the number of 38.

17608 ITINERARIUM seu Peregrinatio beatæ MARIAE VIRGINIS, with a remarkably fine series of woodcuts in compartments of three on a page, hf. morocco, £4. 4*s*

s. l. e. a. (? Cologne, 1490)

Collation: a to d eight leaves; e four leaves. The volume is extremely rare; and contains a series of ascetic prayers and devotional exercises, arranged in stations divided according to periods of the Virgin's life. The present copy is from the library of Edmund Waterton, Esq. Walton Hall, Yorkshire.

Martin of Werden.

17609 DONATUS. On first leaf: Partes orationis quot | sūt? Octo. Que? No- | men: etc. sm. 4to. title within woodcut border, very large and fine copy in calf extra, £16. 16*s* sine notâ (Coloniæ, typis Martini de Werdenâ, cir. 1504)

EXCESSIVELY RARE. It is an edition unknown to Panzer, Ebert, and Brunet, printed in a bold and beautiful missal type of large size, with twenty lines on every page except the first which has sixteen. The book consists of thirty leaves (signatures a, b, c in eights, and d in six) and ends on the obverse of the last with the words Finit feliciter. There is no mark of the place or the printer, but the last owner, Senator Culemann, attributed it as above. The paper-mark is the rare bull's head, with the unfinished Maltese cross at top, which is seen in a few of Caxton's books.

17610 HOECHSTRASSEN (Jac.) Tractatus magistralis declarans quam graviter peccent querentes auxilium a maleficis, small 4to. woodcut on the last page, calf extra, gilt edges, £12. 12*s*

volume is in fine sound condition, having several leaves almost uncut, unbound, £10. 10*s* Cologne, H. Quentell, 1479

A perfect copy of this very rare Bible was priced by H. Bohn in 1841 £30. and considering the advance in price of early printed books, a copy at the present time would be worth £50. The woodcuts were probably designed by Israel v. Meckenen, and were afterwards used in the High German editions of Nuernberg 1483 and the Low German of Halberstadt 1522.

17612 VIGELLI Speculum Stultorum, sm. 4to. with very curious woodcuts, some leaves wormed in the text, but otherwise perfect, beautiful old French red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Derome, EXTREMELY RARE, £6. 6*s* (? Quentell) Coloniæ, 1499

Many editions of this singular "Glass of Fools" appeared in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. It might be called the Romance of the Donkey, but in the career of Brunellus, the ass who is dissatisfied with the littleness of his tail, a satire is conveyed upon the lives of the cloister and the church. The grotesque and comic element however prevails in it.

Nigellus was an Englishman and a native of London; he flourished at the beginning of the 13th century, in the reign of King John.

Cœllen, Ludovuich van Renchē, 1485

In the Cologne dialect of Low German. This work is for the most part a translation from the Latin edition of 1481 of the Golden Legend, but varies towards the end. It includes one of St. Thomas of Canterbury. Caxton probably translated his Golden Legend from this book. Panzer only mentions one book by the printer—whom he calls Ludovicus de Reuchen—a Latin Psalter printed one year before the present volume.

H. Baumgart and Euchar. Hirzhorn (Cervicornus).

Fabricius and many other bibliographers, from the work ending with "Ex Universitate Friburgen. Sole in XVII gradu libre gradiente M.CCCC.XCIX." have considered it as printed at Freyburg. A careful examination, however, of the type will show that it was undoubtedly printed at Cologne, "zum wilden Manne," by H. Bumgart de Ketwich.

Panzer (I. p. 161) only mentions a single book—a Graduale—printed by Kilchen or Kirchen in conjunction with Wenssler. The latter printed for a long series of years, but it would seem that Kirchen had but a short connection with the art of typography. In the Baptismal Service, there is a grotesque commixture of the Latin instructions and the words to be used which are in the Swiss dialect.

Brant, Anno M.CCCCC.XVI. Kal. Martii. Panzer doubted the existence of this edition.

These pseudo-revelations, so unkindly fathered upon the good St. Methodius, are very curious in themselves as exhibiting the state of feeling in Europe during the fifteenth century with regard to the domination of the Turks; and the hopes and wishes of the Christian population, based upon a long succession of legends.

After the leaf 234, upon which stands the above colophon, there follow four leaves of Omissions and Corrections, to which a fresh colophon is appended, which shews that the cost of the publication was paid by Christopher Thum, burgher of Augsburg.

A most desirable copy of this interesting volume, which, as the first published Greek Testament, must always claim a prominent place in every library.

Hibbert's copy fetched £10. 10*s*; Dr. Hawtrey's, £10. 15*s*; but it is now some time since any copy has occurred for sale. Its extreme rarity is dwelt upon by Horne and other bibliographers.

The disputed text of the 'three witnesses,' 1 John v. 7, is not contained in this first edition with the annotations of Erasmus.

(Günther Zainer, circ. 1473)

A magnificent production of the early press of Augsburg in which city—"not the meanest one of the noble German nation," Günther Zainer its first typographer established himself in the year 1468. It is remarked by Dibdin of the copy in the Spencer library, there divided into two volumes, that "these are the most magnificent volumes of ancient editions of Sacred Writ in the Collection."

Panzer attributes this volume to the press of Günther Zainer, about the year 1473. It is a very fine and remarkable specimen of early typography, and contains an exposition of the Psalms. The first and second pages contain two large woodcut initials.

(Aug. Vind. G. Zainer) 1477

A series of treatises on the mysteries of religion, and upon all the qualities, conditions and accidents of life—forming a very curious work, which however the modern student chiefly values as containing a reference to the monk Theophilus, the supposed inventor of the art of painting in oil. It is a book of great rarity, and moreover is but little known. Brunet refers to it under the name of the editor "Mathias Farinator de Vienna."

stout large folio, 456 leaves with numerous woodcuts, fine large copy in the original boards covered with stamped leather, £25.

Ohne Ort und Jahr, (Augsburg, J. Pflanzmann, cir. 1474)

This Bible is excessively rare. In fact, the name of the printer is almost unknown. He was a literary man rather than a printer, and it is likely that he carried on the business of a typographer but for a short while. In 1493 he employed Erhardt Ratdolt to print his German translation of a Latin law-book, being then a procurator. The above Bible and a Psalter, which appeared about the same time, seem to be the only works printed by him which have come down to us. In Metzger's work on the early productions of the Augsburg press, his name only is mentioned, but none of his publications described as existing in the Royal Library there. The Bible is described by Panzer, p. 2 of the Zusätze zu den Annalen, and by Ebert.

The present copy is one of unusual interest, as it contains a number of memoranda on the fly-leaves at the end, dated from 1477 to 1525, and recording various events of the time. Among them are the following—"Item, in disem Jar (1477) ward Herczog Karly erschlagen. Item, in disem Jar nam unsers Heren Kaysers sun Maxymyanus des sogemelten Herczogs thochter zu der k." The name of Ravenspurg (in Würtemberg) is mentioned as the scene of a disaster: probably the volume was owned by some monastery in that vicinity.

Anton Sorg.

A very rare and apparently undescribed edition of Schildberger's Travels in Tartary, Persia, Turkey, Arabia, the Holy Land, Egypt, &c. The top of the first page is occupied by a woodcut, under which the first line of the text is "Bey dem Abubachir was eyns Künigs sun"—so that the beginning is wanting. The copy consists of 38 leaves, with 36 and 33 lines to a page, and was printed by A. Sorg, at Augsburg, about 1480. It concludes on the reverse of folio 38: "Ein ende hat der Schiltberger." The last page comprises the Tatar and Armenian Paternoster.

A very rare book, which is not exactly a translation from Valerius Maximus as the title would indicate, but a German version of Dionysius a Burgo's explanatory commentary on that writer. The translation was made by "Heinrich von Muglein gesessen bey der Elbe in dem land Meyssen" in the year 1369.

17658 IMITATION OF CHRIST. On title: Ein Ware Nachvolgung Cristi, sm. 4to. rude woodcut of Christ bearing his Cross, fine copy in the original wooden boards, covered with stamped leather, very scarce, £5.

Augspurg (A. Sorg) 1493

This is probably the second German edition; the first was issued by Sorg in 1486. Panzer only knew of the existence of the present one from Zapf's description.

17660 STULTIFERA NAVIS: Narragonice Profectionis nunquam satis laudata Navis per Sebastianum Brant vernaculo sermone fabricata, per Jacobum Locher in Latinum traducta eloquium et per Sebastianum Brant denuo seduloque revisa, sm. 8vo. 117 curious woodcuts, in the original stamped binding, £5. Augustæ, J. Schensperger, kal. April, 1497

The curious woodcut of the ignorant bibliomaniac on the reverse of folio 12 has often been reproduced. One of the longest pieces in the book is on the "Decline of the Catholic Faith and of the Empire," which (written in 1494) contains the following singular prophecy:—"Roma, inclita Roma—Vix tandem evades; sæva procella venit,"—although he did not anticipate that the storm would burst from Germany.

17661 BET-BÜCHLEIN, 16mo. a Prayer Book printed on vellum, with engraved borders, and in the same flourished and elegant type as the Teurdank, parchment binding, £2. 10*s* cir. 1522

This very rare and elegant little book does not quite correspond to the "Bet-Büchlein" described by Brunet as printed in the Teurdank types. For instance there are more leaves in it, although the above copy has no title, and this does not seem to be the only deficiency in the volume.

The first Prayer in this volume is very powerful: "Vō disem gebet hat man 500 Jar applass als oft man es spricht."

Erhart Ratdolt.

At the end, after the colophon, there are three leaves—"Tractatus de Meditatione Cordis à M. Johanne de Gerson."

A rare edition in Low-German and Latin.

It is a somewhat singular fact that a Low-German version of a Code of Laws should have been printed and published in Augsburg, an Upper-German town.

17665 PROPHETEN (Alle) nach Hebraischer sprach verteutschet, sm. folio, woodcut title, in the original binding, £4. 4*s* Augspurg, S. Otmar, 1527

An excessively rare edition of the Worms Bible translation by Hätzer and Denken, wholly different from that of Luther, but also a Reformed one. It is quoted by Goetz, III. 215, as "eine höchst seltene Ausgabe."

A tall clean copy of an extremely rare and curious work. The woodcuts in this most extraordinary volume, which occupy the whole length of the page, represent subjects of the Old and New Testament, but chiefly the life and passion of our Saviour. Many of the designs are highly singular, and are evidently the work of WOLGEMUTH, the tutor of ALBERT DÜRER, and the engraver of the cuts for the NUREMBERG CHRONICLE. Strutt characterizes the productions of this artist as "bold in execution and original in design."

17692 ——— the same, a fine and perfect copy in red morocco, gilt edges, from the Sobolewski library, £17. 17*s* 1508

VERY RARE. It is the first publication in German of the celebrated collection of Voyages known under the name of Vespucci, Cadamosto, and Fracanzano, and also by its title Paesi novamente retrovati. There is added at the end, beyond the matter of the Italian volume, a German translation of King Emmanuel's latest letter to the Pope (dated Alchochete, 12 June, 1508), which had only previously appeared in Latin, in separate form at Rome. Harrisse states that the Vicenza edition of 1507 of the Paesi contains a letter of the King to the Pope at the end, but there is no such thing in the Latin edition of Milan (Itinerarium Portugallensium), nor in the Italian reprint of 1519. If the Bib. Amer. Vet. be correct, it must be an earlier and different letter of the Portuguese King. This serves to show that Ruchamer's German publication of 1508 has some intrinsic and independent value beyond its mere rarity, and its worth as an important collection of Voyages.

Albrecht Dürer.

17693 DÜRER'S WORKS: the Life of the Virgin, the Great Passion, and the Apocalypse. Epitome in divae parthenices Mariae historiam ab Alberto Durero Norico per figuras digestam cum versibus annexis Chelidonii, 20 large engravings, Impressum Nurnberge per Albertum Durer pictorem, 1511—Passio Domini nostri Jesu . . . cum figuris Alberti Dureri, 12 large engravings, ib. id. 1511—Apocalipsis cū figuris, 16 large engravings, ib. id. 1511—3 vols. in 1, large folio, 48 beautiful woodcuts, all in uniformly fine condition, beautiful copies, bound in calf, £75. Nurnb. 1511

This volume is additionally interesting from having formerly been an artist's copy. He was a Venetian, as appears from his language, and by name Giovanni; and he possessed the book in April 1514, as appears from a memorandum of the birth of two daughters. It runs thus:—"Carum el nome de lonipotente idio et de la glorioxa verzene maria e de tuti isantti in bona ventura del 1514 adi primo April a hor 2 di zorno nasete vilia e paula fiole de mi zuane depentor."

Johann Weissenburger, Priest.

Nurmb. per Jo. W. Presbrm. s. a. (cir. 1510)

The priest whose name is subscribed as printer of this little volume, used an elegant type in strange contrast to the rude woodcuts which recall the early block-book illustrations. Perhaps he was in the possession of some old engraved wood-blocks, and utilised them to illustrate a new book.

Friedrich Peypus.

17695 GREGORII NAZANZENI Orationes Bilibaldo Pirckeymhero interprete, Nornbergæ, Peypus, 1521—PIRCKEYMHERI Apologia seu Podagræ laus, ib. id. 1522—and other works by the learned Nuremberger, in 1 vol. sm. 4to. £2. 1515-22

The "Praise of Gout" by Pirckheimer is a playful and humorous production.

This is a very fine edition of the Lawbook which had already been printed by Koburger and Hölzel (see above). It omits the special form of oath (partly in transliterated Hebrew) which had been usually administered to the Jews.

17698 CORTESII (Ferdinandi) PRÆCLARA DE NOVA MARIS OCEANI HYSPANIA NARRATIO, per P. Savorgnanum ex Hyspano idiomate in Latium conversa; accedit Peter Martyr de Rebus et Insulis noviter repertis, sm. folio, Editio Princeps, woodcuts, without the plan of Temistitlan which Harrisse mentions having seen, but which was unknown to Brunet, fine copy in red morocco extra, gilt edges, by F. Bedford, £5.

Norimbergæ, Peypus, 1524

One of the few copies containing the woodcut portrait of Clement VII, which was not in the Heber copy. See Grenville Catalogue, vol. i, p. 167.

The plan which is missing in that work, according to Harrisse, will be found in some Italian works, and a French one of Du Pinet, printed in the sixteenth century.

Brunet says this work was executed with the same characters as the Stern des Meschiah, printed at Esslingen, by Conrad Fyner.

Nicholas von Wyle describes himself as a professional translator in the curious preface, which shews himself and his wife Christina as citizens of Nürnberg. The preface is dated from Stuttgart, 1478. The stories contained in this volume are all of Love-Adventures, and are translated from Poggio, Æneas Sylvius, and others.

A Helya Helye, alias de Louffen canonico ecclesie Ville Beronensis in pago Ergowie site, 1472

VERY RARE, like all the products of this press, only eight of which are known. The monastery of Berona or Beromünster was the scene of typography for but a few short years (1470-74), and on the death of the Canon Helias Heliæ, some of his workmen are believed to have gone to Paris, and become the first printers of that city.

s. l. et a. (Herbipoli, typis G. Reyseri, cir. 1475)

The first book printed at Würzburg. Panzer describes it in the Annales, Vol. I, as printed at Eichstädt, but corrects his error in Vol. IV. p. 334. He refers the production of the Psalter to about the year 1495, but this is assuredly incorrect, as is sufficiently demonstrated by Zapf (Bibliogr. Nachrichten v. e. a. lat. Psalt. pp. 11—18) who considers it one of the rarest books of the 15th century, and printed in 1478 or 1479. A more exact definition of its age is however to be had from 17706 BREVIARIUM EYSTETENSE, cum Calendario, stout sm. 4to. printed in red and black, on VELLUM, French red morocco, gilt edges, EXTREMELY RARE, £72.

s. l. et a. sed Eustadii, typis Michaelis Reyser, circa 1478

One of the earliest books printed at Eichstädt. The late proprietor has written on fly-leaf, "Eichstädt, typ. Michael Reyser, 1469" (?). Van Pract mentions only a later edition of 1488, as being in the Vatican Library. This was one of the treasures carried off by the French during their occupation of Rome, and placed in the Imperial Library in Paris, but was restored to the Vatican in 1815. Brunet describes a copy of the present edition as containing 384 leaves, and printed on vellum, at the Bibl. Impériale, but it is evidently imperfect, as the above copy comprises 392 leaves, of which the first is nearly blank, having but two lines, the second is quite blank, and three others in the body of the book also blank. It is an extraordinary circumstance to find these five leaves in the volume; and shows that the greatest possible care must have been taken of it ever since it was issued from the press. The book is indeed only the Pars Hiemalis of the Breviary, but it is not described so, and from the calendar, and the number of leaves mentioned in the copy at the Bibl. Impériale, it is probable that Reyser did not print any more.

17746 CRANACH (Lucas) Engraved Works, folio, a magnificent series of 68 plates collected from the various books illustrated by Cranach, as also his single engravings, chiefly portraits, and many of which are Proof Impressions issued before the text; some of them copper-plate engravings, but mostly woodcuts, hf. bd. vellum, £72. Wittemberg, 1506-48

The copper-engravings consist of a Portrait of Luther and his Wife, exquisitely etched as medallions within a description in the most minute characters, which serves as a frame; another head of Luther, very large and characteristic, with the inscription—

Lucæ opus effigies hæc est moritura Lutheri
Æthernam mentis exprimit ipse suæ
M.D. XXI.

—in addition to which a beautiful "Flight into Egypt," and another plate containing two portraits, one of which seems to represent the Elector Johan Friedrich. The woodcuts consist of figures of Saints and Martyrs, the Life and Passion of Christ, the Life of the Virgin, some symbolical designs, and a fine large engraving of Venus and Cupid. There are also nine woodcut portraits, including the Luther and five different ones of Melancthon. At the end of Cranach's engravings, there is another series not alluded to in the above description, of 25 very fine woodcuts of scriptural subjects, followed by the three Fates and Silenus. The artist's initials are H. G. B., [Hans Baldung Grün] and the dates are 1513-19.

Very rare, and apparently quite unknown to bibliographers. It is an opuscule of 48 pp. with woodcuts on the title-page, containing a collection of orations made before and after the election of Charles V. as Emperor. Any book printed in Frankfurt before the year 1531, in which the first regular press was established in the city by Christian Egenolf, is a great curiosity, and highly prized by collectors.

One of the pieces in the above volume is a very rare "Copia Originalis littere Regis Angliæ ad Leonem X de Pace per eum et Francorum Regem inita." The letter is dated from Gremerici (i.e. Greenwich); the tract was probably printed at Rome.

17762 CATHOLICON. Incipit summa que vocatur catholicon edita a fratre iohanne de ianua ordis fratr' p dicator,' large folio, without the second and third leaves of text, but otherwise perfect, a tall and superb copy, in red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bozérian, lettered on the back "Catholicon Joannis de Janua, 1460," £21. sine nota, circ. 1470

This is the same edition as is mentioned by Brunet, III. col. 502, and attributed by him to about the year 1470-75. He considers from the peculiar shape of the small capital R, that Mentelin was not the printer, but other bibliographers have maintained a contrary opinion. Panzer (I, p. 79, no. 628) describes an edition apparently the same as the above, but that it had the words "operis totius conclusio" on the last line, which are not in the present copy, which only has the words "Conclusio libri" at the top of the final column. Yet the letter-press of Panzer's edition ended on the 23rd line of the second column of the last page, just as in the present one, and as in that described by Brunet—a concordance of arrangement which does not exist between any other of the undated editions. The book consisted no doubt originally of 372 leaves, the first and last being blank, but the removal of these in binding would make it 370. The pages are double-columned and the number of lines is 67 on every page except the last, which in the present copy is the reverse of fol. 368 (properly 370, but for the defect noted above), which has 65 lines in the first column, and 23 in the second. The paper-mark is in some leaves a nine-petalled rose, and in others the bull's head of which there are two varieties, one resembling that of No. 100 in Weigel's collection, a woodcut attributed by him to about 1450, and the other like that of his 73, shown to belong to the years 1450-60.

17765 EYCHMAN DE CALWE (Jodoci) Vocabularium Latino-Germanicum, sm. 4to. fine copy in russia, £3. s. l. a.? Cologne or Strasburg, about 1485

Eychmann was a preacher and teacher at Heidelberg. It would appear that the work is derived from his lessons, not directly composed by him. The compiler claims a high superiority for it beyond all preceding Vocabularies because of its fulness in synonymes and explanation of idioms.

17766 WECZDORFF DE TRIPTIS (Jodocus) ARS MEMORANDI, nova secretissima continens precepta, paucissimis bonarum artium militibus visa, sm. 4to. a curious work of 8 pages, with large woodcut title, several peculiar woodcut characters and symbols, morocco extra, gilt edges, uncut, £4. 10*s* s. l. et an. (ca. 1490)

17767 TRACTATUS DE RITU, MORIBUS, Nequitia, et multiplicatione TURCORUM, small 4to. 38 leaves, 37 lines per page, a little wormed, uncut, RARE, £2. 2*s* s. n. (cir. 1490)

Attributed by Panzer (II, p. 239) to the press of Conrad Zeninger in Nürnberg, but the copy he described was imperfect; and wanted the four supplementary leaves which in the present copy follow the word "finis" and constitute signature G. Two pages of this supplement comprise "duo sermones" in the Turkish language (Gothic characters) and a translation in Latin.

17770 KOCHENMEISTEREY, sm. 4to. very fine copy in red MOROCCO extra, gilt tops, UNCUT, by BEDFORD, £25. Sine nota (cir. 1508)

This volume is probably UNIQUE. I can find no trace of any other copy than the present which formerly belonged to Bilibald Pirckheimer of Nürnberg. It is a very curious work in five parts, and commences thus: "Vil menschen synd sunderlich und nit unbillichen geneygt zu naturlicher und lustiger speyss."—It is adapted according to the preface, for the entertainment of great lords, worldly and spiritual, and also for the use of common people, by the number of its curious receipts concerning food of all kinds. The work is not, as might be supposed, a translation of the Latin treatise attributed to Apicius, but a genuine and valuable "Livre de Cuisine" by a German cook. It is the FIRST GERMAN COOKERY-BOOK IN EXISTENCE. He gives curious particulars concerning the habits of different nations, within and bordering on the Empire.

17771 DES HELLISCHEN KUNIGS mandat und Send brief, sm. 4to. 4 leaves, two wormholes, 20*s* 1508

Lucifer's Mandate and Letter to his Lieges—Pope, Cardinals, Roman Emperors, Kings, Electors, etc. Considering that this curious and audacious tract preceded by several years Luther's first steps in opposition to the Church, its rarity and extraordinary character may be conceived.

17772 EINREYTEN des Konigs von Franckreich in Jenua, 1507—Verzaychnusse des Heeres so der Kunge von Franckreych wider die Venediger gehabt hat; auch die ordnunge der schlachte zu Caravatz, 1509—2 parts, sm. 4to. wormed, 30*s* cir. 1509

VERY RARE. The most valuable portion of this curious opuscule is the Rothwelsch (Slang) Vocabulary, which is contained in double columns in the last five pages.

These are the decrees of the town council of Nürnberg in 1510, and are very curious by reason of the description of the various coins in use throughout Germany.

17775 EMANUEL. Epistola potentissimi ac invictissimi Emanuelis regis Portugalie et Algarbiorum &c. de Victoriis habitis in India & Malacha ad S. Christo patrem et dnm. nostrum Leonem X, MDXIII, smallest 4to. four leaves, red morocco, by Bedford, £4. 4*s*
s. n.—Letter dated Olisipone, viii idus Junias, 1513

From the type, this very rare and hitherto undescribed edition seems to have issued from a Basel or Leipzig press—perhaps however from that of Augsburg. It ends on the eighteenth line of the fourth leaf, obverse.

17779 MISSALE secundum Breviarium chori ecclesie FRISINGEN, sm. folio, illuminated initials, two large woodcuts, one at the beginning, the other in the Canon, which latter is printed on Vellum, the last leaf of the Calendar wanting, in the original boards, calf back, £4. 15*s*

Erhardus Ratdolt de Augusta, 1492

This is the second edition of a Missal seldom seen. The first had been printed by Sensenschmidt at Nürnberg five years earlier. There is a curious preface by the Bishop of Freisingen on the subject of the two editions. Many critics have considered that the Sensenschmidt missal was printed by him in Freisingen; but that is very unlikely. The same might be supposed of Ratdolt's edition, which likewise does not mention the place of impression. I find no mention of the above volume in any accessible bibliography.

An allegory on the Foolish Virgins, and the abuse of the Five Senses, in intermingled prose and verse. The chapter on Touch is a singular one. Badius composed this work as a companion-piece to his own rifaccimento of Sebastian Brandt's Ship of Fools.

17787 RODORICI EPISCOPI ZAMORENSIS SPECULUM VITÆ HUMANE, small folio, Editio Princeps, calf, £21.

Romæ, C. Sueynheym et A. Pannarts in domo Petri de Maximo, 1468

EXTREMELY RARE. This is not only the first edition of the Speculum Vitæ Humanæ, but is also one of the earliest books printed in Rome. In fact the first book ever printed in the Eternal City was issued only one year before (1467) by the same printers from the same house, i.e. the palace of Prince Massimo, who claimed to be lineally descended from Fabius Cunctator, but whose greater title to honour was his own protection of the two German typographers, Conrad Sweynheym and Arnold Pannartz, the first printers of Italy. There is a peculiarity in the type of the above volume, in which only the capital S is curved in shape, that letter, wherever non-capital, being of the long form (ſ).

The great popularity and merit of this book, by the Bishop of Zamora, (whose complete name was Rodrigues Sanchez of Arevalo, and who died in 1470), may be imagined from the fact, that about forty different editions were printed before the close of the fifteenth century. It is not a merely pious effusion as might be supposed, but a set of interesting and well-balanced treatises on the defects and advantages of every condition in life. As an instance, he commences his chapter on the theatrical life, by saying judiciously, that "hæc vero vitæ formula toleranda est si ludis homines ad eum finem utuntur quibus instituti sunt," (sic. I presume we ought to read quo for quibus.)

Editio Princeps of the Roman Pontificale, and therefore a volume of VERY GREAT IMPORTANCE, in nowise secondary to the best edition, which is that of 1596. It was edited by Piccolomini for Innocent VII. in consequence of the discrepancies existing in various copies of the MS. Pontifical used before that time; and is one of the finest books of its kind. The typography and the paper are both worthy of the greatest admiration, and reflect infinite credit upon the priest-printer who produced the volume.

Sine nota, (Romæ, Stephanus Planck, 1493)

There are only three or four other copies known of this incalculably valuable tract, THE FIRST PRINTED WORK IN EXISTENCE RELATING TO AMERICA. The bibliographers, as has been remarked, are not in agreement with respect to the exact priority of the above edition, but it is sufficient to say that Stephen Planck is admitted by all to have been the first printer of the Letter of Columbus, and that the edition here described is one of the two which proceeded from his press.

17793 TURRECREMATA (Joannis de) Meditationes posite et depicte de ejus mandato in Ecclesie ambitu Sancte Marie de Minervâ Rome, sm. 4to. many woodcuts, blue morocco extra, gilt edges, bound by Faulkener, £15. 15*s* Romæ, per Steph. Planck, 1498

A set of devotional meditations upon the incidents of the Saviour's life as represented in the pictures which Torquemada had ordered to be painted in the church of the Minerva at Rome. The woodcuts are curious: it is to be supposed they correspond to the paintings.

Petrus de Turre.

17794 PTOLEMÆI Geographia, Latine, large folio, with the 27 celebrated Maps, vellum, VERY RARE, £10. Romæ, per Pet. de Turre, 1490

"This edition is rendered remarkable by having the same maps which originally appeared in the celebrated edition, Rome, 1478, and which are considered to be the earliest specimens of engraving maps upon copper. The present copy has the entire number, viz. twenty-seven."

Besicken and Mazocchi.

17795 SASSO. Strambotti del clarissimo professore de le bone arte Mīse Sasso Modonese, sm. 4to. Editio Princeps, curious woodcut on title, fine copy, red morocco, by Bedford, uncut, £7. 7*s*

The earliest edition mentioned by Brunet of these love-songs by Pamphilo Sasso is dated Milan, 1506.

This edition is rare and little known. It was never seen by Brunet, but he gives a collation communicated to him by an amateur.

A semi-burlesque poem in ottava rima to celebrate the Siege and capture of Tournay by the English in 1513. The hard English names do curious duty in the smooth Italian verse,—as for instance:—

"Veniva appresso il franco Fitzvuatro,"—and

Il Conte de Northubria e Vuylschire,
Ciascun fa facti e mostra grande ardire.

Zacharias Kalliergos.

17809 ΠΙΝΔΑΡΟΥ Ολύμπια, Νέμεα, Πύθια, Ἴσθμια; μετὰ ἐξηγήσεως παλαιᾶς καὶ σχολίων ὁμοίων, sm. 4to. a little wormed, calf, 24*s* Romæ, per Zachariam Calergi, 1515

This is a rare and celebrated edition, noted for the critical value of its text. It is the second publication of Pindar, and the first with commentary; and is besides much rarer than the Editio Princeps printed by Aldus in 1513.

Lodovico Vicentino and Lautitio Perugino.

17810 TRISSINO, la Sophonisba, Editio Princeps, sm. 4to. fine large copy, with the autograph of "Henry Howard," calf neat, RARE, 28*s* Roma, 1524

This volume bears date "del mese di Luglio," which as noticed by Brunet, indicates that it is the first edition. The text of the book is in the peculiar Italic type, mingled with the Greek characters ε and ω, by which all the works of Trissino are distinguished.

Antonius Bladus.

17811 HOMERI OPERA, GRÆCE, cum commentario Gr. EUSTATHII (edidit N. MAJORANUS, cum Indice M. DEVARII), Editio Princeps, 4 vols. folio, with the rare blank leaves at end, beautiful and very large copy in ancient French red MOROCCO, from the Yemeniz library, size 12 $\frac{15}{16}$ inches by 8$\frac{5}{8}$, £16. 16*s* Romæ, A. Bladus, 1542-50

Very rare. Sold at the Duke of Grafton's sale, £53.; Dr. Heath's, £68. 5*s*; Heber, £25. 10*s*.

The first edition is among the most splendid monuments in the world of Greek erudition and of Greek Printing. M. Renouard well observes in the opening of his description of it—"Trésor d'érudition grecque, espèce de Sanctuaire dans lequel n'ont accès que ceux qui déjà ont fait progrès dans l'étude des anciens Classiques."

This seems to be the only copy known. It has the MS. Signature of Cardinal Orsini, protector of the Order, attested by the Notary of the Camera Apostolica.

Valerius and Aloisius Doridus.

17813 MARLIANI Urbis Romæ Topographia ad Franciscum Regem Gallorum ejusdem urbis liberatorem invictum, sm. folio, several woodcuts, large and small, including the first pictorial reproductions of the Wolf suckling the infants Romulus and Remus, the Hercules Invictus, and the Laocoon, wormed, calf neat, RARE, £2. 10*s* Romæ, 1544

(Venet. Vindelin de Spira), 1470

Of this excessively rare edition no copy seems to have occurred in any public auction since the Roxburghe sale.

17819 QUINTI CURTII Rufi Historiæ Alexandri Magni Regis Macedonum, sm. folio, slightly wormed at beginning and end, otherwise a fine copy, purple morocco, rough leaves, £12.

Vindelinus Spirensis (Venet. circ. 1470)

This very rare edition disputes with another undated one, printed at Rome by Lauer, the honor of being the Editio Princeps of Quintus Curtius.

17820 PLUTARCHI Apophthegmata Laconica (in Latinum traducta à Philelpho) sm. folio, Editio Princeps, very slightly wormed at end, otherwise fine large copy in old russia, 25*s* Vindelinus, 1471

Nicolaus Jenson.

17825 CICERONIS EPISTOLÆ AD ATTICUM, folio, very fine tall copy of this rare edition, MOROCCO extra, borders of gold on sides, gilt edges, by Bozerian, £9. 9*s* Venetiis, apud N. Jenson, 1470

This book alone would be sufficient to give Jenson a prominent position among the greatest masters of typography. The characters in which it is printed are as nearly as possible like the beautiful handwriting adopted in ornamental Tuscan MSS. at that time ; so that the eye rests with pleasure on its pages. And yet it must have been one of the earliest productions of his press.

17826 VALLENSIS (Laurentii) Elegantiarum compendiosa collectio, folio, fine copy in old russia, £4. Venetiis, N. Jenson, 1471

A book of very great rarity, which fetched "£7. 10*s*, Pinelli; 200 fr. Brienne-Laire; 150 fr. MacCarthy; £11. Hibbert."—(Brunet.) It is certainly the Editio Princeps of portion of the volume; as for the rest of it, the priority cannot be with certainty attributed to Jenson's edition or to the one printed at Rome in the same year.

17827 BAL(DI DE UBALDIS) DE PERUSIO super primo (usque ad nonum) Codicis, et primò de novo Codice componendo, etc. 4 vols. large folio, a few leaves wormed, otherwise a fine copy, with the Pirckheimer book-plate, RARE, 36*s* Venetiis, J. de Colonia, N. Jenson, etc. 1481

Adam of Ammergau.

17836 CICERONIS ORATIONES, folio, fine large copy, russia, rebacked, £12. (Venetiis) Adam de Ambergau, 1472

This edition is celebrated as having been formerly attributed to an unknown early press at Ammergau. Van Praet and Burnet both seem to consider that it was printed in Germany, but it is difficult for any one who inspects the volume to refer it elsewhere than to Venice.

Leonhard Aurl.

17837 EUSEBIUS de Evangelica Preparatione, traductus, cum prefatione Georgii Trapezuntii, sm. folio, calf, rare, £5. Venet. Leonh. Aurl. 1473

This work is in the same types as the Cicero of Adam of Ammergau. The last two lines of a quatrain at the end say in reference to the printer:

Quid magis artificem peteret Dux, Christus, et Auctor!
Tres facit æternos ingeniosa manus.

Andrea of Cattaro.

17838 CICERONIS ad Quintum fratrem libri de Oratore, sm. folio, very large copy in strong old russia gilt, with the very rare blank leaves at beginning and end, 20*s* Venetiis Mag. Andreas Catharensis, 1478

17839 HIERONYMO (S.)] Incominciano le VITE DE SANCTI PADRI per diversi eloquentissimi doctori vulgarizate, smallest folio, Editio Princeps in double columns, first and last leaves worn and mended, and without the table which should occupy the last seven leaves, bds. 7*s* 6*d* Venetiis, 1475

17840 JUSTINI Historici clarissimi in Trogi Pompeii historias exordium (et libri XLIV) sm. folio (a minute wormhole) old calf, 20*s* Veneciis, Phil. Condam Petri, 1479

17841 DANTE ALIGHIERI COMEDIA, small folio, a very rare edition, vellum, £15. Venetiis, arte Magistri Philippi, 1478

To judge from Brunet's description, there should be varying copies of this edition. The above volume commences with the words "Dantis Aligerii poetæ Florentini Inferni capitulum primum incipit." Now, Brunet quotes a different heading, in Italian, in which the poet is styled venerable, and his work commedia. Perhaps the bibliographer has never seen a copy of the work. The printer may be identical with the Philippus who calls himself "Condam Petri," but this is questionable.

Erhard Ratdolt.

17842 BAPTISTÆ DE SANCTO BLASIO solennis et utilis Tractatus de Actionibus et natura earum, large folio, printed upon VELLUM, rough calf, £10. Venet. Erhardus Ratdolt, 1481

Only one other copy is known printed on vellum. It is in the Munich library. At the end of the volume is bound up a MS. Decree, dated 1479, by Albrecht, Pfaltzgrave of the Rhein, giving judgment in a civil action.

17858 UBERTINI DE CASALI, Liber qui intitulatur Arbor Vitæ Crucifixæ Jesu, folio, marginal MS. notes, vellum, 18*s* Venetiis, 1500

A singular visionary work, full of religious rapture and ecstacy, tracing in a mystic way to Jesus himself the foundation of the Franciscan order. It is said to have suggested the famous Liber Conformitatum of Bartholommeo Albizzi, in which the lives of S. Francis and of Christ are paralleled, and which was of course considered to be blasphemous.

of PRINTING, "commentum id Theutonicum," by which one man could in a single day reproduce as much literary matter as would give two years' work to the swiftest scribe. "Pulcherrimi inventi autor Joannes Guttenbergius equestri vir dignitate : Maguntiæque res primum tentata est." Sabellico was a distinguished student and frequenter of literary circles at the time when the Mazarine Bible was printed. He died at seventy years of age, of the malady which Fracastorius has celebrated in Latin verse. VERY RARE. Mr. Harrisse states that this edition ought to contain a plan of Mexico, but the fact is questionable. There was no such plan in Abbé Fischer's copy; none is mentioned by Brunet; and copies of the book are so seldom seen that it is difficult to arrive at the exact truth. It is a translation of the Second Letter.

17975 TESTAMENTO NUEVO nueva y fielmente traduzido (por Juan Perez) en Romance Castellano, 12mo. old calf, £3. 3*s*
Venecia, Juan Philadelpho, 1556

This Testament is very rare. There is a curious woodcut on the title: the letter Y stands for a symbol of man's life. At the top of its right arm there is a crown, while from the top of its left (the broad one) a human figure has toppled off. The device is the scriptural words "Estrecho el camino de la vida, y es ancho el de la perdicion," the phrase being divided and printed so as to stand each at its proper side.

17982 [BARTOLOMMEO ZAMBERTO, ISOLARIO, O CARTE DEL MARE EGEO], sm. 4to. Gothic letter, 49 woodcut charts, coloured, with metrical text, margins of first few leaves mended, otherwise a fine copy in old russia, VERY RARE, £12. 12*s* s. l. et a. (Venezia, cir. 1480)

This is one of the rarest volumes of early Italian Poetry. The sonnets are illustrated by forty-nine engraved charts of the different Islands in the Ægean Sea, which seem to have been prepared for the use of mariners. The data has been fixed by Mr. Panizzi who discovered from the text that the work was dedicated to Giovanni Mosenico, or Mocenigo, who was Doge of Venice from 1478 to 1485, during which period the volume must have been printed.

17983 MANDEVILLE. Liber pñs cui auctor fert. iohānes de mādeville, sm. 4to. red morocco extra, gilt edges, £9. 9*s* s. l. et a. (circ. 1490)

COLLATION: Table, 3 leaves, the above title appearing on the reverse of the third; and 58 leaves of text. The signatures are a to h in eights, except a which has seven leaves and g which has six.

The subscription shews clearly this edition was printed at Venice. It declares " . . . opus . . . ubi completum sit ipsa elementa seu . . . caracteres litterarum . . . Venetica monstrant." The Venetian characters could not be pointed to as shewing where the book was printed, if it had been executed by Dietrich Martin at Alost, while the resemblance of the types used by the latter, as noticed by Panzer, may be accounted for by his having imported them from Venice.

17986 PLATONIS Opera, Latine, interprete MARSILIO FICINO, 2 vols. in 1, thick folio, Editio Princeps of a famous version and also the first publication of Plato in any language, the earliest issue before the leaves of errata were printed and also before the impression of the preliminary matter which is added at the end in MS. probably in the handwriting of Marsilius Ficinus himself, as the volume also contains additions and notes which evince the special care either of an editor or the translator, old rough calf, rough edges, £10.

Florentie, Lazarus Venetus, n. d. (1483-84)

It is believed that the impression of this volume was begun in the convent of San Giacomo of Ripoli at Florence, and completed by the typographer whose name is affixed. The book is very rare, and not only rare, but also important for its text. According to Mr. Mason of University College, (Smith's Greek and Roman Biography,) "the translation is so extremely close that it has almost the authority of a Greek MS. and is of great service in ascertaining varieties of reading." This remark however only applies to the first edition of the translation: those of later date were altered.

17987 CELSUS DE MEDICINA, folio, Editio Princeps, FINE COPY, blue morocco, gilt edges, £14. 14*s* Florentiæ a Nicolao impressus, 1478

Very rare. Sir Mark Sykes's copy sold for £14 and the La Valliere for 233 francs.

Nicholas of Breslau, son of Lawrence, was the first publisher of books with copper plate engravings. His initial essay had been printed one year before the Celsus.

It must have been published about the year 1480, as the Duke of Urbino, to whom it is dedicated, died in 1482. Perfect copies are of rare occurrence. This and the Ptolemy of Rome are the first books ever printed with copper maps.

Van Pract and Brunet agree in referring this book to a Florentine press. Dr. Dibdin attributes it to the early Naples press.—(When in doubt, a safe plan is to find out Dibdin's opinion and take the contrary view.)

Laire attributes this excessively rare edition to the press of Günther Zainer; but Panzer thinks it was produced in Italy. It was perhaps printed in Bologna, by Azzoguidi or some other, about the time of the establishment of the press in that city. The paper-mark is the bull's head with a star or rose on the spike, and also the Cross-keys. On account of the rarity of this collection of S. 18053 LIBER STATUTORUM inclitæ civitatis Mediolani, folio, vellum, printed with rubricated headings, and notes in MS. £4. 4*s*

This work, curious and interesting in an antiquarian point of view, and consisting of 236 folios of text, is nowhere cited and is undoubtedly very scarce.

Sine nota.

18054 SOLINUS DE MIRABILIBUS MUNDI, ed. Bonino Mombritio, sm. 4to. vellum, £3. 3*s* (? 1473)

FIRST ISSUE, and EXCESSIVELY RARE, of Mombrizio's edition of Solinus. This is shown by the circumstance that there are signatures to the sheets in this volume, and that no other copy is known with them; and besides that, there are numerous transpositions and errors in the printing of the text, the substance of three pages being in one place omitted (without any loss of the folios that compose the sheets), so that there are only 120 instead of 122 leaves, as in the regular edition of the book described by Audiffredi, Dibdin and Brunet. These writers attribute the production of the volume to Milan, but it seems more likely that it was printed in Ferrrara. The Biogr. Univ. refers it to the latter place.

COLLATION: Table, etc. a sheet of 6 leaves; text, sheets 1 and 2, ten leaves each, unsigned; sheets C and K, 8 leaves each; L, four leaves, and O ten leaves, forming together one sheet of 14 leaves; M and N, 8 leaves each.

This rare edition is attributed by Brunet as above; but it seems to be more likely a little earlier, perhaps 1488. It is also not improbable that the work was printed at Pavia.

This work is a translation in Latin by Archangelus Madrignanus, a Milanese monk from the Cistercian Abbey at Clairvaux, of the famous first edition (Vicenza, 1507) of the "Paesi novamente retrovati, et Novo Mondo da Alberico Vesputio Florentino intitulato," which is looked upon as the most important contribution to the early history of American discovery, after the letters of Columbus. EXCESSIVELY RARE, not cited by any Bibliographer. The present copy is in a state of perfect preservation. On the first guard leaf is a long bibliographical note by Bart. Gamba. The text appears to be an adaptation of some similar work which the anonymous translator had seen in Spain, but the woodcuts are original, and so remarkable for artistic merit that they deserve to be traced to their proper author.

Mediol. Alex. Minutianus, 1503

This first edition is highly prized as containing a certain amount of matter which was omitted in all later impressions of the work. The present copy does not of course comprise the new title and index which were printed many years later in one sheet of six leaves, and added to such copies as remained in the publisher's hands.

This rare work, called Oviliæ because the author was Lord of Ovilio, may be looked upon as an early collection of Proverbs, which are separately printed at the end of the twenty-six books, to the number of several thousands—rather than as a merely theological refutation of Luther.

Neapoli, Arnaldus de Bruxella, 1475

EXCESSIVELY RARE. I can only find a mention of three copies,—Heber's, Borluut's, and the Cassano. The Borluut copy, which fetched 140 fr., was described as consisting of 49 leaves, instead of the 48 which were mentioned by Dibdin. The truth seems to be that the book ought to contain 50 (with the blank one) and that all save the Borluut copy were defective (that copy itself having lost the blank leaf.) The deficiency above is in the second sheet from which the third and sixth leaves are missing.

Arnold of Brussels was the second typographer of Naples.

VERY RARE. It is an epic poem on the deeds of Gonsalvo de Cordova, and opens thus :

Militis hispani canimus bis marte receptam
Parthenopen, magnique ducis res ordine gestas
Et quo sæva modo regnis expulsa latinis
Gallorum rabies.

(Neapoli) in ædibus Andreæ Matthæi Aquivivi Hadrianorum Interamnatumque Ducis per Antonium Fretiam Corinaldinum, 1526

Only six copies are known in condition like the present ; one in the Paris Imperial Library, a second in the British Museum, an imperfect copy which was in the MacCarthy collection, the above, and finally two which were sold at Libri's sales, the first fetching, in 1847, 1000 francs, the other, in 1859, at Sotheby's, £28.

It is easy to imagine how the students of mythological lore will in future far-off days invent ingenious commentaries on the first four lines of Sannazaro:—

Virginei partus magnoque æquæva parenti
Progenies, superas cœli quæ missa per auras
Antiquam generis labem mortalibus ægris
Abluit, obstructique viam patefacit Olympi
Sit mihi cœlicola labor. . . . .

Ferrarie, per Petrum de Arenseo et Johannem de Tornaco litteris eneis impicta, 1475

So RARE is this volume that Brunet and Panzer are both erroneous in their description of it. The colophon is not in the column to which Panzer refers it, and the name of the first printer is not de Aranceyo as the two bibliographers have it, nor is the second de Torcano as Brunet writes it. André de Beaufort printed another edition of the work in the same year, with the same preface and emendations and even the same denomination of the process of printing in the colophon, but from the fact that his edition consists of a less number of leaves, and that the above might be termed an "édition de luxe," the latter may be considered the genuine issue of the book.

MCCCCLxxII. Magister Georgius & Magister Paulus Teutonici hoc opus Mantuae impresserunt adjuvante Columbino Veronense (1472)

EXCESSIVELY RARE. No books exist with the imprint of Mantua of an earlier date than this—an undeniable fact, although the title of Editio Princeps of Dante may be claimed with equal right for the editions printed in the same year at Jesi and Foligno. It is however the rarest of the three, although Brunet calls it "presque aussi rare" as that of Jesi,—the latter being again much rarer than the edition of Foligno. The fact however is as I have stated; and in my bibliographical Index, while I have six entries of copies of the Foligno book that have occurred for sale during the last fifty years, and two of the Jesi edition, there is not a single instance of that of Mantua. (All three editions, with that of Naples, 1477, have been reprinted by Lord Vernon in parallel pages.) It is not unfair to claim for the above volume the distinction of being probably the first book printed at Mantua and the first edition of the great Florentine poet.

AN EXCESSIVELY RARE AND VALUABLE EDITION, which in the opinion of Haym equals the celebrated Giunta of 1527 in merit. No copy has occurred in the London market for years; I have not one reference to any copy. Neither Gamba nor Poggiali was able to cite it.

There is considerable difference between this edition and the undated one of Venice (see ante). The language in this of Brescia is corrected and amplified, and the Venetian dialect eliminated.

"Edition rare," according to Brunet, who, so far, is right; but who is wrong in the particulars of the collation. The book is of 22 not 24 leaves (sign. a 8 leaves, b 6, c 8), and the first leaf is not quite blank since it bears the title.

This may be a Venice edition but is placed here under Padua because of Pirckhaimer's note—"Padue . . . . 1491, Calfurnio Brixiensi legente, Bilibaldo Pirckhaymer operam dante." The latter might have bought the book from a Padovan publisher for use with the lectures of Calphurnius. It is mentioned by Panzer, IV, p. 112.

Giacomo Fabriano.

18121 ZUCOLLO DA COLOGNA, la Pazzia del Ballo, sm. 4to. olive morocco extra, by Bedford, £8. 8*s* Padova, Fabriano, 1549
A very curious book, containing a tremendous attack upon Dancing, which is described as an idiotic and beastly practice. The author also denounces Music as one of the causes of that madness which "makes men and women zigzag here and there out of the straightforward course, jerking and shaking with their arms and their whole persons, as we see those do who dance." He compares them to people bitten by the tarantula. An amorous dance called "del Capello" is described unctuously in detail, almost as if the indignation were feigned, and the liquorish old gentleman revelled in nasty suggestions.

Ramusio), folio, Editio Princeps, with 82 large and beautiful woodcuts, among which is the earliest known representation of a bombshell, all designed and executed by the painter Matteo Pasti, of Verona, the dedication to Pandolfo Malatesta written in blue and red capitals on the seventh leaf of the volume, red morocco, gilt edges, by De Rome, an extraordinarily fine copy, excessively rare, with MS. note by Sir S. Meyrick on fly-leaf.

In fine: Johannes ex VERONA oriundus; Nicolai cyrurgiæ medici filius: Artis impressorie magister: hunc de re militari librum elegantissimum: litteris et figuratis signis sua in patria primus impressit, £42. (1472)

THE FIRST BOOK PRINTED IN VERONA, and also ONE OF THE FIRST BOOKS PRINTED IN ITALY WITH WOODCUTS. It is really the first book with engravings of the fine Italian style; whatever exists of an earlier date being simply rude designs by the commonest mechanical hands.

Brunet describes a perfect copy as having 262 leaves, which is correct, if the three blank leaves be included, which are not found in La Valliere and Bibl. de l'Arsénal copies. The above copy has the two which precede the text, but not the one in the middle.—See Dibdin, Bibl. Spenc. Vol. IV.

This copy is wholly complete, with even all the blank leaves that were originally issued. In such a state the book is one of singular rarity. "La difficulté de rencontrer ce livre bien complet en fait et la rareté et la valeur."—Brunet. These tales are amongst the most popular literature of the sixteenth century. They are especially interesting to English collectors, because of the large use made of them by Shakespeare and other Elizabethan writers.

Vicenza, Tolomeo Janiculo, 1529

This volume contains not only the remarkable Greek letters (used to express the close o and e) which appear in all first editions of Trissino's letters, but also other specimens of Trissino's orthographical invention. For instance, " de lj' ocki santi" is not a bad one, although it looks queer.

EXCESSIVELY RARE. I can only trace the existence of two other copies: one in Lord Spencer's library, and an imperfect copy on vellum in the Bibl. Impériale. At Libri's sale in 1857, the eight leaves which contain the saint's life, alone fetched 51 fr. Dibdin's description of Lord Spencer's copy agrees with the above except that he gives four leaves for the table, which is a mistake for four pages. "Edition trés rare. . . . . Les caractères sont les mêmes que ceux d'un Horace sans date, et d'un opuscule de S. Basile, imprimé en 1471."—Brunet (Vi 1321.)

The work is professedly compiled from letters of St. Eusebius, the friend of Jerome, of SS. Augustin, Cyril, and others. These letters are followed by long relations of miracles.

18164 MARIENSUESZ SLESITA DE PASCUA (Bartholomei) Tractatulus . . . . Expositio in Ephemerides vel in Almanach sive Tacuinum, sm. 4to. 10 leaves, printed in a minute Gothic type, different from that of the Formularium, red mor. extra, by Bedford, £8. 8*s* s. n. (cir. 1490)

This curious work on Astrology and Astronomy, divided into nine chapters and three canons, seems to have been composed in the year 1466 for Ladislaus de Tschirnahoi de Boskountz (sic—Boskowitz?). These names and that of the author seem to point at Silesia or Moravia as the locality of composition. Perhaps the volume was printed at Prague. At the end of the book is a contemporary MS. treatise in Latin on the Astrolabe, and finally some MS. Tables of the Sun's Declinations written evidently by a Portuguese navigator in the sixteenth century.

18165 MAUNDEVILLE. ITINERARIUS domini Johānis de Mādeville militis, sm. 4to. old red morocco extra, gilt edges, £12. 12*s* s. l. et a. (circa 1480)

Fine copy of this rare edition of the Latin version. It consists of 71 leaves, with signatures a to i 7. Probably printed at some Italian press—most likely in Venice.

18166 (NOVELLA AMOROSA di Lionarda Bardi et Hippolyto Bondalmonti), sm. 4to. 12 leaves printed in a peculiar Roman type, in which the down-strokes are scarcely heavier than the up-strokes, the letters spaced and the lines wide apart, 25 lines in each full page, red morocco extra, by Bedford, £7. 7*s* s. n. (cir. 1471)

The first words are "(N)Ella magnifica et bel | lissima cita de firenza sonno doi | casate di antiqua nobilita," etc. This is a celebrated prose novel which at the beginning resembles the story of Romeo and Juliet, but terminates in a happier manner. It exists in verse as well as in prose.

There are two copies of the last piece in the above volume, between which there is no apparent difference except in the spelling of the motto at end. The work contains some hymns which will rank high as poetry; but many people must have objected to portions, such as, in the Hymn to the Virgin,—

Anthoine Verard.

18200 ART DE BIEN VIVRE ET DE BIEN MOURIR, 3 parts in 1 vol. small folio, numerous fine and curious woodcuts, old calf, VERY RARE, £16.

Paris (Verard), Mil cccc. xxxx. et xiii. (pro 1493)

Brunet describes the editions of 1492 and 1496 very carefully, but never saw the present one to which he refers, simply in the words "il existe une autre." Ths above copy consists of signatures a to cc 7, which ought to make 205 leaves, but ae d 4 and x 1 are wanting, beside two blank leaves (k 1 and x 8), the volume contains only 201 leaves. It seems almost certain, by comparison, that the copies of the other two editions from which Brunet compiled his collations were all imperfect; and it is unquestionable that the book is extremely rare, whether dated 1492, 1496, or 1453, (according to the Manuel, in which no typographical error is alluded to, 1493). The work is curious and interesting in a high degree and the woodcuts are remarkable. It is one of the most noteworthy products of the press of Antoine Vérard.

At the end: Cy finist le tiers volume denquerrant de Monstrelet des Croniques de France et dangleterre et de bourgongne et aultres pays circonvoisins qui suyvent celles de Froissart. There is a MS. memorandum on the flyleaf that the book was bought by Joachin Funckh, in Paris, in 1549.

"Un exemplaire conservé dans sa première reliure en veau à compartiments de diverses couleurs, 460 fr. Sauvageot; rel. en mar. rouge, 900 fr. Double, en 1863." —Brunet. The almanack is for twenty-one years, from 1508 to 1528, by which we may fix the date of this beautiful book—a fine specimen of the art of Simon Vostre, who is acknowledged to have been far superior to all others in the production of artistic "Livres d'Heures." It is this superiority which causes the demand for and consequent rarity of his books, by which their prices are so greatly heightened.

18205 HEURES a lusage de LANGRES, avec ses figures, 4to. remarkably fine woodcuts, many the full size of the page, very fine early impressions, brown morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £15.

Paris, Symon Vostre, 1512

One seldom sees the woodcuts so fresh and well preserved as in this handsome volume.

Editio Princeps, large folio, Gothic Letter, with magnificent initials and numerous other woodcuts, the preliminary leaves of Vol. I wanting, and the last leaf slightly defective, old French calf, with arms of Louis Alexandre de Bourbon, Comte de Toulouse, Duc de Damville, EXTREMELY RARE, £21.

Paris, Pierre Le Rouge, 1488

Heber's copy sold for £16. 10s. This curious medley of sacred and profane history commences with the Creation, and strangely enough has anticipated the Genevan Translation in the use of the word "Breeches," as the French interpreter says our first parents made themselves "brayes des feilles de arbre de figuier pour couvrir leur nature et leurs membres honteulx." It is full of woodcuts of the same character as are seen in romances of chivalry, battles, sieges, coronations, etc.

"Ce dialogue en vers est une critique des entreprises de l'Empereur Maximilien."

Brunet.

The author's name "Maximien" is revealed in an acrostic headed "De Bien en Mieulx, Lacteur," at the end of the book. An analysis of this very rare work is given in the Bibliotheque Françoise of Goujet, and Anatole de Montaiglon has reprinted it.

The "Complaincte de Venise" described by Brunet, and supposed to have been written by the author of the Arrest du Roy (above), is probably identical with the present piece. It is arranged in stanzas, with the constant refrain of—"Venise suis la desolée!"

18220 [LA VIGNE (A. de)] GRANT CREDO DE VENISE, 12mo. a satirical poem on four leaves, with a woodcut on the title and another at the end, red morocco, by Bedford, £3. 3*s* s. n. (cir. 1508)

Dedicated to "Monseigneur de Chalon" by the author, who states at the end that he is not of Italy but "a Chalon fait sa demourance." He states that he had previously written a "Patenostre des Genevoys," by which we are enabled to discover his name. This circumstance was unknown to Brunet.

18221 LA VIGNE. Les Ballades de Bruyt Commun sur les aliances des Roys, des Princes, & Provinces, avec le tremblement de Venyse, fait par M. A. This edition (104 leaves; sig. A to M and M bis, in eights) is singular in not having a Dance of Death. The present volume would exactly correspond with the edition described by Brunet (Heures Gothiques, No. 175) but for the following variations: the first year of the Calendar is, correctly, 1497 (not, as he says, incorrectly, 1487); Kerver's mark appears only on page 1, not as Brunet asserts, on the last page also, although his name appears in both places. Two other trifling discrepancies need not be noted.—Brunet mentions two copies, one on paper, which sold at Solar's sale for 475 francs, and the other on vellum, in M. Didot's library.

in smooth dark morocco, elaborately tooled in the Grolier style, with red morocco linings, and joints, gilt edges, by Riviere, £36.

Paris, T. Kerver, le dernier iour de Mars, 1511 (? 1506)

COLLATION: 100 leaves, consisting of signatures a to n iv. This edition is not mentioned by Brunet. The date 1511 appears to be a typographical error for 1506 (easily made from the similarity in form of the Gothic v and x), as the Calendar begins with the latter date (1506-30). Of the 18 large engravings four are identical with four in the 1504 edition; twelve contain the same subjects newly and more elaborately but similarly designed; and two are wholly different. One of these two, in the edition of 1504 above described, is David and Bathsheba, the other is a scene of Death slaying a kneeling man, with Job on his dunghill in the background. The substituted designs of the 1506 (1511) edition are a Patriarch baptizing a kneeling figure, and the Raising of Lazarus. This edition contains some French prayers and headings, none of which appear in the editions printed in Roman type.

This edition is not mentioned by Brunet. It corresponds in all the large subjects to the engravings of the 1506 edition, but in many of the smaller ones to that of 1504. Like the former, it has the Apocalyptic designs in the borders, as well as the Dance of Death.

18227 DECRETALS of BONIFACE VIII and CLEMENT V, with the two collections of EXTRAVAGANTES. The 18 principal engravings are the same as in the 1506 edition, and some of the smaller ones also (including the Dance of Death); but the type of this edition is much larger and bolder than in the preceding editions, and the borders are chosen from the largest designs of the earlier issues, so as to produce a finer and more striking effect in the appearance of the open page.

This edition is not mentioned by Brunet. It consists of 144 leaves, and is entirely different in its engravings from all the editions above mentioned. It contains a curious Prayer to the Virgin, which begins as follows, in a peculiar kind of rhyme:

O Royne qui fustes mise et assise
Lassus au trosne divin
Devant vous en ceste eglise sans faintise
Suis venu ce matin.

Paris, Guillaume Anabat pour Germain Hardouyn (1500)

This edition is quite different from another 8vo edition printed in the same year by Anabat for Gillet as well as Germain Hardouin. It consists of 144 leaves with signatures A to S in eights.

18232 HORE DIVE VIRGINIS MARIE secundum Usum Romanum [cum Calendario et Tabula Paschali (1510-30] 8vo. Paris, Egidius Hardouyn pro Germano Hardouyn, 1510

This fine and very rare edition, printed in Roman (not Gothic) characters, has the usual engraving of Dejanira's rape by the Centaur on the first page, but the other two large illustrations are of rare design, and give this volume a noteworthy place amongst the numerous Books of Hours published about the same time, in which a regular series of designs is constantly produced. It agrees with No. 235 of Brunet's list, which from his absence of special mention, he most likely never saw.

18233 HORÆ BEATÆ MARIÆ secundum Usum Romanum, 16mo. Gothic letter, printed on vellum with the engravings and capitals illuminated in gold and colours, olive morocco extra, gilt marbled edges, by Lortic, RARE, £5. Paris, Egidius Hardouyn (1514)

Paris, par Gillet Hardouyn (1515)

This copy sold for £39. in the Libri sale.

This is probably No. 245 of Brunet's list. It has 88 leaves (A to L in eights). The Dance of Death is in quite a different style from all the others. The illumination is done in opaque colours, and in such a way that it may almost be said the original engravings are replaced by contemporary drawings. The illustrations are different from those of the 1510 edition above, and that of 1500 (No. 18231).

The Marriage Service is, as usual, in the quaint old English of the fifteenth century. COLLATION: title and other preliminaries, 8 leaves; text, folios 1—86, 89—170, being signatures a to y, in eights, except l, b, x, y, which are in sixes; incipit propriorum in festivitates, signatures A to H in eights and J in ten leaves; commune sanctorum, folios 1—64, being signatures A to H in eights. The above is a very fine and beautiful copy of an extraordinarily rare volume.

Not mentioned by Brunet, who, however, states that a copy of a later edition (1516) fetched 163 francs at the Pins-Montbrun sale in 1861.—The first page bears an engraving of the De Coucy Coat of Arms, illuminated, beneath which are written the words "Jacques de Coucy."

The oldest known edition of this valuable "Mystery" was printed by Vérard, in 1491. Brunet states that the authorship is attributed to Pierre Blanchet, but it scarcely seems probable that that writer should have achieved a work so extensive and successful at a time when he can merely have passed his thirtieth year. Numerous editions of this dramatic Destruction de Jerusalem were afterwards issued; which must not however be confounded with an historical romance bearing the same title, and also very popular. God, Tiberius, Nero, Galba, Otho, Theodoric, and Mark Antony are among the personages, and Pilate who is brought to punishment for his ill treatment of Christ. But with all its incongruities, there is no lack of imagination and other poetical merits in the drama.

Paris, Jean Bonfons, 1520

The Heber copy of this Romance sold for £19. and the present copy which has the title, the table, the prologue, and first eight leaves admirably copied in manuscript, by the hand of the celebrated penman MONCHAUSSEZ, for the Prince de Vaujour, in 1736, as seen in the inscription at the close of the Table, fetched at Utterson's sale in 1857, £7. 15*s*. The romance belongs to the series of Charlemagne and the Twelve Peers of France.

This translation was reprinted by Michael Le Noir in 1502, in smaller size. The above volume which is in singularly fine condition, bears on the title-page the mark of Jean Petit as used by him while still a publisher only and before he became a printer. It has also large woodcuts at the beginnings of the books, representing Cicero at work.

18246 ——— another copy, 3 vols. sm. folio, not quite perfect, the first volume reprinted in 1520, old calf, £20. Paris, 1520

The Lancelot is supposed as well as the Grail to have been composed in French by Robert de Borron after the Latin original of Walter Map.

The present is an extremely rare edition of this fine prose Romance, of which Brunet mentions a copy as annoncée in the Stanley sale, and selling for £34. 13*s*, adding, "Nous ne l'avons pas vue."

Lancelot was the noblest knight of the Round Table, and his story is the most interesting in the whole cycle of the Arthur romances. There is an irresistible charm in the simplicity of the French chronicle, which although written in prose has all the pathos and fascination of a beautiful poem.

18247 FOREST DE CONSCIENCE, contenant la Chasse des Princes spirituelle, par Guillaume Michel dict de Tours, 12mo. numerous woodcuts, the first few leaves mended, and the preliminary leaves 4 and 5 wanting, old red morocco extra, gilt edges, £2. 16*s*

Paris, Michel Lenoir, 1520

A curious religious treatise, written for the greater part in verse, and symbolising the various sins as beasts of the chase. The chain of woodcuts with emblematic inscriptions upon them, gives the book the character of an allegorical romance.

This edition is intrinsically valuable, as Bonner caused the errors which disfigured the two London editions to be corrected according to Coverdale's desire. He obtained from Francis I. the license to print it, whilst he was acting as English Ambassador in France. Only a few copies had been distributed when the entire impression was seized by the Inquisition and destroyed. Gardner's copy sold for £82.; Harman's for £79.; and the Bishop of Cashel's for £69. 6*s*.

Parisiis, apud Guillelmum Merlin—at end, Joannes Amazeur pro Guilielmo Merlin, 1555

A copy wanting two leaves fetched at Sotheby's, in 1864, £85. The above, which is perfect, is consequently very cheap in comparison. This is beyond dispute the finest of all the editions of the Sarum Missal, and is also one of the last, as they ceased to be printed in 1557, shortly before Elizabeth's accession to the throne. Most of the copies that survived the reforming rage of the sixteenth century were mutilated, and Mr. Maskell (Mon. Rit. I. lxiv.) notices that the fine large woodcut of God the Father, crowned with a papal tiara, and surrounded by the apostolical symbols, on the second vellum leaf of the Canon, "is a rare picture, and seldom found in printed Missals." The same accomplished critic, in his work on Ancient Liturgies (pref. p. vii.), remarks in reference to all the old English service-books, that "Of late years the demand for them has increased tenfold, and their price, always great, has naturally increased with the demand, so as to put them, when they do occur, beyond the reach of men who are nevertheless the most anxious to obtain them." The last two sheets I and K are occupied by a curious Accentuarium to guide the priests in their pronunciation of the Latin tongue. As a specimen of the English that occurs in the volume, it may not be out of place to quote here a portion of the marriage service—"I N. take the N. to my weddyd husbande to have et to hold fro thys day forwarde for bett' for wurs, for richere, for porer, in sikenesse & in helthe to be bonowr and buxum in bed & at bord tyll deth us departe yf holy chyrche wyl it ordeyne & therto I plyght the my trouth."

s. l. & d. (Lyon par G. Le Roy, cir. 1480-85)

EXTREMELY RARE. A copy sold for 1530 francs in the Yemeniz sale, and another for 2100 fr. in the Double sale. This is the first of the four undated editions with which Brunet commences his description of the fifteenth-century impressions of the Roman de la Rose. And even he speaks doubtfully of the title-leaf bearing the words "Le Rommant de la Rose," which he had only seen in MS., but which is found in fine state (apparently the genuine and proper frontispiece) in the above copy.

All the fifteenth century editions are vastly superior to those of the sixteenth century, in which Clement Marot disfigured the text with his own audacious alterations and interpolations.

C'est un recueil fort curieux et qui a sa place marquée dans toutes les collections de nos anciens poètes."—Brunet.

It consists to a large extent of allegories like those in the Roman de la Rose, containing the speeches of various characters, the lover, his lady, and a number of mystical personages, typifying passions and phases of the mind. But the roundels and ballads of which the volume is full, constitute its chief charm.

A very curious volume of mingled prose and verse, with coarse woodcuts, recounting in allegorical style the wasted life of a poor old courtier, l'Abusé. He is first described as a gentil vieillard, arrayed in faded finery, and then the author enters into conversation with him. Personifications of La Cour and l'Abus are also amongst the speaking characters.

RARE, all the copies that could be obtained having been ordered to be burned by Calvin. It is the most famous edition in the entire series of Ptolemies, in consequence of the paragraph that caused the martyrdom of Servetus. This paragraph is alluded to by Ebert, Brunet, Harrisse, and others, but all of them, following some original blunderer, refer it to the third map of Africa. It is really on the map of Palestine in the second series, and the fault lay in accusing the "Biblici libri" of "injuria aut jactantia pura;" but, of course, Servetus was not the author of the passage, having merely copied it from the editions of 1522 and 1525. Indeed the labours of Servetus were not very heavy; he did but reprint those editions, with a few additions, a few omissions, and a total substitution of text in the descriptions of France, Spain, Germany, and Italy. Here, Servetus expresses freely his own opinions and prejudices, which differ extremely from those of his predecessor. With regard to Germany, he quotes "producit Hungaria boves, Bavaria sues, Franconia cepas rapas et glycerhisiam, Suevia meretrices, Boemia hereticos, Bavaria iterum fures, Helvetia carnifices bubsequas, Westfalia fallaces, tota denique Germania ac totus septemtrio gulones et potatores." One of the most important features in these copies is that they have the complete series of Maps, including the final one, on which appears part of the New World, with the name of "America." To the identical account of Columbus which appeared in the editions of 1522 and 1525, Servetus has appended a few remarkable words concerning the absurdity of putting the claims of Americus in precedence to those of the real discoverer.

Lyon, Heritiers de Benoist Rigaud, 1599

A very rare edition.

The romance of Ogier was existent in the eleventh or twelfth century in a Latin prose original; and not long afterwards appeared in French metrical form. The text of the French prose romance was probably written in the fifteenth century.

AN EXCESSIVELY RARE BOOK, of which it seems that only one other copy is known, which is cited by Brunet on the authority of a private catalogue. The old Toulousan language in which it is written is very remarkable, from a linguistic point of view. The book is in signatures a to p, the first and last two in six, the rest in eight leaves.

The first piece in this volume consists of letters from various parts of the world, recounting the travails of the missionary Friars Minors. Two of these letters are from Mexico "from our convent Thalmanaco, near the great city Mexico," and give eulogistic accounts of the Indians and the wonderful purity of their women as apparent in the confessions of the converts. It also gives the names of the first European students of the native languages, including Peter de Gante, a layman, who used the Indian tongue with singular eloquence. This tract seems to be unknown to all the writers upon early American bibliography, excepting Harrisse, who notices the above copy in the Supplement to his Bibl. Amer. vetust.

EXARATUM ET COMPLETUM AC ETIAM IN PRISTINO STATU REDACTUM EST HOC PRESENS MISSALE AD USUM INSIGNIS ECCLESIE EBORACENSIS, opera honesti viri Magistri Petri Olivier impressoris Rothomagi commorantis, 4to. Gothic letter, printed in red and black, with MUSIC noted, without the following five leaves, viz. title, first of Calendar, n 3 and 4, y 8, £105. Rouen, (? 1517)

EXCESSIVELY RARE. There are perhaps but two other copies known, which are in the Bodleian and in the Maskell collection in the British Museum. Even of this there is a doubt as the names of other printers are associated with Olivier in those volumes, while it stands alone in the present article. The York Missal was apparently printed only four times;—by Olivier at Rouen in 1516 in folio, by him again in 1517 in 4to. as above (this being also issued in conjunction with other printers, the colophon varying, and sometimes dated, sometimes undated, in different copies), by Gachet in 1530, in 4to., and by Regnault at Paris in 1533, also in 4to. A copy of the edition of 1516 fetched £390. at the Saville sale in 1860. The rarity of the York Missal is well known; for whilst of its four or five editions there exist but about ten or a dozen copies in all, there are at least sixty editions of the Sarum Missal in existence, and of many of them several copies are accessible.

The above liturgical treasure was bought by me at Sotheby's as a different article from what it really is. The former owner, and the auctioneer's cataloguer, had most extraordinarily failed to find the colophon and described it as missing, while they attributed the volume to the Paris edition by Regnault (of 1533 not 1523, as they erroneously made it), which was the last of the editions of the York Missal. Now, it is in fact the second, and printed at Rouen, probably one year after the first edition in folio, as is above remarked, and as might have been seen by any careful observer of the book.

Jean Burges.

18306 GRACIE (Pierre) dit Ferrande, GRANT ROUTIER et Pilotage et enseignement pour ancrer tant es portz, haures, que autres lieux de la mer, sm. 4to. First edition, with very rude woodcuts representing the shapes of headlands and harbours, with the objects visible upon them from the Sea, VERY RARE, calf, gilt edges, £18. 18*s*

Rouen, pour J. Burges, 1525

This work is an early Mariner's Guide-book, and contains at least a mention of the New World, which has not been discovered by the bibliographers. On the reverse of T i, the author refers to the wanderings of sailors, "es terres neufves, es isles trouvees, es isles de madere, es isles novantes." His superstitions, his rude spelling and language, his description of the English coasts (including the isle douhic, in which the Isle of Wight is sadly disguised,) make the volume an interesting one for the English collector. This edition is mentioned by Brunet as having fetched £16. at one of Libri's sales. The work is full of curious maritime information, and was composed at St. Gilles in 1483-84, but was not published till the year 1525, as will appear by the preface to the Calendar (T i reverse) "Et ya de temps depuys quil nasquit jusques a cette annee Mil cinq centz xxv." The first example in the Calendar refers to the year 1521, through which Brunet has fallen into error, with regard to the age of the undated edition, which he places before the above one. The citation from Du Verdier of a Poitiers edition of 1520, is probably no less incorrect as to date, and we must look upon the Rouen edition of 1525 as the Princeps, until there is satisfactory evidence of an earlier.

18312 ——— the same, FINE PAPER, folio, fine copy in vellum, 36*s* 1643

A rare and curious work, being a kind of Encyclopædia on maritime affairs; there is a geographical description of the world, with upwards of 20 maps; of Africa, with 1 map; of America, with 3 maps; thus rendering it of interest for the geographical collector. At the end of each description in this portion of the book is a list of the names of towns and places differing from the Latin nomenclature. Amongst the illustrations may be noticed a boat with paddle-wheels worked by bulls, p. 712.

The second book printed at Avignon, and of excessive rarity; being also the first book printed in the old Pontifical city which bears a printer's name. It is only on the authority of Maittaire and Panzer, that the book is quoted by Brunet and Duquesne, the latter not having been able to see it for the desired purpose of comparing its types with those of the Lucian of 1497.

VERY RARE. I can find mention of only five copies as having occurred for sale during the past sixty years. It is a work of great value for English history, yet little known to historical students, except such a painstaking scholar as Buckle, who possessed the only copy that seems to have appeared at a book-auction during this century.

Panzer mentions this work in the Supplement of the Annales, but without referring it to any date or printer. Hain similarly mentions it, while Brunet omits all notice of it; from which we may conclude that these bibliographers never saw the book. It bears at the end of the Colophon the escutcheons of the two printers who produced the first Dutch Bible, in 1477, the first known offspring of the Delft press. The present Treatise of Cardinal Torquemada, may perhaps dispute that honour, and claim to be even an older typographical monument.

This is the first edition of this very curious chronicle or Medley relating to the Manners, Customs, Laws, &c. of the City of London. VERY RARE. This important volume is only known to the French bibliographers in the Latin form in which it was issued one year later, and which is described as "rare et précieuse." This extremely rare volume was written probably by the celebrated Jesuit, Nicholas Bonart of Brussels, when on his way to Spain, where he died five years later. It was unknown to Brunet and other bibliographers; and has only been cited by Ternaux in his work on Printing-presses (apparently from some catalogue, and not de visu). The continuator of Brunet refers to the latter circumstance, but seems to doubt the existence of such a book. It is full of historical matter concerning the English Jesuits, from whose ranks the author selected his chief examples of the Society's valuable services.

Hispali, per Jacobū Corumberger, 1511

There were two issues of this volume in the one year. Several typographical errors were discovered in the copies that had been first sent out, and the consequence was that two new leaves were issued with the copies that remained. The title was also reprinted for these; and the two leaves, which were inserted between the Decade and the poetry, comprised not only a list of errata, but also an address to Ximenez on the practical value of illustrating the text with a chart, and the Map which is so eagerly coveted by possessors of the first edition of Peter Martyr. This Map is astonishingly correct; it will be the glory of the chartographer to have executed such a work at so early a period. There is no other similar attempt that can be in any way compared with it; it remained for many long years far in advance of all that the pilots and hydrographers could achieve. As might be expected, the copies which have the map are in an extreme minority.

On folio 27 there is a diagram in proof of the rotundity of the earth, which contains a small map of America, in which the southern continent is more clearly and better drawn than the northern, and exhibits the courses of the Orinoco and the Amazon. This is probably the work of Chaves, who prepared a large map of the New World which has never yet been printed. The only reference in the text to the Western Hemisphere is on the reverse of fol. 25, where the disappearance of stars in the heaven and the appearance of new ones is noted as meeting the observation of voyagers on the Western ocean, to Peru or to Magellan's Strait. The book is also interesting as the production of an Englishman, John Holywood.

VERY RARE. Loazes was the head of the Inquisition in Catalonia. This work treats curiously in detail the doubts and questions agitated in regard to Prince Arthur's relations with Catharine of Aragon, so as to justify the legality of her union with King Henry and to stigmatise the divorce as criminal. He never fails to bestow high praise throughout upon Henry's "most serene Majesty," treating the affair with Anne Bullen as caused entirely by wicked advisers.

Alonso de Santa Cruz are recorded. They have never been printed, and his name has not even obtained any wide celebrity, although a special work on the subject has been written by Navarrete. Santa Cruz was the first to endeavour to calculate longitude by the observation of the needle's variations. His maps and globes, in which the heart-maps of Orontius Fineus and Werner are corrected, are described by Vanegas; whose volume also contains a chapter (XXI) on the geographical divisions of the world, including America and its parts; the discovering of the Western hemisphere being unreservedly attributed to Vespucci. The principal part of this curious work relates to the manners and conversion of the Indians and the progress of religion in America.

For the history of England in the sixteenth century it will be useful to have recourse to Fernandez; there are important details concerning Henry VIII. his first marriage and divorce, and his union with Anne Boleyn.

(1480-81) Salamanca.

Sine nomine.

18387 POMPONII (MELÆ) Cosmographia, cum figuris (et introductionibus per Franciscum Nuñes de la Yerva elaboratis), sm. 4to. woodcuts, including a map of the then known world, old calf gilt, £40. Salmantice, 1498

The introduction contains an early mention of the New World, which has not escaped the indefatigable research of Mr. Harrisse (Suppl. to Bibl. Am. Vet.) He quotes the words "Extra istas duas extremas (i. e. lineas longitudinis) plurima inveniuntur nam versus Occidens serenissimus Hispaniarum Rex Ferdinandus et Helisabeth terram habitatam distantem ab occidenti per xlv gradus invenerunt"—but he omits the following, "que abusive India a quibusdam dicitur." This is not an unimportant member of the sentence, since it conveys a blow at Columbus himself. There is a further mention of the Western lands in the summary of the map, contained in the statement of the boundaries of the known world.

All the early editions of this famous drama are very rare; and amongst them a prominent place may be claimed for this Burgos edition, which is not mentioned by either Brunet or Salvá, and is not included in my bibliographical index of books sold by auction during the last forty years. In fact, the only Burgos edition recorded by bibliographers is that which Brunet describes as having been sold at the Heber and Soleinne sales, being the only copy known, and bearing the date of 1499 and the mark of Fadrique Aleman the first printer of Burgos; but the colophon-leaf of which was recognized to be a modern forgery.

18400 BARROS Y COUTO, DECADAS DA ASIA. BARROS, Decadas I-III, Lisboa, Jorge Rodriguez, 1628—BARROS, Decada IV, Madrid, Impressao Real, 1615—COUTO, Decadas IV-VII, original editions, 4 vols. Lisboa, Pedro Crasbeeck, 1602-16—together 8 vols. sm. folio, in the original calf binding, fine copies, VERY RARE, £25. 1602-16
The rarest part of the present copy is the 4th Decade of Barros; its title and last couple of leaves are mended, but it is of the original edition, which was never reprinted except in 8vo. form in modern times. The cause of its rarity is that it was left unfinished, and only appeared posthumously, thirteen years after Couto had endeavoured to supply the want of it with his own fourth Decade. The eighth Decade of Couto was not printed till 1673; and the fragments of IX-XII. only in 1736, and later.

The explanation of the Arabic alphabet shews that the pronunciation of the old Spanish differed very much from the modern. It is evident that the c, g, and z were then pronounced exactly in the same fashion as in our present English, that there was no guttural then in Spanish and that ꝛ had the sound of English sh. The missing leaves are, in the Arte, a 1, e 1, e 3, e 8; in the Vocabulista g 5, t 7, A 2.

Excessively rare. No other copy seems to be known but the one which was lately in the Salvá collection, which is identical with the copy Brunet mentions. Mr. Salvá has proved in an elaborate article that the edition of 1584, mentioned by different writers, but which no one has ever described de visu, never had any real existence. He would have lightened his labour, and sooner convinced his opponents of the fact, if he had only taken cognizance that the death of Marc' Antonio Colonna (referred to by Cervantes in the dedication) on August 1, 1584, preceded and did not follow the dates of February, 1584, which appear in the preliminary pieces to the volume.

The six books contained in the so-entitled Primera Parte are all that Cervantes ever composed of this work.

VERY RARE. This work is wrongly described by Brunet. It is true that the two volumes are separate books, separately intitled and paged, and apparently independent one of the other; but they are united in one corpus by means of the frontispiece or engraved general title which is cited above. It is besides untrue that the first work (Ethiopia Oriental) was printed at Lisbon: both parts were printed in the same year by the same man at the same place—the Convent of St. Dominick of Evora. Perhaps the copies seen by Brunet had no frontispiece; and he took for granted that the first part was printed at Lisbon because of the dates given in the Approbations. The work begins with a description of the four parts of the world, of which the first is America. Ethiopia Oriental does not mean India, as one might suppose, but is really Abyssinia, or rather East Africa including Madagascar.

A copy of the edition of 1604 fetched 895 fr., Debure; and good copies of the old Romanceros, the choicest and rarest productions of the literature of Spain, are daily rising in value.

This volume contains a most curious assemblage of rare old Spanish ballads and has always been highly esteemed by the literati of Spain. In the collection are included thirty-two ballads relating to the Cid, twelve of which are not to be found even in Escobar.

EXCESSIVELY RARE. Mr. Blades enumerates fifteen copies, six of which are imperfect, while the other nine are locked up as follows—in the British Museum (two), the Bodleian, and the libraries of the Duke of Devonshire, the Earl of Jersey, Earl Dysart, Earl of Macclesfield, Earl Fitzwilliam, and Earl Spencer. The Devonshire copy was acquired in 1812 at the price of £351. 15*s*; and no copy of any kind has appeared in a public sale since an imperfect one was sold in 1835. Of the imperfect copies, three are safely laid away in the Cambridge, the Windsor and the Ashburnham libraries; the other three are in private hands, and one of them is merely a fragment.

The scientific merit of the volume need scarcely be alluded to, in spite of Mr. Blades' curious statement that it shews "a much better acquaintance with the cosmogony of the world than any previous composition." The philosophers of our time may be tempted by the word I have italicized to study a book of so much value; a correct knowledge of the cosmogony would be cheaply bought even at a price far higher than is fixed above.

The woodcuts are very remarkable, as the first existing specimens of English Engraving; and they do credit to the artist, who, according to competent authorities, was a native islander, not an imported Fleming. The woodcuts which illustrate the chapters on Geometry and Music are bold and spirited examples. In that which represents Arithmetic (Ars metrica) the tablets lying on the table before the seated teacher are marked with Arabic numerals.

EXCESSIVELY RARE, when perfect, as may easily be concluded from the fact that Lowndes mentions no complete copy but Dent's—that is, the identical book above described. All the others which he specifies as having appeared in public sales,—those of Towneley, Edwards, Willet, Heber, and Sir M. Sykes, as well as a couple sold at Sotheby's without names,—were imperfect. The last copy, even approximately perfect, which was sold, produced at Lord Charlemont's sale in 1865, the sum of £477. 15*s*, although it wanted two leaves. In fact, it would be difficult to name any perfect copies, except that in the Spencer library, and the fine one which is now under description.

The Proem by Caxton is a composition which might be read with profit by many of our contemporaries. He eulogizes History as superior to fiction and other courses of reading in which "the utylyte is myxt with harme. For somme sothly techyth to lye, but historye representynge the thynges lyke unto the wordes embraceth al utylyte and prouffite. It sheweth honeste and maketh vyces detestable. It enhaunceth noble men and depresseth wicked men and fooles. Also thynges that historye descryveth by experyence moche prouffyten unto a ryghtful lif."

This volume is one of the rarest and most intrinsically valuable of Caxton's publications. It is the Editio Princeps of a great poem by one of the earliest English poets; a contemporary of Chaucer, and who ranks in the history of the origin of our native literature next to the bard

—— who left half told
The story of Cambuscan bold.

There are about five perfect and imperfect copies (some very defective) of this edition known to exist. Most of these are already so bestowed away in great libraries that there is little probability of their ever coming again into the market; and competition from both sides of the Atlantic has raised the value of the book to such a height, that a copy, sold at Sotheby's in 1872, fetched the price of £670.

"This extraordinarily Fine Copy has rough leaves both on fore edge and at bottom, and is complete with the title and last leaf, containing Caxton's device, and large cut on reverse.

It is one of Wynkin de Worde's most magnificent typographical productions, and most probably the finest copy in existence."

A copy fetched, at Sotheby's, May 8, 1871, £105. This fine early specimen of Wynkyn de Worde's press was bought for Mr. Thompson at Puttick and Simpson's in 1863. It fetched then £40. 19*s*, or with the Commission £45.

"This book, as Ames properly observes, is printed from Caxton's edition of 1482, [Vide Vol. i. p. 1831], 'with a beautiful new letter.' We learn from 'An Introductorie Anno Dnī M. CCCCLXXXXV,' at the back of the title, that it was executed at the request of Roger Thornye, mercer.

"This book is justly commended for the beauty of its typographical execution: indeed it may be questioned whether any contemporaneous production of the foreign presses exceeds it, in the regularity of the register, and lustre of the ink. A fine gilt copy of it, at the sale of Mr. Daly's books [vide Bibl. Daly, No. 553], A.D. 1792, was sold for £18. 5s."—Ames and Dibdin, II. pp. 49 and 52.

Emprynted at Westmestre by Wynkyn de Worde, 1497

Excessively rare, as, according to Lowndes, the only four copies known are those of George III and Mr. Grenville (both in British Museum), Lord Spencer's, and one on vellum in the Lambeth Library. This belonged to the Marquis of Hastings, and sold in his sale for £60.

18455 LEGENDA AUREA, that is to saye in Englysshe THE GOLDEN LEGENDE, for lyke as passeth Golde in valewe all other metallys, so this legende excelleth all other bookes, folio, very spirited woodcuts, Black Letter, wanting the preliminary leaves, folios 1-8, and folios 491-498; a few others defective; calf, fine tall copy, £36.

(WYNKYN DE WORDE), 1498

This rare volume is as far as it goes in very fine condition: the woodcuts are very spirited and differ from those in the edition of 1527.

The volume commences with the Old Testament Saints (Abraham) on sheet Bbij and extends to sheet Gg 5, or pp. 9-52; signatures then beginning again with a and extending to sheet D, or folios 1—CCCLXXXX. The last leaf containing "The Lyfe of Saynt Morante."

VERY RARE. Dr. Dibdin only mentions a single copy of this edition. There are, however, two others known: one in the Lambeth library, the other in the British Museum. Besides these, the few copies (perhaps three) that have turned up during forty years, were all defective.

One of the rarest productions of Wynkyn de Worde's press. It contains some marvellous relations drawn from Scriptural and Secular Histories.

Londini, Wynkyn de Worde, Flete Strete, s. a. (cir. 1516)

This edition by Wynkyn de Worde was unknown to Johnson, who only describes several of this work in Roman type. It is also unmentioned by Dibdin and Lowndes. Many of the words are explained in English. The types, used for this work are stated to have been the same as those used by Theodoric Martens at Antwerp for his Gemma Gemmarum.

Daniel's copy fetched, in 1864, £92. Mr. Hazlitt is mistaken in stating that the book has only 97 leaves, A 1 being "probably blank;" it has really 98 leaves, without any blanks. The title is the first leaf of signature A. The present copy has one leaf, G 8, admirably reprinted in facsimile.

VERY RARE. Dibdin had never seen it, and only described it after Herbert, Hazlitt does not mention it at all, and Lowndes merely states the existence of the impression without specifying any copy. Besides the above copy which fetched £31 at Gardner's sale, I have no memoranda of sales of any, except an imperfect one.

Next after Caxton, the name of his pupil Wynkin de Worde is most famous in the annals of English typography. Although by birth a Lorrainer, he devoted himself to England, and did more than any other of the early English printers to spread knowledge by means of the press. So highly are his productions esteemed that a copy of the Contemplacyon of Sinners, published by him in 1499, fetched at Sotheby's about the beginning of May, 1870, the enormous sum of £210.

s. l. et a. but printed by Lawrence Andrewe, cir. 1520

Almost equally rare with the editions by Caxton which preceded it. Only very few copies and most of these imperfect, have turned up for sale within these last fifty years. There is none mentioned in the Bodleian and Grenville catalogues, nor can I trace any amongst the papers of my bibliographical index. The present copy is unfortunately not perfect; its wants signatures i 1 and i 4, m 2 and m 3, and four leaves of y. Otherwise it is a very desirable book, and especially remarkable as containing the first known specimens of English wood engravings; the cuts being printed from the blocks which Caxton had used in 1481.—See ante No. 18444.

John Rastell.

18476 DIALOGUES OF CREATURES MORALYSED, sm. 4to. original edition, black letter, numerous curious woodcuts, wanting 20 leaves, mended and bound in old russia, gilt edges, from Heber's library, £10. 10*s* (John Rastell, circ. 1517)

18477 ——— another copy, wanting portion of a leaf of table, and the last two leaves, otherwise perfect, in red mor. extra, gilt edges, £36. (cir. 1517)

A VERY RARE AND CURIOUS VOLUME. It is generally attributed to the press of John Rastell, but the opinion of Mr. Haslewood, in his preface to the reprint of 1816, that the book was printed on the continent, is perhaps the correct one. Mr. J. Dunn Gardner's copy fetched £30; and in 1873, the Corser copy, £68.

The great rarity of this edition is shown by its absence from the Bibl. Anglo-Poetica, and the circumstance that I am unable to solve any of the queries implied above by means of an accurate description in the bibliographical handbooks.

Richard Grafton and Edward Whitchurch.

11482 BIBLE, in which are contayned the Olde and Newe Testament translated into Englysh by THOMAS MATHEW, (John Rogers) stout folio, First Edition of Matthew's Bible, Black Letter, with numerous large woodcuts, two titles, and 5 other leaves in facsimile, the first seven leaves of table, and the last four of Revelations wanting, otherwise a perfect copy of this EXCESSIVELY RARE BOOK, brown morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £60. Grafton and Whitchurch, 1537

This edition is of great importance in the annals of the English Bible. It may be called the second version, as it was the first after Coverdale's, from whose text it was published with improvements by Rogers.

Sir Mark Sykes' copy fetched £78. 15*s*; Fletcher's, £105.; Lea Wilson's copy, at Gardiner's sale, 1855, £150.

18483 THE BYBLE IN ENGLYSHE, that is to saye the content of all the holy Scrypture, both of ye olde and newe testament, stout folio, a copy of Cromwell's Bible, often but wrongly called the first edition of Cranmer's, woodcuts, wanting title, Kalendar, &c. and imperfect at end, besides having several leaves mended, facsimile of border to title and portrait of Archbishop Cranmer prefixed, calf, EXCESSIVELY RARE, £24. R. Grafton & E. Whitchurch, 1539

This impression was commenced secretly in Paris, and when nearly finished, the printers disturbed by the officials contrived to secure a portion of the copies and to bring them to London with their types. When finished it was issued to the public, and according to the Royal Proclamation was placed for use in the Parish Churches. This sufficiently accounts for its great rarity as most of the copies must have been destroyed by constant thumbing. Dunn Gardner's copy sold for £121.

The above is a most desirable copy for completion by facsimile ; Mr. Harris would be glad to receive the commission.

The title and five succeeding preliminary pages, and also the title preceding the third book of Esdras, are wanting. The first couple of leaves, and the last two, as also a few in the middle of the book are defective ; but the greater portion of the work is in good condition. The title and woodcuts of the "Great Bible" are considered superb, and have been attributed to Hans Holbein ; the type is large and beautiful, and the paper excellent.

18484 BYBLE (The) IN ENGLYSHE, that is to say the contēt of al the holy scripture both of ye Olde and New Testamēt, with a prologe thereinto made by the reverende father in God, Thomas (Cranmer) archbysshop of Cantorbury, stout folio, Black Letter, with woodcuts, sold as per collation below, with the first four pp. (21—24) of Mr. Fry's Description of the Great Bible, printed as a specimen upon vellum, £50. 1540

A COPY OF CRANMER'S CELEBRATED FIRST EDITION OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES ; (the first page ending with Deuteronomy, being the issue of November, 1540) having a large ornamental letter at the commencement of Romans, with the initials E. W. (Edward Whitchurch) within the same wood-block ; and title to the New Testament designed by Holbein defective, but having the arms of Thomas Lord Cromwell not defaced ; and also fol. LXVI marked xLVI.

No title ; Prologue, 2 leaves (the third wanting) ; Names of the Bookes, 1 leaf ; Genesis, etc. leaves i—iii, vi—lxxxiv, the last defective ; title to second part, 1 leaf ; Job, etc. leaves ii—cxxxiii ; Psalmes, etc. ii—cxxxii (cxxi being also marked cxxxii) ; the Apocrypha (title wanting) folios ii—lxxx; New Testament, title defective :

Matthew, etc. leaves ii—ci. Thus there are eight leaves, including one title, altogether wanting. See Lea Wilson's Catalogue, No. 8, for the description of the book as far as the end of the first part; and No. 7 for the remainder.

The volume HAS VERY LARGE MARGINS AND IS FINE AND SOUND, with few exceptions. From Joshua to the end of the whole Bible, this copy is the FIRST PRINTED by Cranmer.

18485 HARDING (JOHN) THE CHRONICLE OF IHON HARDING, in Metre, from the first Begynning of Englande, unto the Reigne of Edwarde IV. and from that time is added a Continuacion of the Storie in Prose, by Sir R. Grafton, black letter, small 4to. fine copy in old calf, from Sir Henry Ellis's library, £18. 10*s* Lond. R. Grafton, January, 1543

Of Harding's Chronicle there are at least three editions bearing the same date of the month and year as printed by Grafton, but exhibiting some singular variations—All the editions have in the title page "Londini ex officina Richardi Graftoni, Mense Januarii, M. D. xliiii." and at the end "cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum per septennium," from which it is probable that the early printers always retained the date when first published, however often reprinted during the term of the privilege; otherwise the date in the license would not apply to that in the title page. This will account for similar variations in many early printed books, which have not been hitherto satisfactorily explained, and affords sufficient apology to the collector for possessing duplicate copies which exhibit various readings.

18486 ERASMUS, PARAPHRASE UPON THE NEW TESTAMENT, 2 vols. stout folio, black letter, brown morocco, super extra, gilt edges, by W. Pratt, RARE, £12. 12*s* Edwarde Whitchurche, 1548-49

Coplande*, 1557

An excessively rare edition of one of the most popular of the Romances of Chivalry, unknown to Ames and Herbert. Lowndes cites only Dent's copy, and Utterson's (imperfect), and Dr. Dibdin expressly stated "A third copy is not at present known." Dent's copy was again in the market at the recent Perkins sale, where it fetched the sum of £120.

The above very rare edition of the eventful year 1549, in which no less than five different Bibles were published, wants the first title, and seven other leaves of preliminary matter, and the last leaf with the imprint, being sold therefore not subject to return. The description given by Lewis (pp. 109–11) evidently shows that he could only meet an imperfect copy. 1863, priced by Thorpe, £21.; Pickering's copy fetched £31. For a complete collation see Lea Wilson's Catalogue, No. 14.

because in the first place, there were less of them needed for publication, and in the second place, they were most eagerly sought for and destroyed by the Protestants of Elizabeth's reign, as from their very name and nature they were supposed to be specially devoted to the idolatrous ceremonies of the Romish ritual. Of the several editions said to have been printed in the year 1555 of the above Processional, (perhaps their difference consisted only in the varying title-pages added by the publishers). I can only find mention of four copies having occurred for sale during the past five and thirty years.

These very rare works are interesting, not less from the subjects, than from the numerous distinguished persons to whom they are addressed. There is much information of value for the history of the Reformation contained in them, Haddon stood high in Queen Elizabeth's favour. Lowndes does not mention this edition of the Poems, but only that of 1576.

Richard Jugge, 1568

Pickering's copy (formerly Lea Wilson's) fetched £60. 10*s*. This edition is excessively rare, the reason of which may be attributed to the fact that nearly the entire issue was destroyed by use, as it was ordained that copies should be placed in every cathedral, and moreover that every Archbishop, Bishop, Dean, and Ecclesiastical Dignitary should have at least one exposed publicly in his Hall or Dining Room for the use of his Servants and Strangers.

John Cawood, 1555

VERY RARE. These works of "the Bloody Butcher," Bishop Bonner, especially the Articles, created much controversy and bitter feeling, both at that time, when Bale answered them, and ever since, even down to the period of the Tractarian movement when they formed the groundwork of a treatise published in 1842 to attack the new Oxford school.

The Homilies have at the end a leaf of Tetastrichon and a Dialogue between man and the Ayre, which Lowndes incorectly imagined to belong to another edition of which he assumed the existence. The two chief works in this volume are the Doctrine and Homilies, but the Articles and the Injunction seem to be by far the rarest.

Humphrey Dyson was a London Notary-Public who published a collection of Queen Elizabeth's Proclamations in 1618.

18531 MORE (Sir Thomas) WORKES WRYTTEN BY HIM IN THE ENGLYSH TONGE, stout sm. folio, black letter, very scarce, good sound copy, with the unpaged leaves of Poems written in his youth frequently wanting, but without the leaf "To the Christion Reader," pages 205 and 783 damayed, old calf gilt, from Mr. Bright's library, £12. 10*s*

Abell Jeffes, 1587

This copy formerly belonged to John Murray (of Seacome) and was lent by him to Thomas Hearne, who in an autograph note certifies the fact. Next follows a note in the autograph of the Rev. J. Bowle respecting Mr. Murray. This is the most complete edition of Gascoigne's Poems, and contains, besides the pieces enumerated in the title-page, "The Delectable Historie of Dan Bartholomew of Bathe," and 4 leaves of "Instructions for Verse and Rime," which are often deficient. It is remarkably rare, and is priced at £35. in the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica. G. Daniel's copy sold for £22. To the Shaksperian collector Gascoigne's works must always be interesting, as Shakspeare for his "Taming of a Shrew" borrowed considerably from "the Supposes," which is considered to be the first English comedy written in prose.

Thomas East.

18538 MISSALE AD USUM ECCLESIE SARISBURIENSIS (cum Calendario) sm. 4to. woodcuts, and Music, EXTREMELY RARE, fine copy in brown morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £52.

Lōdini, J. Kyngstō et H. Sutton, 1555

The rarity of this edition is so great that Lowndes in mentioning it does not specify any copy as being known to him. No copy has occurred at any public sale within my knowledge except the above.

The unusual name of Cæsaris Burgus is given to Salisbury in some quaint Latin verses in the title, recommending the purchase of this improved book to the priests, They begin thus:

Sanctorum qui sancta soles intrare sacerdos
Hoc missale novum (si michi credas) emas.

A similar copy of this very scarce old Play fetched £56. at Mr. Daniel's sale. In the Introduction there is apparently a fling at Shakespeare's Richard III, Henry VI, Macbeth, and Hamlet:—

"How some damnd tyrant to obtaine a crowne
Stabs, hangs, impoysons, smothers, cutteth throats,
And then a chorus too comes howling in,
And tels us of the worrying of a cat,
Then of a filthy whining ghost,
Lapt in some fowle sheete, or a leather pelch,
Comes skreaming like a pigge half stickt,
And cries Vindicta, revenge, revenge."

18579 DANIEL (Sam.) The Works of Samuel Daniel, newly augmented; "Ætas prima canat veneres, postrema tumultus," sm. folio, LARGE PAPER, with a Poetical Epistle "to Her Majestie," [Queen Elizabeth], original calf binding, £36. London, printed for Simon Waterson, 1601

Mr. Hazlitt describes the book as privately printed, and states that it "is very common with the title-page of 1602 (the second and published edition), but of the privately issued impression only two or three copies are known."

"This is an unknown edition of Daniel's productions, but it agrees in all essential particulars with the common impression dated 1602. The poet seems to have printed his works in 1601 upon large paper as gifts to his patrons." See Collier's Bibliographical Account of Early Literature, Vol. I, 174-5.

The above copy consists of 193 leaves as described by Mr. Collier, but it contains in addition "A Panegyrike congratulatory delivered to the King's Most Excellent Majesty, at Burleigh Harrington, in Rutlandshire, by Samuel Daniel. Also Certaine Epistles. With a Defence of Ryme, heeretofore written, and now published by the Author." This comprises 37 leaves (instead of 40), the last three leaves of the Apologie for Rhyme being deficient.

18580 DANIEL (Samuel) Certaine Small Poems lately printed: with the Tragedie of Philotos, G. Eld for Simon Waterson, 1605—A Panegyrike Congratulatorie delivered to the Kings most excellent Maiestie at Burleigh Harrington in Rutlandshire . . . . also Certaine Epistles, with a Defence of Ryme heretofore written and now published by the author, Imprinted for Edward Blount, 1603—2 vols. in 1, 12mo. russia gilt, £20. 1603-5

EXCESSIVELY RARE. With regard to the collation of the two volumes, it may be said that they correspond exactly to Mr. Hazlitt's description (Handbook, p. 139, No. 8, and p. 138, No. 6*b*) with one interesting variation—that the Dedication in verse of the Certaine Small Poems is to Margaret Countess of Cumberland, and not to Lucy Countess of Bedford. The Small Poems are priced £13. and the Panegyrike £6. 6*s* in the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica.

18581 GWINNE (Matthæi) Nero, tragædia nova, sm. 4to. hf. calf, rare, 7*s* 6*d* Ed. Blounte, 1603

These beautiful Poems are so very rare that but few collections contain them. In the Darius, Act 3, Sc. 3, some lines of the monarch's soliloquy bear a strong resemblance to the celebrated passage in the Tempest, beginning with "The cloud-capped towers." The Tempest, in all probability, was written subsequently to Darius, so that Shakspeare appears to have borrowed the idea from Lord Stirling. The lines in Darius begin with "Let greatnesse of her glascie scepters vaunt."

Lowndes quotes a copy marked in a contemporary catalogue, £21.

Extremely rare edition, published eight years before the well-known one of 1813, which has been usually considered as the genuine fourth edition. For an account of this rare volume, see "A brief account of an unique edition of Sir Philip Sydney's Arcadia, by Mr. J. O. Halliwell, (printed) for private circulation only, 1854," a transcript of which is bound with this copy, at the end.

The May-Lady was a kind of al-fresco masque or dramatic entertainment played before Queen Elizabeth at Wanstead, in which there is some dialogue strongly reminiscent of Shakespeare.

18599 SMITH. Description of New England, or the Observations and Discoveries of Captain John Smith (Admiral of that country) in the north of America in the year of Our Lord 1614; with the success of sixe Ships that went the next yeare 1615; . . . with the proofe of the present benefit this Countrey affoords: whither this present yeare 1616 eight voluntary Ships are gone to make further tryall, smallest 4to. First Edition of Smith's New England, with the Original engraving of the First Map of New England, containing Smith's portrait in the upper left-hand corner, morocco extra, gilt edges, £50. London, Humfrey Lownes, 1616

This map was used again in the author's History of Virginia, published in 1624, which is the great gun of most New England libraries. But in order to have the FIRST map of Virginia and the FIRST map of New England, one must not seek them in that famous folio. They are to be found in Smith's less noted books: his Description of Virginia, printed in 1612, and his Description of New England, printed in 1616. The maps were simply reproduced in the large work of 1624. The name New England appears for the first time in the above work; Smith used it by the authority of Prince Charles who had so baptized the territory delineated in the Adventurer's map presented to him before being engraved.

The keen wit, wide practical knowledge, and the administrative vigour and ability which distinguished Smith, are amply illustrated in the pages of his description of New England. There are few who would not read the account of his patience and indomitable mastery over difficulties with interest and sympathy. Indeed he has matter for all readers:—how would not Isaac Walton have rejoiced in the following sentence: "What sport doth yeeld a more pleasing content, and less hurt or charge then angling with a hooke, and crossing the sweete ayre from ile to ile, over the silent streams of a calme sea?" (p. 39)!

18656 MOLINA (Fray Alonso de) VOCABULARIO EN LENGUA CASTELLANA Y MEXICANA Y VOCABULARIO EN LENGUA MEXICANA Y CASTELLANA, 2 vols. in 1, folio, numerous valuable Manuscript Additions for a new Edition, EXCESSIVELY RARE, but slightly wormed in margins, and a few letters in dedication in Manuscript, £28. Mexico, 1571

This precious copy has innumerable additions in MS. made by order of the Inquisitors of Mexico, in 1587, for the new edition they contemplated. This appears from the MS. note on the title: "Corregiose este Vocabulario por mãdado de los Ses Ynquisidores de Mexo, ano de 1517. Fr. Ps. Dozoja (?)" These additions are so different from the original Nahuatl, or Mexican text, as to lead us to conclude them to be in another dialect or language, not yet identified by the Linguists hitherto consulted. An ordinary copy was priced by Thorpe in 1832, £28, which had cost Lord Kingsborough £52. 10*s*; another priced by Stargardt, in Berlin, 1858, 150 Thalers: fetched at Sotheby's, 1857, cut close and mended, £5. 15*s*; in 1816, at Puttick's, £16.; Mr. Heber paid £31. 10*s* for a copy in the original parchment cover. This first and most complete of any of the dictionaries of the American languages, is cited by Thomas, in his History of Printing in America, as a great literary curiosity, being one of the earliest books printed in the New World. See also Dr. Cotton, Horne, Ternaux, and other bibliographical writers.

18657 SERMONES XXVII—XXXI: de la Caridad y Limosna, Quichua y Español, sm. 4to. fragment of a work commencing on page 377 and ending on page 515, with manuscript corrections by Joseph Acosta, limp vellum, £10. Lima, 1585?

18658 RINCON (Antonio de), de la Compañia de Jesus (Natural de S. Puebla de los Angeles), ARTE MEXICANA, (sic) dirigido al ilustrissimo y reverendissimo S. Don Diego Romano Obispo de Tlaxcallan y del Consejo de sú Magestad, con Vocabulario, 12mo. FIRST EDITION, EXTREMELY RARE, original calf binding, very fine copy, £10.

Mexico, Pedro Balli, 1595

18659 PASSIONUM ET LAMENTATIONUM juxta Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ normam Liber fæliciter explicit; concinatus et in meliorem concentum redactus à Joanne Navarro Minorita Provinciæ Apost. Petri et Pauli Mechhuacanensis, etc. folio, a work of Church Music, printed in red and black, with the notation throughout, woodcuts, etc. no title, vellum, £10. Mexici, D. L. Davalos, 1604

EXCESSIVELY RARE, and unmentioned by the bibliographers, although it is evidently, from the woodcuts, the bold Gothic type, and the imposing appearance of the Music, largely and boldly noted in black, on red lines, the most pretentious and magnificent work that had at that early period issued from the Mexican press.

18660 MORGA (Ant. de) Sucesos de las ISLAS PHILIPINAS, sm. 4to. engraved titlepage, hf. morocco, VERY RARE, £20. Mexico, 1609

This work, printed in Mexico by the learned author who had been judge in Manila, remains the best book on the Philippine Islands. Unfortunately its rarity was so excessive that the book was almost unknown, and so little accessible that in translating it for the Hakluyt Society, Lord Stanley of Alderley was obliged to use a transcript made from the copy in the British Museum.

18661 FARFAN (Fray Augustin, Doctor y Religioso en la Nueva España) Tratado Breve de Medicina y de todas las Enfermedades, sm. 4to. fine copy in morocco, gilt edges, £10. 10*s* Mexico, 1610

RARE: unnoticed by any of the bibliographers. It is dedicated to Don Luis de Velasco, the Viceroy, and has a woodcut of St. Augustin on the title. The initials throughout the text are also woodcut, I have seen an imperfect copy of the first edition mentioned in a sale catalogue as of Mexico, 1579; Mr. Harrisse gives the date as 1592. The above copy shews that there is an error in both places, since the Approbation is dated 1596.

18670 MANITOWOMPAE POMANTAMOONK sampwshanau Christianoh Uttoh woh an Pomantog wussikkiteahonat God, (the Christian Doctrine in the Natic language, probably translated by the missionary Eliot) 12mo. Editio Princeps, fine copy in red morocco extra, by Bedford, £90. Cambridge, (New England), 1665

EXCESSIVELY RARE (PERHAPS UNIQUE) and apparently unknown to all or most of the American bibliographers. I cannot trace the existence of any other copy; there is probably some such in the American libraries, but I cannot find that any has appeared for sale in Europe before the present copy.

18671 MANITOWOMPAE POMANTAMOONK, etc. as above, second edition, 12mo. beautiful copy in red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Thompson of Paris, from the library of Charles Nodier, VERY RARE, £50. Cambridge, (N. E.) 1685

18672 CICERO'S CATO MAJOR, or his Discourse of Old Age, with explanatory Notes (translated by Mr. LOGAN of Philadelphia) 8vo. fine copy in old calf, £12. Philadelphia, printed and sold by B. FRANKLIN, 1744

In the Printer's Address to the Reader, Benjamin Franklin expresses a hope that this translation might be "a happy omen that Philadelphia shall become the seat of the American Muses."

18673 CHRISTIAN HISTORY, containing accounts of the revival and propagation of Religion in Great Britain and America for the Year 1743 [and for the Year 1744], 2 vols. 8vo. fine clean copy in calf, VERY RARE, £2. 16*s* Boston, N.E. Kneeland and Green, 1744-1745

These two important historical volumes appeared weekly in 104 numbers, under the editorship of the Rev. THOMAS PRINCE, the annalist of New England. Complete sets, in good order like the present copy, are uncommon.

18674 APOCALYPSE de Chiokoyhikoy, Chef des Iroquois, traduite en Francois sur l'Original Iriquois, avec un Commentaire, publié par ordre du Congrés Général, 8vo. hf. calf, gilt top, uncut, 21*s* Philadelphie, 1777

This strange production, purporting to be a translation from an original which was composed at the beginning of the fourteenth century, has been described as "certainly a political satire in behalf of the Americans against England," but seems rather a clumsy device to secure the alliance of the Canadian Red Men with the revolted colonies. The Iroquois chief recounts in prophetic language the future fate of his country, the coming of the foreigners, the struggle of the American and the European English, the triumph of the former, helped by the Indians, and the final settlement of the two American races, the native and the imported, in fraternal peace and happiness side by side.

18675 CONSTITUTIONS des treize Etats-Unis, avec la déclaration de l'Indépendance, les articles de confédération, et les traités, 8vo. THICK PAPER, hf. bd. 25*s* Philadelphia, 1783

18677 FRENEAU (Philip) Poems written between the years 1768 and 1794, new edition revised by the author, with many pieces never before published, 8vo. calf, £3. 3*s* Monmouth, (New Jersey), 1795

There is some humour and vigour in the verses of this patriotic rhymer; but he is no Tyrtaeus. Although, by his own confession, very partial to Apollo and the Muses, his fondness was not returned by those capricious beings, who probably found Yankeeland still too far out in the cold for a visit.

18678 FLINT, History and Geography of the Mississippi Valley; with the Physical Geography of the United States and the other divisions of the American continent, 2 vols. in 1, 8vo. pp. 469 and 310, calf, 25*s* Cincinnati, 1833

Fully four-fifths of the entire book concern the United States, especially those of the West.

18680 JAMES (W.) Inquiry into the Merits of the principal Naval Actions between Great Britain and the United States, 8vo. sd. very rare, 20*s*
Printed for the Author, Halifax, N. S. 1816

This author considered that little credit for naval or other exploits was due to the States-men; and evinced great disgust at the American idea that "they are an intelligent, active and enlightened people, beyond all former example."

18681 GENEALOGICAL Account of a few of the families of the Early Settlers in Eliot (a township in Maine), and of a branch of the Moody family, from 1638 to 1850, 12mo. sd. 20*s* Saco, 1851

Dr. Fogg is the author of this pamphlet of 22 pp. which is probably very rare. The families are three: The Foggs, the Hills, and the Moodies. The work begins thus: "The name of Fogg appears to be of great antiquity in England and Wales."

Only 250 copies were printed of this most important publication, the necessary companion to "SOTHEBY'S Principia Typographica, 3 vols. folio, 1858," but executed with infinitely more critical sagacity and learning.

Every distinguished Collector of Books and Prints, and every Public Library must have this book, as the standard work of information and reference on the subject of the History of Printing before the art of printing with moveable types was invented by GUTENBERG at Mentz.

SUPPLEMENT

CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS.

18753 The Boke of the Sege of Troy, COMPILED BY DAUN JOHN LYDGATE, MONKE OF BERY ATTE EXCITACIOUN AND STERYNG OF THE MOOST NOBLE WORTHI AND MYGHTY PRYNCE KYNG HENRY THE FYFTHE, royal folio, magnificent Manuscript on Vellum, said to be the Presentation copy to the King, illuminated with 70 LARGE MINIATURES, (including portraits of Lydgate and the King,) borders, and other decorations, and forming perhaps the finest illuminated English MS. of its kind and size in existence, bound in purple velvet with clasp, by Lewis, in imitation of the original binding as depicted in the first Miniature, £1600.

There is no other such MS. of Lydgate's Troy in existence, nor perhaps of any similar English work, whether in the great national collection at the British Museum, or in any private library. It is perfect and splendid throughout, a circumstance that is really astonishing when we compare it with other illuminated works of the same date. The royal magnificence of its decorations, and an instance in which the author's hand seems to have effected an alteration in the language and the rhyme, might almost justify the belief that this MS. is the veritable presentation copy to Henry V. (There is a coat of arms at the end of which I can offer no explanation.) It afterwards came into the possession of "Hugh Morgan of Monmouth in the marches of Walys," who inscribed his name on the fly-leaf, perhaps about the end of Edward IV.'s reign; and still later into the hands of the Mundy family. The memoranda made by various members of this family, extend from 1532 to 1615.

Lydgate's Siege of Troy has only been printed twice—in 1513 and 1555 (an abridged paraphrase issued in 1614 hardly needs to be taken into account), and both of these editions, which are moreover defective and incorrect, have become excessively rare. The above MS. is therefore nearly equivalent to an unpublished work by an early English poet, the disciple of Chaucer. How well he worshipped his great exemplar appears in words in divers parts of the volume; and it may be interesting to quote here some lines of his eulogy upon Chaucer, which will probably be new to most people.

". . . it me semeth that it is no nede
Sith my maister Chauncer heraforne
In this mater hath so wel hym born
In his boke of Troylus & Criseide
Whiche he made longe or he deide

Yf that ye liste no man best alyve

So as I can hym to magnyfye
In my writyng pleynly til I dye
And God I pray his soule brynge in joye."

* Days. † youe=given. ‡ Francis Petrarch, Italy. § Finish.

And further on, near the end of the book, in mentioning the deficiencies of his work:—

My maist' Chauncer yt. fond ful many a spot

Ne meve him self to perturbe his reste,
I have herde seide, but ev'more saide ye beste

It is amusing to note Lydgate's words after a passage concerning women, which stands thus:

> He shal them fynde stedfast as the mone
> That is in poynt to chaunge ful sone
> Yf he be yonge they caste hem in rage
> Yf he be olde they fallyth in dotage
> Wherefore my consail is to bothe two,
> Caste of the brydel & lightly let hem go
> —Thus techith Guydo, God wot, and not I,
> That haht delit to speken cursedly
> Alleway of wym'en thorough al his boke. . . .

The work is a free rendering of Guido de Columna's romance of Troy, not at all so exactly rendered as Lydgate pretends, and full of his own reflections and digressions. He completed his labour in the year 1420, dedicating it to "the noble worthi king Herry the Fifthe."

> "that to me yave in commaundement
> Not yore ago in his fadirs time
> The sege of Troye in man'e to ryme."

The instance alluded to at the beginning of this note, of an alteration effected by the author's own hand is the following. At the end of the long passage upon Chaucer which forms the first quotation above, there were two lines which ran originally as follows:

> The stori telle; & firste how that Guydo > Spekith Troylus to.

Lydgate finding that he had forgotten "Within his boke" which ought to have stood at the beginning of the second line, thus making it too short, inserted the missing words, for the sake of avoiding an ugly encroachment on the margin, at the end of the first line. Then, or later, it seems as if he preferred to take the inserted words as part of the first line; and consequently had to add something to the second line so as to keep the rhyme. This later insertion is in lighter ink; and the two lines now run as follows (he having forgotten to cut away the superabundance in the metre of the first):—

> The stori telle; & firste how that Guydo within his boke
> Spekith to Troylus to hymselfe that he loke.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS OF ENGLISH MANNERS, COSTUME, ARMOUR, AND ARCHITECTURE IN THE TIME OF HENRY V. THAT ARE AFFORDED BY THE MINIATURES IN THIS GLORIOUS VOLUME HAVE NO SMALL VALUE FOR THE ANTIQUARY AND THE HISTORICAL STUDENT. WHEN ALL THESE VARIOUS MERITS ARE CONSIDERED, IT WILL BE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE MERE POSSESSION OF THIS ONE MANUSCRIPT WOULD RAISE THE MOST ORDINARY LIBRARY IN ENGLAND TO THE VERY HIGHEST RANK AMONG THE MUSEUMS OF THE COUNTRY.

18754 LIBER BELIAL JACOBI PALLADINI DE THERAMO, Germanice.—Buch das da bedrachtet ob Jhesus Marien sun das recht gehebt hab das er die hell und die tüfel hab berobet an dem tag da Gott für alle menschen die marter gelitten hat mit dem tod des krütz, sm. folio, 16 large and rude Drawings, slightly coloured, in the original wooden boards, £25.

"Dyss buch ist her' Mathys von Menshem zu der zyt bwmayster zu Heylbron dütsch ordens. Got grüss üch und ain gut sellig iar. Amen."

The Drawings are very curious. There seem to have been three or four more originally, beyond the sixteen which remain, as in some cases after the endings of chapters, blanks are found, and some lines of the text are missing from the succeeding pages. The scarcity of German manuscripts of this work has been remarked by various writers, and must be attributed to its popularity, (and consequent liability to destruction), about the middle of the fifteenth century.

Anthonius Rüttel de Pairmenchingn hoc scripsit domino suo Gabrieli Müller, hoc tempore scriptor suus, 1450

An extraordinary religious Romance, composed towards the end of the fourteenth century, in Latin, and translated afterwards into most of the European languages. The above interesting MSS. seem to be prototypes of the earliest printed German version, which appeared about 1462, previously to the publication of the first Latin edition. The work has been considered by some to be the grotesque creation of a coarse mind; by some to spring from the blasphemous ideas of an impious one; and by others, to be the production of a far-seeing Reformer. However it be, the book was placed upon the Index Expurgatorius, although the author died in the enjoyment of his archiepiscopal functions.

The plot of the story is, that Belial pleads before King Solomon in an action against Christ, (represented by Moses,) for having by improper and illegitimate means swindled Lucifer out of certain souls, his rightful property. Two advocates are sworn on the gospels to speak the truth "gerechtlich und aun getär;" but the champion of Heaven is inferior to his opponent in argument and ability, and even in courtesy.

A curious feature of the work is that it follows exactly the whole form of process in the Ecclesiastical Courts, from the first citation to the final Judgment on Appeal, and is at the same time the earliest known record of such proceedings.

The drawings in the second MS., thirty-five in number, are of no common order; in design and execution they recall some of the best productions of the early German artists, and if they be the work of the scribe Anthonius Rüttel, which scarcely seems probable, his name deserves to be rescued from obscurity. It is amusing to note the exact similitude of the nobler personages to portly and substantial burghers of Southern Germany, both in costume and physical characteristics. Belial alone is not of human type; the artist has unkindly thrown an expression of degraded cunning into features that are not comely, while two horns rise from his brows in front of two donkey-ears, and he stands upon a pair of legs that might have adorned an ass's hind-quarters.

"It is needless to remark on the extreme rarity of manuscripts of the early French Poets." The present copy has a special interest for French collectors, as it belonged to the noble house of Daillon (du Lude), and bears several interesting inscriptions. The first page is marked "Se lyure est a Loyse de Daillon, qui le trouera sy le luy rande." This lady, the grandmother of the famous Brantome, whose Memoirs speak of her, was married to André de Vivonne, the gouverneur appointed by Francis I. for his eldest son. On a fly-leaf at the end there is a memorandum—"Ellest du tout a vous et sera a jàmais vre. melleure seur. Loyse de Savoisi." Underneath—"Je vos prie que vos. croies qui nya fame au monde qui plus vos. ayme que faite Marie de Grassay." On another page—"De vos seurs la plùs layelle—Renee de Daillon." Further on a sort of letter addressed to "Mademoyselle du Lude." Renée de Daillon was the eldest sister of Louise mentioned above; and these memoranda were probably written about the year 1470. There are various other memoranda on the fly-leaves which it is not necessary to cite.

18764 ENENKEL'S WELT-CHRONIK, stout sm. folio, old German MS. on paper, ancient boards covered with leather, £12. circ. 1450

This Chronicle, which is almost entirely in rhyme, with a little prose interspersed towards the end, was composed before and down to the year 1248, with which the narrative closes. The author belonged to a baronial family, and was "Dom-Herr" of St. Stephen's in Vienna. He died in A.D. 1250. On the second page there is a mention made of himself in the following words:

Der dit geticht gemachet hat
Der sitzcet zcu Wiene ind' stat
Med huz uñ ist Johānes genant
In der kroniken er ez vant
Johānes Eneckel so hiez er
Vö dē buche nam er di ler

Various extracts from this Chronicle have appeared in different volumes upon early German poetry, and a complete edition was promised by Faus in 1793, but this project was never carried out. Potthast in his valuable bibliography of the sources of mediæval history, mentions five MSS. of Enenkel's work as known to exist; but this is a small number, and suffices to stamp the copy above described as a great rarity. As an old German text, there is a high value to be attached to this Chronicle. even though it be called a "hölzernes Reimwerk;" and it is not the less interesting for the very fault attributed to it by Potthast—that it is a marvellous web of tales and fables.

There is a fragment of thirty-four lines on the page succeeding the last page of the Chronicle. It is headed: "Hy hebet an Sente Margreten Buch," and begins with the lines "Eyn statt dy heyszet Antioch Und stet in Krichenlande noch."

"Ce MS. a appartenu a Claude Durfé et vient de la Bibliotheque de l'Archevesque de Sens;" it afterwards passed into the Galitzin-Golownin and Perkins libraries. The volume may date from about the year 1360, as plainly appears from the character of the writing and the costume that is depicted in the miniatures. The language of the book differs considerably from that of later MSS. such as the fine one lately sold for nearly £700. at the Perkins sale, and offers a great number of various readings, which enhance the value of the present codex to a very high degree. Even a linguistic interest attaches to it. But it will be allowed that the curious miniatures form the most attractive features of the volume. They are in striking contrast to the uniform style, and the stereotyped designs that appear in most French MSS., even the very finest; there being something in them of a singular and unusual type. The colouring, the disposition of the figures, the character of the designs, produce at once upon the eye an impression of strangeness and peculiarity of style which stamp the volume as in some measure unique.

This little Manuscript, wanting a couple of leaves as it does, stands in artistic value far above any other Book of Hours that I possess. It is less showy and brilliant, but superior in real merit to even the best articles that were sold in the recent Perkins sale. For grace of design and natural truth, I might especially instance the picture in which the Virgin in bed is giving suck to the new-born Christ; that in which she presents the child at the altar; and again the scene in which a mother, fallen upon her knee, tries to save her bleeding infant from the soldier who clutches her by the arm and is about to strike a second time, while Herod is seen on the other side, in an energetic attitude, with outstretched hand, bidding the warrior to slay.

The book itself has further interest as belonging to an unusual and local type of the Livres d'Heures. To begin at the beginning, every month of the Calendar has a curious rhyming couplet at foot, containing a kind of prophecy concerning certain days,—thus, at the end of April, it is said "Denus et undenus est mortis vulnere plenus;" for June,—"Denus palescit, quindenus federa nescit;" for September,—"Tertia Septembris et denus fert mala membris." Two entries in the Calendar;—"Sanctus Marcus de Suesione," on the 7 October, and "Sanctus Germanus de Pratis," on the 27 May, are not found in this form in any other Book of Hours, from which I would attribute the execution of the volume either to Paris, or more probably to Soissons. In the border of the miniature of the Annunciation there is a kneeling figure, with an escutcheon, which may be described as de gueules à la bande d'or; à dextre, un martinet d'or.

18771 HORÆ BEATÆ VIRGINIS, sm. 4to. beautiful Manuscript on Vellum, with 22 large and 24 small Miniatures, most of them printed on a ground of the chess-board pattern, every page decorated with a border, in remarkably fine preservation, being as brilliant and clear throughout as though written yesterday, bound in velvet, and enclosed in a black morocco case, £120. Sec. XV.

The Calendar, the Fifteen joys, and the Seven Supplications, are in French. The first page has an armorial emblazonment, bearing two shields, one of them gules with two stars or, and a crescent argent, the other being the same dimidiated, the new half azur with a cock or. On the helmet above is written the name Guillermus. There are several memoranda on the fly-leaves concerning members of the Lignage and Chatillon families during the seventeenth century from its very commencement. On the last page appears the following note:—"Le 31 Janv. 1727, Monsieur de Corvisier m'a donné ce livre à condition qu'il luy sera rendu après ma mort ce que j'ordonne estre exécuté. Marie Madelaine Morel."

18772 HEURES GOTIQUES, sm. 4to. beautiful Manuscript of the XVth century, 160 leaves on VELLUM, with seven large and several small MINIATURES, a profusion of capital letters, and every page illuminated with borders painted in gold and colours, all in beautiful French style; bound in red morocco, gilt edges, by Pasdeloup, £40. Sec. XV.

The Calendar and the Rubrics are in French, but there are no French prayers in the volume. This MS. has been in the hands of several noble possessors since the year 1577, when it belonged to the Saingénois family. The notes of various owners are found on the fly-leaves.

This MS. which may rank as one of the best productions of French art, was executed in the diocese of Chartres, probably during the first half or towards the middle of the fifteenth century. The locality of its origin is indicated by the names in the Calendar of SS. Taurin, Chéron, Aignan, and others, but especially by the entry, opposite 17th of October, of "la dedication notre dame de Chrs." The Calendar is in French, but there are no French prayers in the text.

18777 HORÆ BEATÆ VIRGINIS, sm. 8vo. Manuscript on Vellum, containing 155 leaves, with 20 Miniatures, floreated borders, illuminated in gold and colours, old red morocco, gilt edges, £18. 18*s* Sec. XV.

The Calendar is unusually full. It would seem from a couple of memoranda on the fly-leaf that the book was presented by Helene de Severi to Engelbert de Raveschet. The lady writes in French doggrel :—

"Je prie dieu de vous doner d'heur que mérit vre dousseur ; Fortune est telle. Helene de Severj ;"

and the gentleman makes a mem. under it. "Pour ung riens.—Engelbert de Raveschet." Perhaps they were lovers, and he was too modest.

18778 OFFICIA BEATÆ MARIÆ VIRGINIS, 24mo. beautiful illuminated MS. on fine VELLUM, with numerous large and richly decorated initial letters and borders, many of them containing figures which are apparently PORTRAITS, an armorial bearing painted within the first initial, old black MOROCCO extra, gilt edges, with the arms of a Cardinal stamped in gold an the sides, £12. 12*s* Sæc. XV,

This MS. was evidently executed for some special personage or family ; it is an entirely different piece of work from the ordinary devotional MSS. which were manufactured in thousands in the north of France for indiscriminate sale.

painted beneath the first two Miniatures adorned with letters of gold, illuminated capitals, borders, and 11 superb MINIATURES, CHEFS-D'ŒUVRE of their kind, and evidently done by a master hand, bound in blue velvet, gilt edges, from Sir Thomas Gage's library, £100. cir. 1490

Amongst illuminated Missals and Books of Hours, this little gem of Italian art must take the very highest rank. Such an example is not easily met with. Some of the pages are written in letters of gold upon a rich lustrous crimson ground; and amongst the border ornaments there are several white busts that seem to be executed after ancient Roman sculptures of the Emperors. This volume is a marvellous specimen of what could be accomplished for the pleasure of a great Prince of the Church, in the early days of the Renaissance, when everything that genius could devise was lavished to adorn the luxuries of the great.

18780 HORATII Opera; VIRGILII Bucolica et Georgica; PERSII Satiræ; STATII Achilleis, etc. in 1 vol. very thick sm. 8vo. Manuscript on Vellum, in the well known binding of the Medici collection made by Lorenzo the Magnificent, in a morocco case, £50. circ. A.D. 1400

VERY VALUABLE AND RARE; being full of variants and with notes or memoranda at the side, evidently made by some distinguished scholar amongst the followers of Lorenzo. MSS. of Horace are very rare, especially when approximately complete, and there are only wanting sixteen lines at the end of the fourth book of Odes to make the present text quite perfect. The arrangement of the book is as follows: Horatii Epistolæ, Ars Poetica, Satiræ, Odæ, Epodæ, Carmen Seculare; Virgilii Bucolica; Martialis Epigrammata quædam; Virgilii Georgica; Persii Satiræ; Statii Achilleis; and some additional pages of poetical matter, of which a few are written upon palimpsest leaves. At the end of the Statius there are four lines which are not found in any of the printed editions; the first of these four is to be met with in some other MSS. but it is rejected by the critics, who however are unaware of the three that follow it. The four lines are—

Aura silet: puppis currens ad littora venit.
Occurrunt reges multâ comitante catervâ;
Suscipiunt hilares illum donisque decorant,
Et multo plausu simul ad tentoria ducunt.

18781 LYDGATE'S LIFE OF OUR LADY, folio, very neat MS. in an Elizabethan hand, containing almost the entire second half of the above celebrated poem, inlaid, hf. bd. £9. 9*s* cir. 1580

This valuable MS. consists of 32 pages with sixty-one lines upon each. There appears no title either at beginning or end, and it is therefore with hesitation that the authorship is attributed as above. The poem is in seven-line stanzas, which begin with the last three lines of one that must be close to the opening of the third book. The Liber Tertius ends on the fifteenth page; and the fourth book begins—

When Janus Bifrons in cold Januarye
With frosty beard entred had the yere
And Phebus chayre neygheth to Aquarye.

The last four lines upon page 32 stand as follows:—

And unto thee this day we clepe and call
Thou blessed Quene, of Kynges Emperesse
That gavest thy sonne sowcke within that stall
That chast mylk of vyrginall cleannesse.

18782 MADRIGALI BALLATE E MOTTETTI, POSTI IN MUSICA, sm. folio, Manuscript on Vellum, (85 leaves), having the Arms of the Medici Family in gold and colours on the first page, £42. Sec. XIV.

This very important Manuscript comprises Compositions (many of which have hitherto been unknown) by Jacopo da Bologna, Giovanni di Firenze, Francesco di Firenze, Bartolini di Padova, Giovanni di Choscina, Frate Lorenzo di Firenze, Caccia di Ser Gheradello, Bonaiuto Corsino Pittore, Donatto da Chascia, Ser Niccolo del Proposto, Fra Guglielmo di Santo Spirito, Francescho degli Orghanni, Don Paghollo, Rosso de Chollegrana, &c. &c. To the Musical Collector this volume is almost invaluable.

The Langres Missal, presenting no doubt some special service distinct from the Roman use.

18787 PETRARCA, RIME, royal 8vo. exquisite Manuscript on Vellum, with numerous Initial Letters and 11 Miniatures, richly illuminated in gold and colours, by an Italian miniatore, probably the celebrated artist Cosimo Tura of Ferrara, bound in old red morocco, gilt edges, £200. Sec. XV.

This exquisite Manuscript was brought from Italy by the Rev. Mr. Crofts, at whose sale in 1783 it was purchased for Lord Selsey. It originally was in the possession of the princely family of Caraccioli as appears by a memorandum on the fly-leaf, as follows :—

"In nome di Cristo et della sua santissima madre Maria. Hoggi, Martedi 12di Ottobre 1593 a vinti tre hore e tre quarti, è nato Giovanni Antonio Caracciolo, Conte di Sirino, figlio del Marchese mio, quale N. S. per sua bontà e misericordia faccia che sia nato per servitio della Maestà sua, del Re suo signore, per contento mio, della Principessa mia, del padre et della madre, et per esaltatione della casa nostra."

Cosimo da Ferrara was born in 1406 and died in 1469 : a competent authority describes the above as illustrated in his manner, and perhaps by him.

18788 PHALARI, Lettere di, tradutte in Italiano e dicate al Principe Novello Malatesta di Rimini, sm. 4to. MS. on Vellum, 15*s* circ. A.D. 1430

18889 PONTIFICALE ROMANUM, folio, BEAUTIFUL MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, in Gothic characters, with rubrics in red, and Music, having an immense number of CAPITAL LETTERS, 36 of the initials containing VERY ELEGANT MINIATURES, illustrating the Ceremonies referred to in the text, FLOREATED BORDERS and other ORNAMENTATIONS, ALL FINELY ILLUMINATED IN GOLD AND COLOURS by an ITALIAN ARTIST, a few of the leaves cut out, blue morocco, gilt edges, £60. circ. A.D. 1450

Some of the miniatures are the very perfection of fine work. For example,—the painting in which the bishop, seated, is cutting off with scissors the hair of the candidate for holy orders who kneels at his feet, while an assistant cleric stands by bearing the crozier. Nothing in this miniature could be improved, either in colour, drawing, or disposition of the figures. Everything is harmonious, easy, and elegant. This remark applies also to the picture of the consecration of a Pope by three bishops, as well as to others in the volume.

Pontificalia are amongst the rarest of all liturgical MSS. This can be readily understood, since they were destined for the use of prelates only, and consequently much less frequently reproduced than the other Service-books.

18890 PSALTERIUM, cum Calendario, sm. 4to. Manuscript on Vellum, by an English Scribe, with illuminated capitals and borders, somewhat defective, morocco, £12. Sec. XIV.

The Calendar is interesting as containing many curious particulars concerning members of the Alman family written in English between the lines at different times during the years A.D. 1540-80

18891 ☞ Unpublished Metrical Romances, belonging to the Arthurian Cycle by an English Trouvère, Hugo de Rutland of Credenhill in Cornwall, circiter A.D. 1190, 2 vols. in 1, folio, russia gilt, £210.

ROMAUNCE DE IPOMODON ET ROMAUNCE DE PROTHOLAUS, roys de Poille (i.e. Apulia) EN VERS, folio, MS. on Vellum, with an ornamental initial and small Miniature at the beginning of the Protesilaus Written by John of Dorkingge about A.D. 1300

The author, a contemporary of the more famous Walter Map, is mentioned as Hugh of Cliveland at the end of the Hippomedon (the Chyld Ypomydon of Warton and the old balladists), and as Hugh of Rotelande at the beginning of the Protesilaus. The latter appears to be his proper designation. Both these Chansons de Geste, in which old Greek names are fitted to a mediæval romance of chivalry, have a connection with the Graal legends, King Arthur being represented as reigning in France. They are excessively rare, although they must have been popular since an abridged English Version of the Ipomydon was printed by Wynken de Worde, and is quoted or embodied in various collections of early English Romances. There seems to be only one copy of the Hippomedon in English collections (in the Cottonian MSS. British Museum), and one of the Protesilaus in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris. I cannot find mention of any other copies than these, perfect or imperfect. About two leaves are wanting at the beginning of the above interesting MS. but there is apparently no other imperfection. The versification of the stories is easy and felicitous ; the language is philologically curious and interesting.

LANCELOT DU LAC, le premier livre du Sainct Graal, MS. ON VELLUM, containing the portion of this old prose Romance which extends from the setting forth of Agravain to seek Lancelot, to the stay of Lancelot in the castle of the Lady who promised to shew him the most beautiful thing in the world, 107 pp. closely written in double columns, at the end of the above Metrical Romances, by the same scribe, (John of Dorking) cir. 1300

Perhaps it was death which put a sudden end to the Lancelot MS. as it closes abruptly on the obverse page of a leaf, the reverse remaining blank. It comprises about a sixth part of the entire Romance, but is of incalculable value for its text, by which the printed editions are shewn to be faulty and imperfect. The redaction, which was compiled about 1470, and used for publication, not merely alters the phraseology to suit the fashion of the time, but also omits much which was considered obsolete or unintelligible. The above fragment is literally an article of the utmost intrinsic interest and worth.

18796 THE KORAN, in Arabic, large folio, a superb illuminated Manuscript, exhibiting very choice specimens of Oriental Art, the calligraphy and the ornamentation being both very fine, the text written throughout on a ground powdered with gold, with gilt and coloured decorative borders and headings of gold; some pages exquisitely adorned all over and blazing with the richest splendor of Indo-Persic illumination; in the original binding, the sides all covered with gilding and surrounded with Coranic inscriptions in gold, £100. circ. A.D. 1500

A set of Sortes Coranicæ in the Persian language, follows the text of the Coran in this superb MS. from which we might reasonably suppose it to be a work of Persian art. It may, however, have been executed in the north of India for some Mogul Prince, and indeed it is a royally magnificent volume, which can only have belonged to a personage of the most exalted station.

This is in many ways an interesting volume, being not only the best work on Quichuan Grammar that has yet appeared, but also exhibiting choice specimens of the modern Spanish literature of New Peruvia. The author in spite of his Spanish name is an enthusiastic worshipper of the old language, cultivated by him from childhood amongst the unmixed descendants of the Yncas. The old Ynca Cipher-language is explained in a special section; and the text of a famous Quichuan drama is given entire at the end, from MS. sources.

It is a pity that this learned work by a very accomplished scholar will never meet the eyes of the great mass of the people, while the dogmatiic utterances of ignorant theorists spread far and wide around us. It shews in the most complete and satisfactory manner that a MS. of the sixth or seventh century is now in existence containing the Athanasian Creed, so recently stigmatized as the forgery of a later age. As a valuable contribution at once to the study of Palæography and of Ecclesiastical Archæology, this book by the Deputy Keeper of the Records will be highly prized by all true scholars.

"Mr. Webb had resided for many years in Paris, where he was well known as the possessor of one of the largest private herbaria in Europe, and where he enjoyed the society of a large circle of scientific friends. As a botanist, Mr. Webb was chiefly distinguished by his critical knowledge of South European plants, acquired from personal observation made during extensive journeys in the Mediterranean regions, Spain, Italy, and the Canary Islands. His published works are remarkable for the knowledge of the literature of botany which they display, the classical elegance of the language, and the minute accuracy of his observations, though the latter too often led him to overlook general truths in specialities and to multiply species in an excessive degree."

Berty (A.) la Renaissance Monumentale, Spécimens de Composition et d'Ornementation empruntés aux edifices construits depuis le regne de Charles VIII. jusqu'à celui de Louis XIV. 2 vols. atlas 4to. 100 fine steel plates of Palaces, Public Buildings, with plans and details, (pub. £3. 12*s* 6*d*) sd. £2. 16*s* Paris, 1864

Bethencourt (J. de) Histoire de la prem. descouv. et conq. des Canaries, faite dès l'an 1402 ; plus un traicté de la navigation et des voyages de decouverte et conqueste moderne, et principalement des Français (par P. Bergeron), thick 12mo. £4. Paris, 1630

Livre rare et recherché, orné d'un beau portrait de Bethencourt en taille douce. L'exemplaire est beau, mais quelques feuillets de Bergeron sont piqués.

Bettoni (E.) Storia naturale degli Uccelli, che nidificano in Lombardia, 72 fasciculi forming 2 vols. imp. folio, 120 beautiful coloured plates, representing the adult bird, the young and the nest, with plates of eggs, in parts, £20. Milano, 1865-71

Of this extremely beautiful work only ONE HUNDRED COPIES were printed for the subscribers, and no more copies remain for sale. About twenty of the plates are drawn in double imperial size, which in the ordinary method of binding, would require folding in half, causing damage to the plate: to avoid this, I suggest that these large plates should be bound in a separate volume of the full size, and I would undertake to have the work carefully bound in three volumes, in half morocco, for the extra charge of eight pounds.

Bewick's Select Fables, with engravings by Thomas and John Bewick before 1784, 8vo. many woodcuts, £2. 12*s* Newcastle, 1820

Bhagavat-Geeta, or Dialogues of Krishna and Arjoon, Sanscrit, Canarese and English, in parallel columns, edited by Garrett, 4to. hf. calf, RARE, 30*s* Bangalore, 1846

The best edition of the Bhagavad Geta, as regards both the original and the translation, since this volume contains, in one corpus, everything that is best on the subject. The Sanscrit text (in both Devanagari and Canarese characters) is Schlegel's, the English translation is Wilkins', the Canarese a new one; the notes are brought together from various sources; a translation of Humboldt's essay on the poem is given, and the Appendix contains Schlegel's Latin version, as well as R. D. Griffith's Essay on the Bhagavat Geeta.

Biblical Monuments. RULE and ANDERSON, BIBLICAL MONUMENTS, imp. 8vo 60 plates, photographs, autotypes, and woodcuts, facsimiles of MSS. printed in various colours, etc. (subscription price £3.) cloth, £2. 12*s* 6*d* Croydon, 1871-73

A collection of what are called "confirmatory illustrations afforded by the antiquities of the Eastern world" of the historical portion of the Scriptures. The earliest MSS. of the Bible in various languages are represented by striking facsimiles, with appropriate commentary, and the latest discoveries in the East are shewn by reproductions of the Chaldean "Deluge" inscription and others, including the "Moabite Stone," with translations of them. Egyptian monuments also find a place in this interesting volume, as well as those remains of Greek and Roman art by which biblical history is fitly illustrated and accompanied. The value of the letter-press is attested by the name of Dr. Rule, the author of a learned work on the Karaite Jews, while the accuracy and fineness of the artistic portion of the book is guaranteed by that of Mr. Anderson, whose work on the Roman Antiquities of Uriconium is well known.

The Bible OF EVERY LAND: a History of the Sacred Scriptures in every Language and Dialect in which translations have been made, 4to. with ethnographical maps, hf. morocco, 22*s* 1848

Bible (Holy) containing the Old and New Testament, with the Apocryphal Books in the earliest English Versions made from the Latin Vulgate, by John Wycliffe and his followers, edited by the Rev. Josiah Forshall and SIR FREDERIC MADDEN, the two versions printed in parallel columns, and the notes underneath, cloth, £3. 5*s* Oxford University Press, 1850

It is astonishing, considering the widely spread Bible Worship in England and America, that the above scholarly edition of the really FIRST ENGLISH BIBLE should be so much neglected, both by the religious world and by Philologists.

All the known Manuscripts (170 in number) of the English translations of the Old and New Testament by Wycliffe and his followers have here been most carefully collated by the first Palæographer in England, and an accurate text of Two VERSIONS has thus been obtained. This publication is the best issued for years from the Oxford University Press,—England should be proud of this Literary Monument, a glorious inheritance from the Middle Ages.

The ample critical notes and various readings will prove of great interest to Saxon and English Scholars.

The previously existing editions of the New Testament, 1731, 1810, 1848, were all printed from one Manuscript only; their value is very slender.

Dans cette troisième édition, plusieurs améliorations importantes obtiendront, nous en avons la ferme confiance, l'approbation des bibliophiles, des bibliothécaires et des libraires eux-mêmes, à qui cette Bibliographie sera certainement utile. Non-seulement elle est plus que double de la seconde pour le nombre des articles et les détails sur les livres dont elle s'occupe, mais on a ajouté aux livres galants et gaillards les grosses facéties pantagruéliques, scatologiques, etc., éliminées presque toutes du Manuel du Libraire, bien qu'elles soient en général fort recherchées des curieux, et qu'on les paye dans les ventes quelquefois des prix fous. On y cite scrupuleusement les sources, ce qu'on n'avait pas toujours fait dans les précédentes éditions, notamment certains catalogues comme Cigongne, Leber, La Vallière (Nyon), etc., représentant de grandes bibliothèques accessibles aux amateurs (celles du duc d'Aumale, de Rouen, de l'Arsenal); puis le Journal de la Librairie, depuis l'origine jusqu'aujourd'hui, le Manuel de Libraire, la nouvelle édition des Supercheries littéraires, et beaucoup d'autres grands ouvrages dont l'ensemble formerait seul une bibliothèque nombreuse. On y a, de plus, ajouté, autant que possible, les prix d'adjudication dans les ventes publiques

Dr. Jerdon's copy, to which that learned Ornithologist has added a great quantity of additional matter, giving the names of the authorities. To a practical naturalist, this copy must be of the highest value, as in addition to the work of Bonaparte, which bears a high reputation, Dr. Jerdon has given information quite beyond the reach of most Ornithologists. The portion of the second volume, which was published in 1865, and the Index can be supplied to order.

These beautiful Etchings comprise the numerous Specimens of Sculpture executed and still existing in England, from the earliest times to Henry VIII. These monuments of Sculpture illustrate the History of Events, of Families and of Art in this country, and they compare very favorably with similar remains in other countries of Europe.

"The success of some of Mrs. Centlivre's Plays plainly evince that the first will strike the minds of an audience more powerfully than the last, since her comedy of 'The Busy Body,' which all the players had decried before its appearance, which Mr. Wilks had even for a time refused to play in, and which the audience came prejudiced against, roused their attention despite of that prejudice, and forced a run of thirteen nights. She for many years enjoyed the intimacy and esteem of the most eminent wits of the time —viz. Sir Richard Steele, Mr. Rowe, Budgell, Farquhar, Dr. Sewell, &c. It is astonishing to find the traces of so much reading and learning as we meet with in many of her pieces; if we do not allow her to be the very first of our female writers, she has but one above her, and may justly be placed next to her predecessor in dramatic glory, the great Mrs. Behn."—Baker's Biographia Dramatica..

These three Volumes contain the complete collection of Chapman's Dramatic Works, reprinted verbatim et literatim from the rare original quartos, a set of which could not be obtained for Fifty Pounds, or obtained at all without long and tedious search. The high place which Chapman already occupies in literature as the first and best of our Homeric translators, and the enthusiastic admiration which the most illustrious writers, including Hazlitt, Shelley, Charles Lamb, and Hallam, have expressed for his Dramatic Writings, make it surprising that his Plays should not before now have been placed within the reach of poetical and dramatic students.

Ce grand et magnifique Recueil littéraire est non-seulement un choix fait avec beaucoup d'impartialité et de discernemont des morceaux les plus importants de la littérature chinoise, mais encore le monument le plus curieux de la typographie chinoise, car il est imprimé en quatre couleurs differentes. Toutes les pièces qui y sont reproduites chronologiquement par ordre de dynasties, à partir de l'époque de Confucius (550 ans avant notre ère), jusqu'à la dynastie des Mongols (1260 après Jésus-Christ), sont imprimées en noir avec la ponctuation en rouge. Tous les noms propes et les noms de lieux sont renfermés dans des cartouches, pour les distinguer du texte ordinaire. Des observations sur chaque pièce, placées à la marge supérieure, sont imprimées: celles de l'empereur Khâng-hî (qui les a toutes annotées de sa main) en encre jaune, couleur de la dynastie régnante; celles des auteurs ou lettrés vivants à l'époque de l'impression de l'ouvrage sont en rouge (couleur des vivants); celles des auteurs morts alors sont en bleu (couleur du deuil).

On peut juger de l'importance et du contenu de ce bel ouvrage par les nombreux extraits que le P. Hervieu en a traduits et que l'on trouve insérés dans le tome II de la "Description de la Chine," du P. du Halde.—Cet exemplaire a figuré à l'Exposition universelle de 1867. Aucun autre n'a encore été mis en vente publique en Europe. Il est excessivement rare.

Canton, 1833-51

Complete sets of this work, which contains valuable papers by Dr. Morrison and other eminent Chinese scholars, are of rare occurrence, as most of the copies were destroyed by the Chinese at the time of their sacking the British Factories in the vicinity of Canton.

One of the most remarkable specimens of Chinese art that I have ever seen. For accuracy and boldness of design, freedom and vigour of execution, and a certain characteristic fidelity to nature, I have never seen anything of the kind to equal it.

This Colophon is given at length in the Bibliotheca Spenceriana where will be found the fullest and liveliest description of the volume, with faint facsimiles of a few of the Cuts. A colophon occurring at p. 266 of the volume denotes Hartmann Schedel as the author or editor. The present is a picked perfect copy with the title and six unnumbered leaves frequently wanting.

Some of the volumes between 1860 and 1870 are very scarce. The early volumes are not to be had. What few sets do occur for sale generally want the first six volumes, but the intrinsic value of them is trifling.

Civil Engineers' Institution: Minutes of Proceedings from the commencement in 1837 to 1871, Vols. II-XXXII, 31 vols. and 2 parts—General Index to Vols. 1-20, 1865, and to Vols. 21-30, 1871—Catalogue of the Library, second edition, 1866—Supplement to the Catalogue, 1870—together 35 vols. stout 8vo. and 2 parts, with a profusion of plates and woodcuts, twenty-two vols. uniform in half morocco, the rest uncut, excessively rare, £24. 1837-71

With the exception of four of the six thin parts forming Vol. I, namely those for the Sessions 1839-42, the above is a complete set. No copy has occurred for sale during many years; series from Vol. 7 occasionally are offered, but the early volumes have quite disappeared.

—— another series, 1846-67; Vol. V part 2, VI part 1, VII part 1, VIII part 1, IX, X part 1, XI, XII, XIV part 2, XV part 2, XVII, XIX, an extract of 172 pages, "On Construction of Artillery by Longridge," XX, XXI, XXVI—together 21 vols. and parts, 8vo. many plates, one vol. half calf, the rest sewed, £7. 10*s* 1846-67

This very valuable publication contains the history and description of all the greatest Engineering works of the last half century (1828-71). There is no other publication of its kind that can bear the least comparison with it. From the time of Telford, Robert Stephenson, and Brunel, to that of the eminent men of the present day, scarcely a work of any consequence has been accomplished but it is fully described and carefully illustrated here.

Cruikshank. A descriptive Catalogue of the Works of GEORGE CRUIKSHANK, with a List of Books illustrated by him, chiefly compiled by G. W. REID, with an Essay on his genius and works by E. BELL, 3 vols. impl. 4to. 313 illustrations on India paper from the original coppers, hf. morocco, £12. 12*s* 1871

Only 135 copies printed. Immediate application is necessary to secure a copy.

These volumes contain a complete list, chronologically arranged, of the various works of this celebrated artist, extending over a period of fifty-seven years (from 1803 to 1870). Each design is described and any specialty noted, and information as to its origin is given where it is interesting.

The compilation of the catalogue has been a labour of love on the part of Mr. Reid, who, in addition to the large collection under his care in the British Museum, has had access to the various collections in the hands of private individuals, especially those of Mr. Morson, Mr. Truman, and Mr. Maskelyne, and has received valuable assistance from those gentlemen and also from the artist himself.

The volume of letterpress contains nearly 400 closely printed pages, and is furnished with a complete index.

The two volumes of illustrations contain upwards of three hundred subjects, the impressions of the etchings in the Royal Quarto edition being on India paper, carefully printed by Messrs. Macqueen and Mr. Yates, the Woodcuts printed by Messrs. Whittingham and Wilkins, supplemented by Heliotype copies of some of the plates to which the Publishers had not access, executed by Messrs. Edwards and Kidd. Amongst them will be found several that have been for many years unattainable.

These volumes will therefore be valuable and interesting, both as affording admirable specimens of the genius of the artist, and as an excellent nucleus for commencing a collection, at a price infinitely less than they could be obtained for separately.

The illustrations include the whole of the illustrations to Peter Schlemihl, Grimm's German Popular Stories, Punch and Judy, Wilson's Catalogue Raisonné, Roscoe's English Novelists, Waverley Novels, Oliver Twist, Dibdin's Sea Songs, Maxwell's Irish Rebellion, Life of Sir John Falstaff, Tom Thumb, Bombastes Furioso, Three Courses and a Dessert, St. Dunstan and the Devil, The Brownies, Timothy's Shoes, Specimens from the Wit's Magazine, Specimen from London Characters, A Private Plate, "Fairy Connoisseurs inspecting Mr. Locker's Collection of Drawings."

Eden (Sir F. M.) State of the Poor, 3 vols. 4to. calf gilt, rare, £3. 10s 1797

Presentation copy from the author.

A book of singular importance, and the only one published upon the Social Annals of the English people. No work, professing to be a history of England, can pretend to any real value, unless based upon the statistics which shew forth the inner life of the masses, and their gradual progress through the phases of cirilization. These statistics are collected here; and it may be remarked as a rather curious fact that the late Mr. Buckle, for whose work these details of domestic history would have been amongst its most valuable ingredients, seems to have been wholly ignorant of Eden's State of the Poor.

"The editions of the English Historical Society (A.D. 1835-48) mostly republications of chronicles which had been previously printed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, only to be disfigured, mark the commencement of an entirely new era, being recommended alike by scrupulous correctness and editorial acumen."—Athenæum, Aug. 11, 1866.

English Historical Society. Willelmi de Newburgh Historia Rerum Anglicarum recensente H. C. Hamilton, 2 vols. 8vo. boards, 5*s* 1856

The History comprehends the period from the Conquest to the year 1198, but the events prior to King Stephen, and the date of the Author's birth, are compressed into a dozen pages, and the whole of the History may therefore be described as strictly contemporary. The author died in 1208, aged 72.

Coloured Engravings of Roman Pavements, Stained Glass, Monastic Buildings, Fonts, Brasses, etc. an Extraordinary Collection of these Splendid Productions, consisting of ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN in number, being all that he ever executed, and including many PRIVATELY ISSUED, and of extreme rarity, with a fine PORTRAIT (4to.) and an Original AUTOGRAPH of FOWLER, all mounted on drawing boards. Winterton, 1796-1829

Only one other complete set is in existence, and that I recently sold. Even the Fowler family has only a portion of a set.

This MAGNIFICENT WORK was published by subscription, in single prints, issued at long intervals, several at 31*s* 6*d* each. Sir Joseph Banks, upon an occasion of addressing the Society of Antiquaries, said, in reference to the representations of Mosaic Pavements in the above work, "Others have shown us what they thought these remains ought to have been, but Fowler has shewn us what they are, and this is what we want." For graphic truthfulness and effect, these representations have never been equalled. The Prospectuses are very interesting, and are now great rarities.

The ingenious Mr. Fowler was originally a journeyman carpenter, of patient and persevering habits; the difficulties he had to encounter in executing the present work were almost insurmountable. The work, which is scrupulously correct in all its features, is entirely his own; the drawing, the engraving, the preparation of the colours, and even the making of the paper, (for he could get no paper-maker to undertake it) are all the work of his own hands. Not forty copies were ever completed.

Fowler's (William) Coloured Engravings of the principal MOSAIC PAVEMENTS which have been discovered in Great Britain, Monastic Buildings, Fonts, Brasses, also of the STAINED GLASS WINDOWS of the Cathedrals of York, Lincoln, &c. &c. including a most splendid Series of Seven Norman Earls of Chester, and two Saxon Earls of Mercia, from the Windows of Aston Hall, Warwickshire, 2 vols. atlas folio, CONTAINING 51 MOST BEAUTIFULLY COLOURED PLATES, in exact imitation of the original subjects, all mounted on thick drawing paper, with the "Advertisements" to a few of the plates, half russia, £20.

Gelli. CIRCE DI GIOVAN-BATISTA GELLI, 12mo. portrait of "Il Gello," fine copy in vellum, £2. 2s Firenze, 1549

A very curious modification of an episode from the Odyssey, serving as a satire upon man's notions of existence. When Circe changed the Greek followers of Ulysses into swine, she did not, according to Homer, keep them so, but allowed them to regain their proper shapes and return with the hero. Gelli supposes that the change was not to manhood back again, but simply into inferior animal natures of various kinds, and that the siren only permitted Ulysses to restore them provided he could gain their own consent. This he fails to do; each animal being resolute to remain in his new condition; and the fiction of Gelli details in dialogues the reasons of each refusal. Gelli died in 1553.

Grose (F.) Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, THIRD EDITION, 8vo. MS. notes by Sir F. Madden, calf, 15*s* 1796

Grose (F.) Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, FIRST EDITION, thick 8vo. interleaved, with numerous printed and manuscript additions by J. Haslewood, Sir F. Madden, etc. hf. russia, £14. 1785

This volume originally belonged to Haslewood, at whose sale it was purchased by Sir F. M., since then it has been interleaved and rebound; but has not met with the usual fate of interleaved books, in being unused, but the learned Knight has been most profuse in his annotations, gathered and stored during his laborious and painstaking course of reading.

Grose (F.) Blackguardiana, or Dictionary of Rogues, Bawds, Whores, Robbers, Murderers, Pirates, Gipsies, &c. (Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, first edition with a new title page), illustrated with numerous scarce prints and portraits inserted, MS. notes by Sir F. Madden, calf gilt, £5. 1785

A very rare and curious volume, of which only fifty copies were printed. There are many leaves inserted which in other copies were cancelled, such as "Damned Odd Characters," Lives of Highwaymen, etc. The illustrations, 55 in number, include a portrait of Grose, also portraits of notorious criminals, remarkable characters, etc.

A MS. note states that Pegge's additions alone amount to 42 pages of Grose's book: yet they are not so complete but the other annotators have found reason for a vast amount of additional matter.

Grose's (F.) Vulgar Tongue; another copy, FIRST EDITION, 8vo. interleaved, with numerous MS. additions by Sir F. Madden, half russia, uncut, £6. 10*s* 1785

"An immense number of cant and vulgar phrases and words are to be met with in the satirical tracts of the 17th Century, particularly during the reign of the "witty monarch" Charles the Second. Many of these will be found noticed in the MS. additions to this copy of Grose, which acquires thereby "the sanction of antiquity" for words and expressions which to "ears polite" would sound extremely low."—*F. Gubernatis (Angelo de) Zoological Mythology, or the Legends of Animals, 2 vols. 8vo. cloth, new, 24*s* 1872

This is one of the most valuable contributions to the literature of Comparative Mythology which the study of that admirable science has produced. The folk-lore and legends of many nations, Teutons, Celts, Slavs, and Italians, are investigated and compared with the stories of ancient Indian and classical literature; involving a wealth of illustration that can scarcely be rivalled elsewhere. The gain of Rome is scarcely so great a boon to Italy as the possession of a scholar like Angelo de Gubernatis.

An admirable work, upon which a large amount of money and time was expended by the learned author and his contributors. Horæ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis secundum Usum Romanum cum Calendario, large 8vo. BEAUTIFUL MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM BY A FRENCH ARTIST, exquisitely written within floreated borders (the Calendar with gold radiances), and richly ornamented with ILLUMINATIONS IN GOLD AND COLOURS, consisting of an immense number of CAPITAL LETTERS and 58 MINIATURES (including 12 in Calendar), with a large page of Armorial bearings in which the Arms of Brittany and others are combined in quarterings with those of the French crown, executed for a Member of the Royal Family of France, whose initial K with s fermé occur throughout the MS.; subsequently in the possession of Louis XII, whose interlaced λλ with s fermé, device (hand in hand), &c. are stamped in gold on the binding, £50. cir. 1400

Several of the Prayers and Rubrics are in French. As a specimen of early French Art this MS. is curious and highly interesting. The name of the scribe is written on the last page: "Joannes Parvi," which evidently indicates the celebrated theologian of the Paris University, Jean Petit, who was persecuted for his championship of the Burgundy party, and died in 1411.

Horae Beatae Mariae Virginis, 16mo. A BEAUTITUL ITALIAN MANUSCRIPT ON FINE VELLUM, with numerous illuminated capital letters, and 18 Miniatures, with borders, all executed in a fine style of art, and much superior to the specimens that usually appear in the market, red velvet, gilt edges, in a case, olive morocco, £30. cir. 1450

Not only the decoration but also the calligraphy of this MS. is very elegant and beautiful. It seems to have been written in Northern Italy: perhaps the exact locality may be determined by the entry which appears in the Calendar opposite the date of November—"Dedicatio Basilicæ S. Salvatoris." There are several indications that disclose the Italian origin of the MS., amongst which are the word Ymnus for Hymnus, and the name "Marie Egipciache." MS. Horæ are amongst the commonest of all books, but a distinction must be made between the productions of French Flanders (where such articles were manufactured in thousands) and the artistic work of Southern Europe, specimens of which are very rarely met with.

Horatii Flacci Opera, 2 vols. 8vo. FIRST ISSUE (with the "Post est") very fine copy of Pine's superb edition, engraved throughout, in English red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £12. Londini, Johannes Pine, 1733

A vague notion exists that there are only two issues of Pine's Horace, the first issue with the error on Cæsar's head, Vol. II. page 108, "Postest;" the second issue, the error corrected into "Potest." This is only half the truth. Pine's coppers were worked perhaps a dozen times, and as recently as 1775 a number of impressions were taken, after which they seem to have disappeared.

Contents:—Mammalia, 13 vols.; Ornithology, 14 vols.; Entomology, 7 vols.; Ichthyology, 6 vols.

By far the best and completest history and illustration of animated nature that has ever appeared. It is in every sense of the word a NATURALIST'S LIBRARY, embracing the result of the labours of all the great natural historians brought down to the latest period.

It is a perfect bijou, and as valuable as pretty."—Literary Gazette.

The superhuman learning displayed in the following note entitles it to a full quotation.

"This is a very extraordinary volume upon a subject that is now attracting the almost universal attention of the learned and curious in Europe.

"Ever since the revival of learning, strange objects have from time to time been discovered—objects which, although they may amaze or amuse the weak-minded, have induced earnest students to inquire into their origin and true meaning. Various matters and discoveries assisted in clearing up the mystery; the emblems and symbols gradually explained their full meaning, and the outlines of an extraordinary creed unfolded itself. It was the DIVINITE GENERATRICE—the worship or adoration of the God PRIAPUS—the ancient symbol of generation and fertility. The Round Towers in Ireland; similar buildings in India; the Maypole in England, and even the spires of our churches are now shown to be nothing more nor less than existing symbols of this pagan and strange worship. Almost all the great relics of antiquity bear traces of this impious adoration—the rock caves of Elephanta, near Bombay, the earth and stone mounds of Europe, Asia, and America, the Druidical piles and the remains of the so-called Fire-worshippers in every part of the world. Even existing popular customs and beliefs are full of remnants of this extravagant devotion.

"R. P. Knight, the writer of the first 'Essay,' was a Fellow of the Royal Society, a Member of the British Parliament, and one of the most learned antiquaries of his time. His Museum of Phallic objects is now most carefully preserved in the London British Museum. The second 'Essay,' bringing our knowledge of the worship of Priapus down to the present time, so as to include the more recent discoveries throwing any light upon the matter, is said to be by one of the most distinguished English antiquaries—the author of numerous works which are held in high esteem. He was assisted, it is understood, by two prominent Fellows of the Royal Society, one of whom has recently presented a wonderful collection of Phallic objects to the British Museum authorities."

Nichols, Esq., and its value is still further enhanced by the fact, stated in a note by the learned editor, "In vol. 3 are some additional pages of Text, from fragments of the later Vol. (Otho C. —— the same, Nos. 1-938, forming Vols. I—XII, 12 vols. 4to. half bound, uncut, £5. 1757-62

This celebrated Newspaper contains a variety of interesting matter relating to the history of Great Britain, America, and the Continent, during the period embraced, besides essays and poetry written by some of the principal literary men of the time.

London Gazette, from the year 1815 to June 1859, inclusive, a clean set, with the INDEXES, in 120 vols. folio (original cost incl. of binding, about £125.) bound in rough calf, a great bargain, £20. 1815-59

☞ This is the Official Chronicle of England. Such a set ought to be secured by a great Provincial or Colonial Library. The binding alone has cost the price marked. There will be an extra charge for packing and delivery.

The set complete to June, 1859 should consist of 125 volumes; five are however missing in the above, viz. 1837 July-Dec.; 1838 July-Dec.; 1841 Jan.-June; 1844 Oct.-Dec.; 1847 Jan.-March.

London Gazette (The) from February 1684 to December 1694, in 2 stout vols. folio, half calf gilt, edges uncut, 30*s* 1684-94

Very rare. To the antiquary as well as to the student of the reigns of James II. and William and Mary these volumes promise a great deal of curious information inaccessible elsewhere. Every leaf is in excellent preservation, which is remarkable, as the Gazette was published in separate leaves, one every three or four days.

London Gazette, from its commencement, Nov. 7, 1665, to July 25, 1713, Numbers 1-5140, bound in 13 vols. small folio, half russia gilt, contents lettered, a fine set in the best of preservation, VERY RARE, £10. 10*s* 1665-1713

A MOST INTERESTING, IMPORTANT, AND VALUABLE SERIES.

The first twenty-two numbers of the London Gazette were printed at Oxford, owing to the Plague then raging in London. It is curious to see the dry official way in which the half-weekly bills of mortality are given; the first number, published Nov. 5, 1665, shows "Plague 1050;" each half week it is given, until the last mention of it, Dec. 27, 1666, when the total was 4. The publication of the Gazette was altogether stopped from March 21, 1666, to March 25, 1667, in consequence of the terrible conflagration, which destroyed thirteen thousand houses.

Lydgate's Life of Our Lady, folio, very neat MS. in an Elizabethan hand, containing almost the entire second half of the above celebrated poem, inlaid, hf. bd. £9. 9s cir. 1580

This valuable MS. consists of 32 pages with sixty-one lines upon each. There appears no title either at beginning or end, and it is therefore with hesitation that the authorship is attributed as above. The poem is in seven-line stanzas, which begins thus (with the last three lines of one that must be close to the opening of the third book):—

But in this case Nature did obaye
To a mayde and gave up hole her right
Wysely adverting she was to feble of might.

The Liber Tertius ends on the fifteenth page; and the fourth book begins—

When Janus Bifrons in colde Januarye
With frosty beard entred had the yere
And Phebus chayre neygheth to Aquarye.

The last four lines upon page 32 stand as follows:—

And unto thee this day we clepe and call
Thou blessed Quene, of Kynges Emperesse
That gavest thy sonne sowcke within that stall
That chast mylk of vyrginall cleannesse.
